French Intervention In Perdicaris Case Is Most Feasible

THE ANGLO-FRENCH PACT of the Transcendent Light company,

It Is Fully Recognized by the United States' Request In Behalf of Bandits' Prisoners--France Pleased at Request

London, June 2.-It is learned that the British minister at Tangler is cooperating with the French minister in the endeavor to secure the release of Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley. There is no intention at present to send a British fleet or squadron to Tangier. Spain is fully informed of the course of action being pursued. At both the foreign offices and the Spanish embassy it is stated that Spain fully concurs with the British and American action in utilizing French intervention. By this means, it is thought here, the Sultan of Morocco will be enabled to bring Milton on Monday between the East such pressure to bear on Raisuli, the Miltons and New State. It took fifteen bandit chief, as to compel him to release his captives without necessitating the forcible intervention of either of the nations to which the captives be-

The Times says the case in hand is one of those incidents which make a special claim on France to utilize that position of exceptional influence in Morocco which the Anglo-French agreecould not find a better occasion for setting about her task than that provided suli. To prevent him and his imitators from wielding the authority of uncrowned kings throughout the country and to close the perpetual reign of terror and disturbance in which they indulge must unquestionably be the first step toward any real reform and development in Morocco."

The Times says the action of the United States is an impressive recognition of the Anglo-French agreement, M. L. TIRRELL, Adams Building. all the more impressive in view of the great naval demonstration the United States is making at Tangler, for notwithstanding this demonstration she appeals specifically for aid to France as being the power which has now the chief responsibility in Morocco and the most effective means of enforcing it.

Diplomacy Rather Than Force Paris, June 2.-Foreign Minister Deleasse, while in conference with Ambassador Porter, said that exaggerated rumors concerning France's intention to make a naval demonstration or to take other radical action were tion or to take other radical action at Tangier were purely fanciful. Assurances were also given that the United States did not intend to adopt radical steps pending French efforts to settle the matter diplomatically. Much significance is attached to the request of the United States for the co-operation of France in bringing about the release of Perdicaris and Varley, as it embodies the first distinct international recognition of France's paramount influence in Morocco.

The Figaro, discussing the action of the Washington cabinet, makes a strong appeal to the French government to adopt decisive measures to end the brigandage, pillage and anarchy in Morocco, and calls attention to the clause in the Franco-British treaty by which France undertakes to guard the tranquility of Morocco. The paper declares French policy henceforth should be one of energetic action, which should rescue Morocco from its chronic condition of anarchy and barbarism. The officials speak approvingly of The Figaro's suggestion.

Ransom Price of $55,000

Washington, June 2.-It is understood that the price fixed by the Moorish brigands for the release from captivity of Messrs. Perdicarls and Varley is $55,000. It is stated at the state department that several days will elapse before the result of the efforts of the French agents in behalf of Perdicaris can be known. SEVERE FIGHTING AHEAD

Japanese Must Storm Defenses to Get Siege Positions So That Guns Can Play on Main Forts of Port Arthur--Cannot Escape Heavy Loss In Final Assault

London, June 2 .- Rumors of mediation in the Russo-Japanese war have found no confirmation in diplomatic quarters. The foreign office characterizes the report that mediation is pending in the immediate future as "rubbish." Baron Hayashi, who, as Japan's senior minister and by far most powerful representative abroad, would be the first to hear of any such move,

"Not a whisper of mediation has the Merrimac to block the harbor of reached me. For us to stay our hands at this moment would be senseless folly. Russia appears to be in a serious Harvard college will not participate dilemma. She has not enough men in the field to cope with our various points of attack. If she brings the reinforcements that General Kuropatkin so much needs she cannot feed them."

If the Japanese take the last named warships all the way to Port Arthur. If the other route is chosen for the main advance, as is likely because of its greater capacity and possible value to the railroad, the fleet can assist them only at Ingentai, Vosti Korabiel, Louisa and Pigeon bays, and this only if the waters are deep enough to permit the vessels steaming close in shore

When the Japanese reach the vicinity of the Port Arthur defenses they must take by storm some of the outer heights for platforms on which to mount their siege guns in order to play on the Russian main fortifications. When all this is accomplished and the Japanese guns from sea and land have weakened or silenced the Russian big gun-fire then must come the taking of the place by assault. Then the losses at Nanshan will look small in comparison with those that will occur on the hillsides of Port Arthur. The reported disaster to the Russians east of Hai Cheng, telegraphed from Rome, must be accepted with caution, as it is likely to prove no more than a clash between Kuroki's advance and the Russian observation

HEADED BY BRYAN

Will Vote as a Unit

and Roasts Republicans--Michigan Goes Against Hearst--Georgia Democrats For Parker

Omaha, June 2.—The Nebraska W. J. Bryan to head the delegation to the national gathering at St. Louis, and adopted a platform which reaffirms the Kansas City platform of 1900 and of what should be embodied in the platform of the coming national convention. Mr. Bryan was himself chairman of the committee on resolutions and wrote and read the platform. He had associated with him men who have been his most loyal supporters.

There was no opposition to the adoption of the platform as read, although one delegate attempted to secure the adoption of an additional plank pledging Nebraska Democracy to support of the nominees of the St. Louis convention regardless of whom they might be He was ruled out of order, however, after reading his resolution.

The proceedings were characterized by harmony. Several speeches were elivered, among them being addresses by Bryan in support of the platform and by Congressman Cochran of Mis ourl. The platform says in part:

"We reaffirm our faith in Demo ratic principles as those principle were set forth in the last national platform of the party, adopted at Kansas

"With an increasing love for the rinciples of Democracy and an inreasing confidence in their final trinph, we look upon the present time as portune for their earnest and courageus promulgation. With a chief executive who has disregarded the constitutional limitations, stirred up antagonism between the races, employed all the powers of his office to secure a renomination and purchased political support by turning the treasury department over to the financiers and putting the law department into the hands of the trusts-with such a chief executive and with Republican leaders openly and arrogantly in alliance with organized wealth, the country imperatively needs and clearly defined Democratic prinferson and exemplified by Jackson, is been more than 50,000 or 75,000 fry sent the hope of the republic and offers the at one time. only relief from the plutocracy which now dominates the Republican party and, through that party, the country. "The delegates chosen by this convention to the Democratic national convention are hereby instructed to vote s a unit on all questions, provided that the unit rule may be suspended by a majority vote of the delegation."

Hearst Beaten In Michigan

Detroit, June 2.-The anti-Hearst element in the Michigan Democracy, headed by Daniel J. Campau, national committeeman from this state, triumphed over the Hearst supporters at every stage in the Democratic state convention to select delegates to the national convention and an uninstructed delegation was sent to the convention. While there are some Hearst men among the district delegates to St. Louis, the delegation was instructed to vote as a unit. The platform says that the "Democratic national convention will have its opinions on all the great questions now pressing upon the onsideration of the American people. That convention can safely be depended upon to freely and fearlessly declare those opinions. In its own language its will properly denounce the criminally aggressive, despotic, un-American, extravagant and dishonest Republican administration."

Bryan Sentiment In Oklahoma Anadarko, O. T., June 2.-The Bryan wing of the Oklahoma Democracy dominated the convention held to elect delegates to the St. Louis convention and the delegates were instructed "to act in conjunction with those who supported the party in the two last presidential elections," the vote on these instructions being almost unanimous. The Hearst men early in the convention gave up hope of obtaining instructions for their candidate and the Parker men, who opposed all instructions, were overwhelmingly defeated. The platform favors the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as one state and reaffirms the Democratic platforms of 1896 and 1900.

Instructed For Parker

Atlanta, June 2.-By a vote of 166 1-4 to 157 3-4 the Georgia Democratic convention instructed its delegates to the national convention to vote for the pomination of Parker for president. The vote was afterward made unani-

Still Voting In Vain Springfield, Ills., June 2.-The Republican state convention has taken five more ballots without breaking the gubernatorial deadlock and without producing any material change in the standing of the candidates. The last ballot taken, the 66th, resulted as follows; Yates, 474; Lowden, 4111/2; Deneen, 3841/2; Hamlin, 119; Warner, 36; Sherman, 51; Pierce, 26.

> Fire Department on Strike Bath. Me., June 2.-The entire city fire department, consisting of 55 men. resigned last night because the city council, at its meeting earlier in the evening, failed to grant the men an increase in wages. Company C of the Second Maine regiment has volunteered to take the places of the striking firemen. The members of the city council have also volunteered to act in a body in case of fire. The local fire department is on the volunteer plan and the men receive $40 each a year. The men desire an annual salary of $100.

Bates Sends In More Vetoes

Boston, June 2.-Governor Bates has sent two more vetoes to the legislature, making a total of 13 during the present session. His record last year was 14. The first veto was on the bill giving call firemen in the Cambridge department preference in appointment to the permanent force. The second veto was on the so-called "overtime bill, which prohibited the employment of women and minors in textile establishments before 6 o'clock in the morn ing, and after 6 o'clock at night.

Saw Man Jump Overboard Manchester, N. H., June 2.-Emile Kuehn reported to the police that as he was going to his work he saw a man run out upon the Manchester and North Weare railroad bridge and plunge into the river. He did not see the body come to the surface. A detail of officers was sent to the river, but the body was not found.

Miss Norris' Condition Holvoke, Mass., June 2.-The condition of Miss Grace Norris, who was shot by Orindo Weatherbee, is unchanged. At the hospital it is said that it will be some time before it can be determined whether she will recover.

Skull Cracked by Baseball Boston, June 2.-While playing basehall at Wood Island park, Jerry Mc-Carthy was struck in the eye with a ball, and received a fractured skull.

Georgia Negro Lynched Arlington, Ga., June 2.-Arthur Thompson, a negro, shot and killed M.

L. Dudley, a white man. A crowd lynched the negro and riddled the body with bullets. The cause of the difficulty between Dudley and the negro is not known. Dudley was manager of the city electric lighting plant and Thompson was a fireman at the same plant. Wyoming Democrats For Hearst Cheyenne, Wyo., June 2 .- It is considered practically certain that the Wyoming delegation to the national Democratic convention will be instructed for Hearst by the state convention. The only business to come before the convention is the selection of six delegates to the national convention.

Belongs to "Wire Tappers"

New York, June 2 .- A man who the police say is "Larry" Summerfield was arrested last night, charged with aiding and abetting the keeping of a poolroom. He was identified by Patrick J. Ryan as one of several men who obtained $2500 from him by the "wire tapping" gang.

May Coinage Statistics

Brigham, the Murder Suspect, Arrested at Lewiston

SAYS HE IS INNOCENT

Authorities Had Made Long Search For Supposed Slayer of Mrs Smith but He Had Not Been Very Far From Home

Lewiston, Me., June 3.-Charles E. Brigham was arrested in this city last evening by Detective Beaulieu on the charge of murdering Mrs. Celia P. Smith of Londonderry, N. H., on the evening of Feb. 29. Brigham was found at a store, where he has been employed about 10 days.

He was easily identified by the officers here from the description of him sent out at the time of the murder, When first arrested he gave the name of Charles Edwards and denied that he had ever lived in Londonderry. He claimed that his home was in Vermont.

Brigham was later taken into the marshal's private office, and after being questioned for two or three hours admitted that his name was Brigham and that he was in Londonderry the week of the murder, but asserts his innocence of the crime for which he is now held.

Brigham talked quite freely with the officers and gave them an account of to know the truth, second, that they View avenue for the season. his movements since the murder. He declared emphatically that he was in friendsbip and third that they may Boston on the night of Feb. 29 and that he remained over night at Hotel Hampton. He admitted that he had known Mrs. Smith for several years and had been a frequent visitor at the house. Brigham said that he first heard of the murder when he read an account of it in a Boston newspaper. This was on March 3, while he was coming from East Boston on a ferryboat. He acknowledged to the police that he knew two boys have been members during he was charged with the murder, but the six months. There is now an imsaid that the reason he did not give patient waiting list of nine boys. The himself up and try to prove his innocence was because he was afraid of being arrested for forging his father's name to a note and that of Charles Steele to an order: While in Boston he sold a gold is a calendar and button furnished by

The day was one of great significance the cardinal, Bishop Garrigan and Rev. deep satisfaction over the success atare deeply interested. The commencement exercises were held in the hall gifts to the college of Judge and Mrs.

O'Connor. After a brief prayer by Cardinal Gibbons, Rev. Dr. Edward A. Pace told the history of the founding of the college, the many difficulties that were met and overcome and said that it was now on a firm foundation. At present there were over 80 students on the lists representing every state in the country. There had been generous donations in the form of scholarships and books, two notable contributions to the library being the Bishop Spalding and the Rev. John F. Mundy collections.

Dr. Pace also announced a generous offer from Mrs. James E. Sullivan of Endowed With $2,000,000 May Providence, who has taken upon herself the work of completing the library, giving a large number of books annually. The collections will be a memorial to Alice U. Banigan Sullivan.

Dr. Pace concluded with an expression of the trustees' gratitude to the clergy and Catholic schools throughout the country for their assistance in carrying to a successful completion the establishment of Trinity.

The next speaker was Bishop Garrigan of Sioux City, Ia., who, with Bishop onaty, has been one of the most inefatigable workers in behalf of the college. His address was a convincing argument in support of the Catholic theory of education.

It is understood by some that the school for the study of arts and sciences to be founded by Mrs. Simeon Reed who died during May in California, may be located in Quincy, her native place. Whether this is a fact, the Ledger is unable to say, but it would be good news indeed for the City of Presidents to have a new institute enlowed by the handsome sum of $2,000,-

Quincy people will anxiously await more complete news of the will of Mrs. Reed, not alone for the school but for the benefit of Mrs. John Wood of this city, who was with Mrs. Reed at the time of her death, and other relatives

The conventions of Nebraska and Oklahoma present an element in the equation not before formally announced; they send delegates under the direct control of Mr. Bryan. A great London paper lately comnented on the improper use often made of visiting cards by nefarious persons, but it is evident that the writer did not know that whole packets of such cards, bearing the most distinguished names, can be purchased for a mere

These cards are for the most part, is one of the venders assured the writer, used innocently enough in a way of speaking by persons of social pretensions who simply wish to impress people of their own circle. The same informant declared that he had known men of a facetious turn of mind about to visit watering places near London who would take the cards of great people with them and would on making chance acquaintances for mere amusement greatly impress these latter by giving them one or other of the pieces of pasteboard bearing a notable name.-London Tit-Bits.

A DREADFUL PEST.

The Cape Sable Horsefly of the Lower Florida Swamps. A dreadful pest of the lower Florida swamps is the Cape Sable horsefly Specimens measure an inch and a quar ter in length. Their bite draws blood like the thrust of a knife. Imagine a swarm of them darting around one like so many humming birds! Fortunately they are not, at least early in the season, particularly inclined to attack man. The only domestic animal that can live in this country is the mule, and even his tough hide requires a flyproof stable for his protection and a suit of armor when outdoors. One day I engaged a mule and tipcart to save several miles of weary lugging along the strip of prairie before we struck off into the interior to visit a great rookery. When the guide brought the animal, it presented a truly remarkable appearance, clad in a suit of burlap that would have afforded complete protection, save that the legs of the "trousers" had been slit down, as the animal could hardly have been induced to put them on. So the flaps hung dangling about the legs, the ears projected above, and the calm eyes gazed out through the loopholes, surveying the swarm of flies and the stranger. We left him tied to a palm tree for the day. At dusk when we returned the legs of the poor beast were dripping with blood, and he was fairly frantic with pain. We had a stormy experience in harnessing him, having to be very spry to avoid being killed by the flying hoofs.-Country Lite In America.

Opinions of Some Leading Citizens Regarding the Y. M. C. A. And the Need of Its Work in This City.

These estimates of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association Dr. William Everett is in New York should be the more valuable because they are from men who have given generously toward the new building project for Quincy.

A QUINCY BOY LOST.

A Quincy boy lost today may mean and the parish is giving the reception loss for tomorrow of a noble citizen and as an expression of the love and esteem a generous benefactor. Let us be which they have for their pastor. The thoughtful and generous about plans affair is to be entirely informal and it for the lads. The Young Men's Christian is hoped every one in any way connected Association is reaching and steadying young men. Our city is behind others in this great work. Shall not the needed outfit be provided?

YATES BROKE DEADLOCK

Lowden's Adherents Remained Firm and Went Down With Him to Defeat--He Pledges His Support of the Tiket

Springfield, Ills., June 4.-By making a combination with Charles S. Deneen, L. Y. Sherman, H. J. Hamlin and J. H. Pierce, Governor Yates broke the deadlock in the Republican state convention and brought about the nomination of Deneen for governor. The pomination was made on the 79th baltot, which stood: Yates, 1; Lowden, 522½; Deneen, 957½; Warner, 21.

The combination was the result of a series of conferences participated in by Yates, Deneen, Hamlin, Sherman and Pierce. The agreement had not been consummated when the convention met at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and the Yates and Deneen people forced a recess until 2 p. m. Then the parties to the combination met and agreed When spon Deneen as the car the convention reconvence. ces, Ham-In and Sherman withdrew their names

When the 79th rollcall was ordered and Adams county led off with one vote for Yates and 19 for Deneen the wildest excitement prevailed. As the call proceeded it became evident that the new combination in Illinois politics would win, but the original Lowden men for the most part remained firm and went to defeat with him. When the call was completed Lowden moved to make the nomination unanimous and Chairman Cannon declared the motion carried. All of the pent up enthusiasm of the delegates manifested itself as Deneen came to me platform and briefly thanked the convention for the honor. In response to the demands of the assembly, Lowden made an address pledging his support to the ticke+

The convertion then took up the nomimation of a candidate for lieutenant governor, but the leaders of the new combination were not prepared for this and a recess was taken until 8 p. m. In the meantime the parties to the combination which nominated Deneen met at the executive mansion and prepared * slate for the remainder of the ticket.

At the evening session the making up of the ticket was rapidly proceeded with. L. Y. Sherman was nominated for lieutenant governor, James A. RUSSIA IN THE FAR EAST

COUNT CASSINI In North American Review For May.

I have been invited by the North American Review to make a statement of Russia's position in the far eastern conflict. Contributing articles to magazines and newspapers is not the mission of a diplomat, and I have the murder of Mrs. Celia J. Smith at | been obliged to decline many kind invi-Londonderry on Feb. 29 and the other tations from the periodical press. In American Review I am actuated by the hope that it will be alike for the benefit of Russia and the readers of the magazine.

In the progress of the negotiations begun last summer between St. Peterstimes a most conciliatory spirit. She modified her terms time and again, so | ly helpful to them. intent was his majesty the emperor upon preserving the peace of the empire. At all times, however, my government insisted upon a mutual and timental. It is claimed that with Rusunconditional guarantee of the principle of the independence and integrity | ince would be a lucrative market for of Korea, on an undertaking to use no part of Korea for strategic purposes, as the authorization of such action on the part of any foreign power was directly opposed to the principle of the independence of Korea, and finally on the preservation of the full freedom of navigation of the strait of Korea.

The Japanese government declined to accept these conditions and replied by demanding again that Russia incorporate in a separate treaty between the St. Petersburg and Tokyo governments a declaration defining anew the rights which Japan was to enjoy in Manchuria and a reiteration of the statements of my government's future intentions in that province. First because such a subject was quite irrelevant to the negotiations in progress and for the additional reason that Manchuria was a question to be settled between Russia more legitimately concerned than any other power my government refused would not only have been a violation of good faith with China, but with the powers which, with Russia and Japan, signed the peace protocol of 1900. However, in another effort to bring the negotiations to a peaceful conclusion permit and offered to give assurances again that the sovereignty of the emcourt of inquiry at the post, which peror of China in Manchuria would be recognized. Such a declaration had already been addressed to the powers. Having made this marked concession dely in the interest of neace, my gov-Cambridge, Mass., June 4.—Thomas ernment awaited the Japanese answer would furnish the basis for the furtherance of the negotiations to a satisminister at Tokyo could deliver this reply the Japanese answer came not through the regular channels, but as a torpedo attack at midnight. And now doubt the issue.

It is not a thoughtless statement that were Japan to obtain supreme control in Manchuria the dominant military spirit of the Japanese would lead them to organize the Chinese into a modern army of such proportions that Europe and America would stand aghast at ing. That is a phase of what has been called the "yellow peril" that it would gent classes to consider carefully. The Chinese make good soldiers. To suppose them to be pusillanimous in character is erroneous. They are easily trained by competent instructors, and with a population of more than 430,be raised that, co-operating with Japan, might, with a reasonable show of confidence, defy the civilized world. You in America should pause to contemplate the result of a union of the two great Mongol races, one progressive, aggressive, alert, overambitious, dreaming dreams of standing dominant not only in the far east, but in the councils of the powers; the other_imitative, easily influenced, ready if not anxious to have a stronger hand mold its flaccid character into whatever shape would be best suited to carry out a scheme of national aggrandizement. You of America as well as we of Europe have this to confront. It is honey, secretary of the executive board | not Russia alone that the danger threatens, but the whole family of Caucasian nations. There is another aspect of the question which has doubtless already appealed to that admirable, rugged common sense for which the American the Arabic name for "precious stone," business man is noted the world over. has for many years been found in Ural I refer to the commercial feature of mountain quartz and in the rocks of the far eastern situation. contemplate the future. Every man looks to his own interests, and nations and the people composing them are the same in that respect. I know that for Europe there is a disposition to credit America with the worship of the mighty dollar above all else, but my experience in this great land, many of whose distinguished citizens have given me a friendship that I deeply appreciate, has taught me that money is not everything and that the hearts of men and women are full of those Christian qualities that place honor and fair play higher than mere sordidness. Believ charged the same crime, but placed the furnishing this statement to the North ing that the American people, however much their judgment may have been warped at times by misconception of the truth, will see that there are two sides to the present unfortunate conflict in Asia, I do not doubt that they will ultimately reach the conclusion burg and Tokyo Russia showed at all that Russian progress is not only not inimical to their interests; but distinct-Let us consider the issue in the far east from the practical standpoint and see to what extent it bears on the sensia out of Manchuria that great prov American textile goods, agricultural implements and notions. But would there be no competition in this trade? Immediately the rivalry of Japan suggests itself. There are no people so quick to learn as the Japanese. They are intelligent, deft, wonderfully imitative. With the opportunity of commercial success in Manchuria present ed how quickly they would appreciate the value of learning the art of making the goods demanded by the countless inhabitants of that territory! Cheap grades of cotton fabrics are necessary to the Manchurians; Japan would not be long in learning to fash ion them. Manchuria, given up to tilling the soil, requires agricultural implements; the Japanese would quickly be turning out plows and harrows, reapers and scythes. With their cheaper labor and their nearness to Manchuria no other people could compete with the Japanese. But let us suppose for argument's sake that Russia, triumphant in this war, finds herself dominant in Manchuria. Japan, her enemy, could look for no favors; she could not expect to find encouragement for the importation of her manufactures. But Manchuria would require many things that Russia could not supply or supply at figures reasonable enough to create a market. In Russia agriculture is, comparatively speaking, more important than manufacturing, and those goods which are made in my country are not such as Manchuria would need. Russia, too, would be obliged to use the railway, with its high freight tariffs. Contrast Russia's position commercially toward Manchuria with that of the United States. In this country are made not only the very materials that would find a ready sale among the people of the province, but with American goods shipped by an all water route the cost of transportation would be much lower than the cost of carrying on the all land routes to which Russia would be confined. Should Russia ship by water to Manchuria from Odessa the distance would still be too great to make competition with the United States successful. From Moscow to Port Arthur the distance by rail is 5,000 miles. It is therefore easy to realize the privileged position of the United States in competing over an all water route from the Pacific coast with Russia over an all rail route. What then, taking these matters into ideration, is the far eastern ques tion viewed in its commercial aspect from the American point of view? On the one hand stands Manchuria open to the commerce of the world: Japan in competition with the United States, a manufacturing Japan capable of making the goods needed in Manchuria and of making them cheaper than America can make them and having the additional advantage of short all water freight rates. On the other hand stands Manchuria under Russian control, with a friendly hand extended to the United States and Japan given no encouragement. To my mind the conclusion is obvious. What better evidence of Russian friendship could America have than such an opening or, to merge the practical with the sentimental, what better results could follow for both America and Russia than mutual co-operation in the stimulation 1500 to 1508 Hancock Street, of American trade with Manchuria?

Hot Meal Without a Fire.

Readers of the war news will have noticed one or two references to the fact that tinned meats for the Russian 000,000 to draw from an army could troops are prepared by a process which enables the contents of each tin to be served hot without a fire. This boon is secured by having the ordinary tins filled with food "jacketed" in patent tins, says London Truth. The patent tin contains water, together with a chemical mixture, by means of which the water can be raised to boiling point in ten minutes or a quarter of an hour. All that it is necessary to do when it is desired to heat the food is to puncture the top of the patent tin, the chemical mixture being thereby forced into the water, which soon begins to boil.

WASHINGTON BENEFITED

Gets Revenue Which Fomerly Remained In the Islands--Immigration Laws Rob Territory of Its Best Class of Labor

Washington, June 4.-That annexation has not proved an unmixed blessing to the Hawaiians is indicated by the statement of Dr. Charles B. Cooper of Honolulu, the health commissioner of the islands, who is visiting Washington. He pleads for a more equitable adjustment of the existing financial relations between Hawaii and the federal government.

"Though annexation was hailed with delight," he says, "it has been to us a source of disappointment and financial loss. All our revenues derived from taxes on imports that used to go to local benefit, are now sent to the Washington treasury, thereby making our burdens much heavier than formerly.

"How unfair the present arrangement is the figures amply prove. The United States government collects annually per capita from Hawaii $8.53. It returns directly per capita to Hawaii $1.62. The United States government expends annually per capita for its population in the United States $7.97. Besides this, the application of the immigration laws of the United States has robbed us of the best laborers we could ever have-the Chinese. With our revenue and labor thus cut off, it seems as though a rich and humane government ought to be willing to afford relief to a remote, but deserving and patriotic territory.

The direction Dr. Cooper would have such relief take is the investigation of leprosy. "Although," he says, "there has been a considerable falling off in the number of lepers in the Molokai settlement within the last three or four years, the expense of the care of these unfortunates is such a burden that the people of Hawaii believe that the government of the United States should, not of its generosity, but in justice, come to their relief. We ask aid in the scientific study and treatment of leprosy row beyond our means."

Moral Qualifications Excluded

Chicago, June 4.-On grounds that Miss Caroline Patterson is "legally competent" and that her moral qualifications cannot be considered in the courts, the appelate court has decided against the efforts of the heirs of the millionaire contractor, Jonathan Clark, to prevent her acting as executrix of Clark's will. Miss Patterson had been Clark's secretary, was a beneficiary under his will, and was said to have won Clark's affections and to have alienated him from his family.

CHARACTER MAKING.

The Home the Genuine Life School of Moral Training.

Character is catching-provided one who has it to give can get close enough to the one who is to take it. The reason the school cannot do the whole or the chief part of moral training is that even in the best schools and with the bost teachers the children have to be handled so largely in masses and at arm's length. In the home the parent lives close to the individual child all the time, and whatever the parent has in the way of character to give the child is pretty sure to take without knowing when or how or even being aware of what is going on, until days, weeks, months, perhaps years after, he breaks out with just such feelings, tones, tempers, looks, words and deeds Senator Quay reached the Stratford as he had been catching all the while.

During the eighty-eight years of my career I have not once taken a vacation, says Russell Sage in the Inde-

A young man said to me the other Danes. One of the prettiest exhibits day, "Mr. Sage, would you not have taken a vacation if you had worked for some one else?" I replied that I would not.

I have never been an advocate of what some term the "vacation habit." When I was a boy the practice was not in vogue. As a matter of fact, I was so glad to get a chance to learn business that the idea of asking my employer to make me a present of two weeks of the time that belonged to him because he had paid for it would have eager to advance in business and Golden, Colo, will be held here. could not see how I could do this by wasting vaxuable time.

Neither did any of my youthful associates take vacations, and I am sure you will agree with me that the fact did not retard their progress when I say that among them were Thurlow Weed, the king maker; Horace Greeley, Governor Seward and George Jones the founder of the New York Times These men were constantly at work, and they were history makers.

I think the "vacation habit" is the outgrowth of abnormal or distorted business methods. I fail to see anything legitimate in it. Let us assume that an employer and his clerk make an agreement to exchange just remuneration for reasonable services, and each one keeps his part of the agreement. Are they not then quits? If there is any obligation, I think it is on the part of the clerk, who avails of the credit, skill and organization of the employer to learn a business and advance himself along a path which has already been prepared road Feb. 1, 1856. for him. Milwaukee has a woman bank teller, the only one in the state of Wisconsin. Miss Louise M. Riebs is receiving teller of the Wisconsin Trust and Security company's savings department. Seated behind the bars of the teller's cage, she handles a large share of the cash received over the counters of the company for deposit.

Miss Riebs is a Milwaukee girl, the product of Milwaukee's schools. She is twenty-four years of age and graduated from the East Division high school with the class of 1897. Two years later she entered the employ of Oliver C. Fuller & Co. as a stenographer and then became confidential clerk and private secretary to Mr. Fuller, who is now president of the Wisconsin Trust and Security company, into which his investment business was merged. Since the formation of the trust company she has had charge of its savings department.

for she has proved herself not only an interesting accountant and bookkeeper, but has mastered much of the intricacies of the banking business, and, it is said, is better acquainted with the minor details of more departments of the company than any other of its officials. She has a memory for faces, names and addresses, as well as signatures, which, combined with feminine affability and good nature, fit her admirably for the responsibilities of an official of a bank, for that will be her position as a teller.

One of the qualifications which the officers of the company say led to Miss .704 Riebs' rapid promotion was the fact that she was not content to fill only 538 the routine duties of a stenographer, but acquainted herself with the details of the work so that she could take care of much of it without dictation.-Milwaukee Sentinel.

If it is heavy for her the result is a decided feeling of strain and weariness in the back, which makes her tired out for the rest of the day. This is only one instance. If housekeepers would only spend a little time in experimenting as to the simplest and best "energy saving" method of doing the daily work in a very short period of time they would find that truly housekeeping was made easy.

The Use of Soap.

for whose use it is purchased. Some soaps thry the skin, thus causing chapping, frost spits and many kindred troubles. Castile soap is too drying for many skins and should, contrary to the old idea, never be used on the skin of an infant. An old lady who had been taught to believe that castile soap was pure enough for toilet purposes was always troubled during the cld weather with what she called frost splits. Finally she was prevailed upon to use a fine grade of oatmeal soap, and immediately the frost splits disappeared and troubled her no more. Dandruff is frequently caused by the use of castile soap in shampooing. For this purpose some soap especially prepared should be used. The old time soap made from wood ash lye is the best for tender hands and for laundry use. This soap may occasionally be bought at old farmhouses, where, dried out from age and mellow and ripe in consequence, it is one of the unappreciated garret treasures of the household.—Table Talk.

Uses For White Oilcloth. The brides who are going into new homes full of shiny furniture will save money by spending a little for white oilcloth. I did not lock my barn door until after my horse was stolen. Now, however, under all the scarfs on my dressers and chiffoniers and washstands are covers of white oilcloth, cut the same shape as the linen covers, but a trifle smaller. For the centerpieces and doilies on my polished tables I cut the mats of thin white rubber sheeting. If the doily is of drawn work or lace I cut the protection only large enough for the linen center, or just the size of the jardiniere or vase which sits upon it. Compared with the expense of having a table top scraped and repolished or varnished the oilcloth costs very little. - Good Housekeeping.

A Mirror Suggestion.

A bachelor maid who has only one long narrow chamber for a sleeping and living room was ambitious to own a long mirror. A swinging cheval glass was out of the question. It was too expensive, besides there was no space for such a luxury. She purchased a length of good clear mirror glass at a furniture factory, which cost $4. Another dollar was paid to a carpenter to insert it in her closet door. The wood was white enamel, so picture molding that matched exactly went on as a frame, and she had a full length mirror. It was an ornament to the little room as well as suggesting space which does not exist.-Exchange.

The Boy's Clothes.

Keeping her young son neatly clad without visible patching was thus accomplished by an ingenious mother: In buying his suits she confined herself to those which included two pairs of trousers. These were worn on alternate days, and when there were indications RED ASH EGG, that a good square old fashioned patch would speedily be required she ripped the front from one pair, cut away all FRANKLIN STOVE, the worn parts of the other and made lengthwise joinings in the grain of the goods, using the tailor method of "overcasting," which when well pressed is practically invisible. A Portiere Guard.

To prevent portieres catching underneath the door when opened quickly screw a small ring, such as is used for picture frames, into the center of the door frame. To this fasten a length of blind cord sufficient to reach to the bottom of the curtain. Thin Curtains.

Very thin curtains, or those whose day of service is very nearly over, will stand the ordeal of washing much better if care be taken to baste them upon sheets of cheesecloth first. This relieves them of much of the strain of wringing and prevents them from being whipped to pieces by the wind in drying.

The Kitchen Shelves.

The dainty lace patterned oilcloths so much used for kitchen shelves are very apt to "stick" to the wood when they become saturated by the steam of the cooking. To avoid this, place papers on the shelves before tacking on the oilcloth.

Furniture in which inlaid mosaic work occurs should be rubbed now and then with a cloth moistened with oil to keep the ornate pieces from loosening.

Tea leaves for sprinkling over a carpet before sweeping should be rinsed in clear, cold water and squeezed as dry as possible before use.

Coffee stains should be rubbed with glycerine and the spots then sponged with lukewarm water.

How Forrest Won New Laurels

A FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY WAR STORY

June 10, 1864

[Copyright, 1904, by G. L. Kilmer.] HE Confederate cavalry leader his reputation as a great horseback fighter by winning a remarkable victory at Brice's farm, Misof communications. Sherman was then closing in on Atlanta with a large army and drawing his supplies by rail from Nashville, Tenn., hundreds of miles from the scene of operations.

Twice before within the space of six months the ubiquitous raider Forrest had been slated for destruction by his anxious foemen for the purpose of safeguarding Sherman's march. General Sturgis himself led an expedition out of Memphis to entrap Forrest at the time of the Fort Pillow affair in April, but the movement had failed, like many others of the same nature in the course of the war. When Sturgis came within sight of Forrest at Brice's farm he wanted to turn back, but was dissuaded by his officers and formed for battle on the arc of a circle threefourths of a mile in extent about half a mile from Brice's house, his right resting upon the main road along which he was marching southward. His force comprised two brigades of cavalry and three brigades of infantry, with two six gun batteries of light

er's and Johnson's brigades, all mounted men, and two four gun batteries, about 3,200 troops in all. The ground where Sturgis formed his men was elevated and thickly clad with stunted trees and tangled undergrowth, which furnished cover for the troops. A cautious soldier in Forrest's place would have taken a good position across the valley and compelled his foe to assume the initiative, but the impetuous fighter was fearful of delays and gave the order for a general attack. Sturgis' men received the assailants with a terrible fire, and the southern line was repulsed, with confusion in some places. Opportunely Forrest's batteries came to the front at a gallop and opened briskly on the Federals confronting Rucker's brigade. Under cover of the cani made Rucker pushed his line forward, but the carnage inflicted by Sturgis' firm line again caused the southerners to waver.

Sturgis was not on the field during Forrest's first attack, and his brigade commanders failed to take advantage of the confusion in Forrest's column No effort was made to follow up whenever one of the southern battalions recoiled from the deadly fire. Neither did the Federals attempt to turn the flanks of the enemy's shorter line. Sturgis was five miles in the rear, bringir up a brigade which had been delayed by a quagmire in the road produced by recent heavy rains. His officers at the front advised him to form the infantry for battle at some point in the rear of the fighting line and withdraw the cavalry to that position. This he declined to do and massed his whole command in front of Forrest, with his artillery ong the road. It was past noon when Sturgis brought up the last troops and Forrest saw that his foe was being reenforced. Ordering his artillery captains to double shot the pieces with canister, Forrest led them to within sixty yards of the Federal line just as Sturgis was taking the offensive and his troops emerging into open ground near Brice's house. After two or three discharges from each of the eight guns in position the brigades of Lyon and Johnson charged upon the Federal left flank. The Federals were pressed slowly back upon Brice's house by this flank attack. Meanwhile Rucker's brigade, re-enforced during the fight by two regiments under Colonel Bell, moved forward across the fields and over fences, using their revolvers freely, toward the house. At this point the slaughter was fearful. Fully 800 Federals, according to Confederate accounts, lay dead and wounded around the house.

For a time this assault was held in check by the steady fire of Stury s cavalry on the front line. Finally, when Forrest's men pressed up to the Federal line, it gave way, exposing the flank of Colonel George E. Waring's brigade, which held a position in the woods and up to that time foe. Waring fell back and carried along Winslow's brigade as well. Forrest's line, now shortened and strengthened, pressed on after the retreating Federals. Six of Sturgis' guns were captured around Brice's house. In a charge of the Eighth Kentucky cavalry upon this battery the color bearer was disabled by a shot, and Sergeant Brown of Company A seized the falling flag, rushed ahead buried 1,900 Federals and took capof the line and placed it upon one of tive 2,000 officers and men, including the Federal guns.

The bridge was blocked with wagons, the teams of which had been shot down, and the retreating soldiers rushed into the creek to pass the obstructions. Forrest ordered his cay sissippi, June 10, 1864. An army of alry to halt and reorganize for more 8,000 Federals under General S. D. effective pursuit. As soon as the bridge Sturgis marched out of Memphis with could be cleared of wagons and debris flying colors to sweep Forrest and his two guns of Rice's Confederate battery rough riding band off Sherman's line worked their way through and, taking favorable positions, harassed the retreating troops on the banks of the Tishimingo.

The delay of the pursuers at the bridge gave Sturgis time to rally his line. For half an hour he gave vigorous battle, his men charging their pursuers and hurling them back upon Rice's guns. About 5 o'clock this second line was smashed by a flanking fire on the left and the artillery on the right. Rice's battery hurled double charges of canister into the Federal ranks, and Lyon's brigade rushed forward, completing the rout. Sturgis' colored brigade made an ineffectual attempt to hold on, but finally dissolved under the canister of Rice's guns.

The largest part of Sturgis' wagon train, numbering 250 and containing ten days' rations for the troops and a large supply of ammunition, fell into Forrest's hands, with 1,500 unwounded prisoners of war. Forrest captured fourteen pieces of artillery in action. Sturgis retreated all night and reached Ripley, twenty-four miles from Brice's farm, early on July 11. An attempt was made to reform the command there and give further battle, but a single regiment of Tennessee troopers. only 250 strong, appeared on the road behind the town, and, after checking an attack in this quarter, which threatened to cut the line of retreat, the Federals again marched on toward Mem

Forrest in person reached Ripley at 8 o'clock on the 11th and but for his impetuosity might have had time to inflict another terrible blow upon Sturgis. Only a single regiment was at hand besides his escort, and with them he attacked. The Federals fought bravely, losing a hundred men, including Colonel G. M. McCraig of the One Hundred and Twentieth Illinois infantry. In this fight General Grierson, commander of the Federal cavhands of Forrest's youngest brother, Colonel Jesse Forrest, Finding themselves beset in the rear and on the ground before a strong column which could get into position to cut off the retreat of the rear guard.

A PAPER LADDER.

Just the Thing For Any Little Girl's Paper Doll House.

Any little girl can make this ladder for her doll house. The ladder is made of paper and it is, therefore, only a toy. The fun and the trick are in the making of it. It is very easy to make a paper ladder by cutting out r Colo., is the president of a bank. She the uprights and the strips and pasting r also has large coal and real estate in- them together, but this ladder is to be terests. The town, of which she is the made in one piece, without using paste founder, carries in every deed a clause at all and with only three cuts of the r scissors. The paper should be the thinnest and

Now flattening r Schoonmaker, a name famous in the the paper roll if necessary, cut it half through about half an inch from each r cestor of that name was the head of end and then cut from the bottom of one of these cuts to the bottom of the other. That is to say, you must cut out of the flattened roll an oblong piece half as wide as the roll itself, leaving trains stop as follows: a figure something like a letter E, but a Wollaston, without the short middle bar. In the middle of it at the bottom of the cut d Neponset you have made you will see a number e Pope's Hill. of narrow strips of paper piled up one on top of another. Ask somebody to hold the roll firmly by both ends and then, with your fingers or the points of the closed scissors, fish out the first strip and pull it toward you. As you keep on pulling, the other strips will follow in order.

The strips are the rungs of the ladder and as they come out one by one the part of the paper attached to their ends twists up and forms the uprights and so the ladder grows as you pull it out of the roll of paper until the roll is all gone, and you have nothing but the ladder. This description may puzzle you as you read it, but it will become clear when you try the trick. You can do it when you try the trick. You can do it old Colony Street Railway Company alone by pulling the ladder out with your teeth, taking care not to wet the paper. The uprights come out as long rolls of paper twisted spirally. Press them flat and the ladder is finished .-New York Mail.

Animals never eat when they are hibernating, and some animals do not even breathe at all when they are hibernating. Place a penny in the bottom of a wine or mousse glass, cover it with a dollar and then, without touching either coin, blow the penny out of the glass while the dollar remains in it.

To do this blow sharply on the side of the dollar, which is next to you. Your breath will cause it to tilt over as if it were on an axis.

Keep on blowing, and a current of air will be produced which will sweep up the penny and hurl it out of the glass.

Try the trick and see what success you have with it.

It's Pretty High. A teacher having explained at length

"Good health is the first requisite for religion or anything else," he says, nally in these bodies of ours. Every person should learn gradually to live outdoors and to live on natural foodthat is, food just as it comes from the hand of nature.

"The objects in living on natural food are: "First.-To make us more natural in thought and in action.

"Second.—From an economical standpoint, it is far cheaper where these fruits grow. It is well known by travelers in the tropics that we can live on $1 a onth or less.

"Third.—There is a very decided humanitarian issue in this diet. No animal has to suffer imprisonment and final slaughter in order to feed the fruitarian. The fruitarian will take his meal directly from the tree and eat."

When he left Portland a year ago Mr. Darling weighed ninety pounds, while now he weighs in the neighborhood of 175 pounds. It was done without a drop of medicine.

He rises at daylight, takes a quick cold shower bath, then runs half a mile or so, throwing off superfluous clothing. Then he goes through a series of calisthenic exercises before eating breakfast of fruit. He declares that he eats regularly three times each day and always has a good appetite.

ONE OF STANLEY'S GIFTS.

How the Late African Explorer Judged Men.

Some men can judge of another man's capacity at first sight. The late Sir Henry M. Stanley had the gift, of which this anecdote is an illustration. When Archibald R. Colquhoun, who is the author of "Greater America." just published by the Harpers, was in the service of the India office he called one and met Stanley there. They talked together a few moments and parted. Next morning a telegram reached Colquhoun from Stanley asking him to call at once. He did so and was greeted without formality and with the following bullet-like sentence: "Will you go to the Kongo Free State as second in command?" Colquhoun expressed his amazement at Stanley's confidence in him upon so slight an acquaintance. "I about men," replied the explorer. Mr. Colquhoun could not accept, as the India office declined giving him leave of absence. Had he gone he would have been the first governor of the

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

For next weeks attraction at the Castle Square Theatre the management announces an elaborate production of domestic drama, played most successfully throughout the country, and called "Hearts of Oak". The play is in many ways identical with one called "The Mariner's Compass"-written by Henry Leslie, an English author-and originally brought out at Asttey's Theatre, London, where it enjoyed immense popularity. The story bears the "Enoch Arden" stamp and the plot is skilfully worked out with a view to maintaining an interest to the final curtain. The action of "Hearts of Oak" is in Marblehead and many opportunities for effective scenic and mechanical work are given in the stage settings. The cast of characters is as follows: - Terry Dennison, Howell Hansel; Ned Fairweather, Mace Greenleaf; Owen Garroway John T. Craven; Uncle Davy, John F. Webber; Mr. Ellington, Wm. J. Hasson; Foreman of Mill, Louis Thiel; Will Barton, Mortimer Weldon; Chrystal, Mary Sanders; Aunt Betsey, Gertrude Berkeley; Tawdrey, Alice Riker; The Baby, Little May; Little Chrystal, Ruth young girls in need of pure air and KING ARTHUR FLOUR Francis. "Hearts of Oak" is announced for only a single week and the usual distribution of boxes of choice chocolate bonbons will be made at the Monday matinee.

> After a pastorate of nearly twentyfive years at the Unitarian church in Beverly, Rev. Ellery Channing Butler decided to make a change much to the regret of his parishioners and on June 5 1894, was installed over the First Congregational church of Quincy. Beverly's oss was Quincy's gain and during the ten years he has made his home here he has drawn to him not only the friendship and love of his own parish, but of the townspeople generally.

The tenth anniversary of Mr. Butler' installation was observed on Saturday evening by a reception in the chapel of the church from eight until ten. The affair was entirely informal, no invitations being sent out, the church people being invited informally after church the last Sunday in May and by press notices.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler were assisted in receiving by the parish committee, and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. James H. anniversary of the installation of Rev. Faxon. They were grouped in a bower church. SUNDAY RAIDS.

Two Places at Houghs Neck Visited by the Police.

Dry Sundays and dry every day in the week, as far as alcoholic stimulants are concerned, is to be the order at Houghs Neck this year, for the Police department is determined that the law in relation to the sale of intoxicating liquor shall be enforced.

The first steps to make it such were taken Sunday noon, when a squad of police swooped down upon two places where it is alleged the ardent was being sold. The places raided were the pavilion on Sea street said to be run by Stephen M. Littleton, and the Spot cottage on Radeliffe street, of which Dennis Marshall is said to be the occupant.

The raids were made shortly before noon. In the police calling party were Chief Hayden, Inspectors McKay and Bradley, Officers Cahill, Doran, Stewart and George A. McKay.

At Marshall's place the officers seized five empty jugs and twenty empty whiskey bottles.

At Littleton's place a better haul was made. Here the officers got a small quantity of whiskey, and one hundred beer bottles mostly empty. They also placed Littleton under arrest for keeping and exposing liquor for sale.

Fall of Gibralter of Far East Means Internal Troubles For Russia--Sanguinary Brushes Continue In Manchuria--Japanese Divers Cleaning Out Mines Laid by Russians

London, June 6 .- That the curtain is drawn again over the progress of the war probably indicates that important events are ampending or afoot. Explosions heard at Port Arthur suggest that the Russians have renewed their attempts to remove obstructions in the mouth of the harbor. All kinds of rumors are current, few of which appear to have any reliable basis.

Various special correspondents in St. Petersburg report increasing depression in Russia over the prospect of the ports are in circulation over dissensions between the generals and the highest officials over questions of policy and strategy.

The Daily Mail gives great prominence to a statement "from a Russian correspondent," declaring that Russia have been discharged. The people for will stand or fall by Port Arthur as the lower classes is concerned. "Internal troubles are inevitable," the correspondent says, "should the fortress fall. Count Lamsdorff displays a strong personality, but his position is precarious and he is likely to be sacrificed as a scapegoat to popular indignation at the way the war has been

The St. Petersburg correspondent of Reuter's Telegram agency says that

Tokio Report of Battle

Tokio, June 6.-The Japanese and Russian forces located north of Pulantien, which were in a series of brushes during the early part of last week, had another encounter on June 3 near Chu ese cavalrymen met the Russians at noon. The Russians numbered 2000 They were pressing the Japanese cavalry when the Japanese assembled their entire force and engaged the enemy. The Russians drew off gradually and at 5:30 in the afternoon they retired to Telishu. The Japanese suffered the loss of four men killed and four men wounded in this fighting.

A report has been received here from General Kuroki saying that on Friday last a detachment was dispatched from Ai Yang Cheng to the east of Feng Wang Chang to make a reconnaissance toward Chaimatsi. This detachment encountered 600 Cossacks and after a brisk engagement the Russians retreated. General Kuroki reports that the Russian loss was heavy. The and three wounded. It is suspected in Jajanese circles generally that the Russians at Port Arthur are communicating with points on the Chinese coast by means of wireless telegraphy. It was reported that a wireless station had been erected secretly at the village of Pch Wang, on Takin island, situated in Pe Chi Li strait, and the Japanese cruiser Chitose visited the island to investigate. She did not, however, find anything. It is reported that another such station has been erected near Shan Hai Kwan, and the Japanese are investigating this matter. Yesterday the Chitose steamed in close to Liaoteshan promontory and discovered four masts and a watch house near the coast. One of these masts evidently was fitted for wireless telegraphy operations. The Chitose reported having heard a series of explosions at Port Arthur and believes them to have resulted from blastings preparatory to the emplacing of new bat-

The Japanese torpedo boat destroyer Ikazuchi discovered and destroyed a large mine off San Shan island, at the entrance to Talienwan bay.

The Japanese naval authorities engaged in clearing out the mines in the vicinity of Talienwan bay are employing Japanese shell divers from Kushiu province for the purpose. These divers volunteered for this work and are wonderfully expert. It is said that with their diving paraphernalia they can stay under water for half a day at a time. Hundreds of Japanese fishermen are volunteering to assist in clearing away Russian mines and it is probable that some of them will be used for this work. These voluntary offers are taken to illustrate the unity of the

Raisuli Has Twice Defied Europe and Sultan of Morocco

Security--Spanish Newspaper Want a Port on West Coast

London, June 6.-The Times correto comply with Raisuli's demands cannot be received for a day or two. If the sultan fully acquiesces in the demands the release of Perdicaris and Varley may be expected shortly, but that by no means settles the situation for, having twice succeeded in defying Europe and the sultan, Raisuli's success will tempt tribesmen to further

"The presence of the American fleet affords a temporary feeling of security, but the moment the fleet is withdrawn, unless some permanent form of protection is substituted, the danger will become greater than ever. The European population is most grateful to the Americans for having promptly sent warships. Full confidence is felt that the American government will not withdraw until, some guarantee shall have been given that Europe recognizes the situation and demands energetic

What Spaniards Think

Madrid, June 6.-The newspapers are anxiously discussing the Morocco situation. The Epoca thinks that the precipitation in sending a fleet to the Morocco coast gives force to the report that the United States has asked the Sultan of Morocco for a port on the west coast.

La Corespondencia De Espana gives a rumor that an exchange of notes is taking place among the European chancelleries with a view to obtaining an assurance that American action shall be confined strictly to measures for securing the liberation of the cap-

Hurt Mormons' Feelings

Salt Lake, June 6.-As a result, it is said, of an alleged anti-Mormon resolution passed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs a few weeks ago, the Authors' club of this city, composed chiefly of Mormon women, has resigned from the federation. The resolution in question declared against any women's club affiliated with any sect the doctrines of which are "inimical to the constitution of the United States or opposed to the principles of American womanhood."

The Page Murder Case

Cambridge, Mass., June 6.-The case of Charles L. Tucker, charged with the murder of Mabel Page at Weston, comes before the grand jury of Middlesex county today. During the past 48 hours there have been rumors of sensational developments in the case, and counsel for Tucker have claimed that new witnesses had been found who would give all important evidence for

Told a Little Too Much

St. Petersburg, June 6.—Zenobia Golaezky has been sent to Galicia, because she was wielding too much influence over the czar. She is a handsome, buxom little soothsayer, and used a radium compound, she claimed, to place between the czar and his ministers, and a white screen. Then she would tell their inmost thoughts and interpret dreams. When she got so far as telling how the czar and his ministers were feeling gloomy and inwardly abandoning hope for Russian success against Japan, she was ordered to get out. She went.

Manhattans Defeated.

The Wollaston Park nine turned the on the Manhattans of Cambridge defeating them by a generous score of 13 to 3 at Merrymount park Saturday

The Park boys expected that it would be a close contest as the Manhattans had defeated them last year by a score of 4 to 2, but they were not left in doubt long, Nixon being an easy mark for most of the park boys.

Gram pitched excellent ball, striking out 13 men, three of them in the fourth inning. Sheppard made a star catch by running towards the infield and catching a high fly. Welsh also did good work at second, while Kelley and Mc-Grath excelled for the Manhattans. The full score:

Twelve Non-Union Miners Hurled Into Eternity

INFERNAL MACHINE USED

Placed Under Platform Where Men Were About to Board a Train and Set Off From a Distance--Heads, Legs, Arms and Trunks Strewn About

Cripple Creek, Col., June 7.-Twelve men were killed and seven were severely wounded by the explosion of an infernal machine at the rallroad station in Independence. Lieven men were killed outright, being blown to pieces, and one died later from his wounds. All the killed and injured, with the exception of two men from the Deadwood mine, were non-union miners employed on the night shift of the Findley mine.

The infernal machine with which the crime was committed consisted of a quantity of dynamite, probably 300 pounds, and a loaded revolver fixed in position with a long, fine steel wire attached to the trigger. The wire ran from under the station platform to the cribbing of the Delmonico property, about 400 feet away, where its end was fastened to a rung of a chair. The dynamite was placed close to the muzzle of the revolver, which was discharged by pulling the wire. The ball from the revolver and the resultant concussion exploded the dynamite.

A man was seen running down the hill from the Delmonico property after the explosion. The Victor troops, who were ordered out by Mayor French, were so stationed as to keep people from passing over the path taken by ployed to trail the assassin.

The men quit work at 2 o'clock in the morning and were waiting to board a suburban train on the Florence and Ice Cream Soda 5 cts. sign deed was passed. Cripple Creek railroad to return to their homes in Cripple Creek and Victor. Just after the engineer of the approaching train blew the whistle as a tom, a terrific explosion occurred underneath the station platform, on and near which 26 men were gathered. The platform was blown into splinters, the station was wrecked and a hole 20 feet in circumference and 20 feet in depth was torn in the ground. Fragments of bodies were hurled several hundred

Several bodies dropped into the pit made by the explosion, but heads, legs, arms and trunks were strewn about on all sides. Pieces of flesh were found splashes of blood were found on everything within a radius of 50 feet. The force of the explosion was felt through out the camp, and awakened everybody. The approaching train was stopped and the trainmen rushed ahead to the scene of the disaster. They were foined in a few minutes by hundreds of persons and relief work was begun

A special train was sent from Cripple Creek carrying physicians, nurses, officers and many others, but when it reached Independence the injured had already been placed on board a suburban train and removed to a hospital in Victor. The mangled bodies of the dead, pieced together as well as possible, were removed to the coroner's Amputations have been performed on a few of the wounded and it is almost certain that several of them will die. Most of the dead and wounded were unmarried.

The infernal machine was similar to the one exploded in the Vindicator mine on Nov. 21, 1903, killing two men. That the crime was carefully planned and perpetrated there seems small cause for doubt. The end of the wire furthest from the explosion was uncovered by a railway construction gang, who also uncovered a pile of The authorities are at sea for a clue.

There is much excitement and a good deal of talk of burning the perpetra tors at the stake if caught. Groups of determined men carrying clubs are to be seen in all portions of Independence. The usual rowdy element is not in evidence.

Riotous Acts at Victor

Victor, Col., June 7 .- Deadly rioting broke out in Victor while a mass meeting was being held to discuss the murder of 12 non-union miners by means of an infernal machine at Independence. Forty shots were fired into a crowd in the street. R. McGee of Victor was shot dead and at least six persons were injured.

William Hoskins, a union miner from Goldfield, threw up his hand and shouted: "Let me talk." At this the crowd began to hiss Hoskins, and cried: "Put him out." A free-for-all fight followed, and shooting began. Most of the shots were directed skyward.

camp. The present outpursts had their inception in the strike of the members of the Western Federation of Miners more than a year ago, when 4000 men quit work to secure an eight-hour day This action so incensed the mine owners that they declared war on unionism. The breach has grown wider every day.

Councilman Nickerson. -Is your only objection the question of price?

Councilman Piper-One of them. Councilman Whiton. It was useless probably to thrash out the matter again. It is tiresome to bear a councilman himself. It was useless to try to pass order with seven members who want a building in another section. It is nonsense to think of getting a bonafide bid before the order is passed. HEAVY FIRING REPORTED

Unconfirmed Rumors of Sinking of Japanese Battleship and Two Torpedo Boats--Quicker Land Movement by Japs Then Had Been Expected

London, June 7 .- A dispatch from Paris says that the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Matin reports that a naval officer repeats the story already in circulation at Liao Yang that the Russian squadron at Port Arthur has made a sortie and sunk two Japanese torpedo boats and a battleship of the Shikishima type.

A cable from Tenchow says that there beginning at 11:30 o'clock and continuing for several hours. A junk, arriving during the night from Dalny, reports that there was heavy firing all day yesterday in the vicinity of Port Arthur. When the junk left Dalny Monday morning all was quiet there. The arrivals on the junk deny the story of the sinking of a Japanese ship off Talienwan,

Reports of the advance of the Japanese army towards Port Arthur are credible enough, though they are unconfirmed officially, and show a quicker movement than was expected. Talien bay is still encumbered with mines, and Dalny is therefore not yet serviceable as a base. The story of an engagement on the road from Dalny to Port Arthur, 15 miles from the latter, is likely enough, but the result of the battle is not yet known. This eastern road, though not good for transport, is especially available because it is much of its length near enough to the sea to infrequently been on opposite sides of a be commanded by warships; the Japanquestion and, sitting in the same diviere ese force on this road is undoubtedly Port Arthur much depends upon the The climax was reached the other day, state of the railroad. PAGE MURDER CASE

Evidence Against Tucker Presented to the Grand Jury

Cambridge, Mass., June 7.-The evidence upon which the commonwealth relies to secure an indictment against Charles L. Tucker of Auburndale, for the murder of Miss Mabel Page of Weston on March 31, is now in the possession of the grand jury of Middlesex county. It was given in secret session in the courtroom of the superior criminal court and the presentation of the evidence required a little less than three hours. Outside of J. H. Whitney of the state police, who was in the room the entire time, and who is supposed to have given his story, 20 Weymouth, on Wednesday afternoon, to persons were examined. All the witnesses summoned were called with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Tucker and Walter F. Tucker, respectively the father, mother and brother of the accused. The finding of the grand jury will probably be known either late Thursday afternoon or Friday morning when it reports in open court. If a "no bill" is returned Tucker will be brought into court to hear the findings of the 23 men who have heard the evidence against him. On the other hand, if a "true" bill is found, Tucker will not be brought was firing at Port Arthur last night, into court until some time later during the term.

Next week will be commencement week at the Quincy Mansion school, C. W. Carter returned Sunday from a week's trouting trip in New Hampshire. The streets named in the street watering order do not seem to have a monopoly of the street sprinkling.

Paul Revere W. R. C. of this city will be the guest of Reynolds Corps, East witness the work of exemplification. Admission to Hospital fair next week, at Quincy Music ball, will be but ten cents. It is hoped there will be a grand rally of the people of Quincy and vicinity that a large sum may be realized for the Hospital. Mrs. Emma E. Marnock, protector of Maple Lodge, K. and L. of H., of this city has been appointed by the Grand Protector, District Deputy of Waverly lodge of Charlestown, and will install their newly elected officers the second Monday in July.

Big Circus Parade.

Independent of all other showmen, Sig. Sautelle, one of the world's recognized circus kings, states most emphatically that he will never enter into any ompact to do away with the parade. In the words of Mr. Sautelle, others may do as they please relative to abolishing their street displays, he proposes to continue putting out as gorgeous a pageant as is possible in every city and town where his shows exhibit just as ong as he remains before the public.

This season Mr. Santelle, whose Nine Consolidated Railroad Shows will appear in Quincy, Thursday, June 9, afternoon and evening, promises a most magnificent free parade. In the several sections will be heard bands of music and there will be 200 or more men and vomen, including Indians, cowboys and girls, heavily carved dens of rare wild beasts, golden chariots, gilded tableaux. vans and floats, hundreds of blooded horses and ponies, a troupe of elephants, a double herd of camels, clowns, steam calliope and a number of exclusively new and original features.

Notwithstanding that Mr. Sautelle has invested a goodly sized fortune in the purchase of animals, the building of rolling stock and in procuring up-to-theminute novelties that his free street show will be second to none this year. he has combined his several amusement enterprises and exhibits all under a huge water-proof tent for one price of admission. Two full hours are consumed in the presentation of the imperial programme and at times there are as many as twelve acts given simultaproperty of Mrs. Greenough's husband. | neously. There is something doing all the time and a royal treat is promised circus-goers upon the above day and date. The performance will begin at 2 63 Howard Avenue, and 8 P. Missionary Sunday.

Services at the Washington Street Congregational church were well attended Sunday, both morning and evening. Rev. E. E. Strong, D. D. of the American Board spoke in the morning. At the evening service Mr. Charles Smith of Thibet spoke on "Thibet and submarine torpedo boat Fulton was its people." His talk was most interesting and fully enjoyed by the audience. Thanks are due Mr. Arthur W. Newcomb for securing the services of Mr. Smith. A quartet composed of: Mr. Copeland, Mrs. G. K. Carter, Miss Nina Gage and Mr. T. B. Pollard, rendered a selection which added much to the Wallingford, Conn., June 7.-The firm service. The regular choir was assisted of R. The young woman was arraigned in ourt this morning.

During the preliminaries of opening the court and while the civil cases were being called, the girl sat with downcast head on the officers' bench with her father. Her face was thus shielded from the view of curious spectators. When her name was called by the clerk she appeared to be in a kind of trance; and apparently did not hear what was said, and it was not until Inspector McKay touched her on the shoulder that she stood up and walked towards the clerk's desk. Here she premises. stood with her back to the audience and with tears streaming down her face while the clerk read the warrant charging her with assaulting and murdering her infant child. Bandit Must Spare Perdicaris' Life or Be Killed Himself

RAISULI SEEKS REVENGE

Insists That Rival Political Potentates' Estates Be Sequestered In Exchange For Captives--New Case For England Washington, June 8.-Rear Admirat Chadwick reports to the navy department that the British battleship Prince of Wales has arrived at Tangler. He also reports the return of the Baltimore to Tangier from Gibraltar. The Illinois has been ordered to Gibraltar on the completion of target practice at Martha's Vineyard and the Missouri has been ordered to sail from Newport News for Gibraltar. These two vessels are being sent to Gibraltar direct, where they will report to Rear Admiral Barker, and rejoin the fleet wherever he may direct.

Our government and the British government seem liable to drift apart in handling the Perdicaris-Varley case. The British appear determined to compel the Sultan of Morocco to come to terms with the brigand Raisuli by granting what he demands, so as to save the life of Varley, who is a British subject. The United States government is concerning itself wholly with the case of Perdicaris, and letting Varley's case alone, except as it is necessarily hinged to that of Perdicaris. But if Raisuli's demands be granted at the in- $358.93. stance of England, it will release Perdicaris as well as Varley.

Raisuli insists that money is not his sole object, but that, to raise the fund, the estates of two rival political potentates must be sequestered by the sultan and sold and the proceeds given to him. This is why Perdicaris, who is a rich man, has not already ransomed Mary W. Kelley, a minor of Brookline; bond,

The United States government feels compelled to refrain from establishing the precedent of entangling itself thus with internal political relations of any foreign power, even of one as little to its taste as the ineffective rule of the Sultan of Morocco. It must, as a matter of public policy, stick to the plain ground that Raisuli shall either spare the life of Pardicaris or be killed himself, holding the sultan responsible for the brigand's head in case his threat against the prisoner's life is carried out. The state department has decided that the situation in Morocco does not warrant a change in the itinerary of miral Barker's command now lying at

Bandits Are "Influential"

Tangier, June 8.-Armed Anjera Moors invaded the residence of an Englishman here and compelled his wife to give up the rifles of her husband, who was absent. The outrage took place in broad daylight. The British consul demands the arrest of the tribesmen, but the Moorish officials hesitate because the perpetrators are influential.

Millionaire Seeks Divorce Denver, June 8 .- A local attorney has filed a suit for divorce brought by Lawrence C. Phipps, the millionaire steel manufacturer of Pittsburg, against Genevieve C. Phipps. An injunction is sought, it is said, to restrain J. P. Morgan & Co., the United States Steel corporation and the United States Trust company from paying to Mrs. Phipps further dividends upon stock and bonds formerly held by her husband, but now in her possession.

Tragedy In Public Street Shamokin, Pa., June 8.-Harry T. Wolff shot his wife on the street here last night and then killed himself. His victim will probably die. Wolff sued his wife for assault and battery and, the case being dismissed, the couple left the office of the justice together On reaching the street Wolff sent a bul let into his wife's body and another one through his heart.

Small Loan Under Conditions New York, June 8 .- It is authoritatively stated that no new Cuban loan will be offered in the near future. It is possible that Speyer & Co. may agree to a small loan if thereby the Cuban government can make a cash compromise of all soldiers' claims. Such a loan, it is declared, would readily be taken here.

Strike of Italian Laborers New York, June 8 .- Two thousand men engaged in construction work in North Hudson, N. J., quit work because of the refusal of the contractors to grant a working day of nine hours. The strikers are nearly all Italians and the contractors say that in the future

they will get along without Italian

Coming to Quincy Shipyard. It is some satisfaction to note that there is one plant in the country that e new lather, as it softens the beard has places for skilled help when others are curtailing. A dispatch to the Herald from Newport, R. I., says:

About 200 employes of the repair shops of the New York, New Haven & Hartford road here were laid off yesterday. Most of them have been given an opportunity to work with the Fore River Shipyard at Quincy, Mass., where a boat is under construction for the railroad.

$100,000 to Distribute. The Adams Temple and School Fund of Quincy is among the 27 charitable institutions to benefit in the distribution of $100,000 from the estate of the late R. C. Billings, an old time Boston merchant. Others to benefit are: the First Congregational church of East Weymouth, the Third Congregational Society of Hingham, other churches, ospitals, homes, schools, historical societies, etc. Some time ago nearly $2,000,000 was distributed to charities.

This swelled the number of siderably over 200, and last night 24 of trict with them. The men were all active unionists and served as leaders in the strike now pending.

Three additional city officers were forced to resign their offices, namely, rington. Their reputed sympathy for unionism led to this action. In each ance waited upon them and compelled them to act immediately under pain of violence.

Sixteen deputies, armed with sawedoff shotguns, visited the union store and made a thorough search for weapons. They were rewarded with finding a rifle and shotgun concealed behind a large ice box. Subsequently they went to union headquarters and overturned everything in an effort to find the union records. Their efforts were unavailing. All of the injured in the explosion at Independence and the rioting in Victor to say whether the city be divided as are reported doing well. No definite to districts, or that one building be a clue, it is understood, has been obtained through the bloodhounds which were started on the trail of persons who placed the infernal machine under the station at Independence.

The whole district has taken sides in the bitter feeling existing between the Mine Owners' association and the unionists, but it is thought a clash will be averted for the reason that most, if not all of the union leaders, are in durance. The streets of this city are being constantly patrolled by deputies and soldiers.

Humor and Philosophy By DUNCAN M. SMITH

Copyright, 1904, by Duncan M. Smith. SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

When mother on a shopping tour Fares gayly through the town She's not so eager to secure The latest thing marked down. She's seeking in her daily tramps Those gay, seductive trading stamps.

The trading stamp of blue or green Alluring is and sly.

The most persuasive ever seen, It makes its victim buy, And buy and buy and buy some more Of everything that's in the store.

Has gathered to her hold A thousand of them, more or less, She says, "They're good as gold." And to the premium parlors she Will fly as happy as can be.

There she'll select a rocking chair Or else mayhap a lamp,

A thing of plainly third rate ware, Of "bargain counter" stamp, But mother proudly shows her prize. "It didn't cost a thing!" she cries.

A New Reading. "Come, come, John," said his father "keep better hours. This will never do. The early bird catches the worm, you know.'

"Not much dad," returned John. "It might have been so in your time, but the worm will turn, you know, and now we go after him by the moon's pale light, tra, la."

Her Sad Surprise, When freedom from her mountain height Unfurled her standard to the air She flew it higher than a kite
And doubtless meant to keep it there

But, ah, her hopes were doomed to fall! Behold that starry banner dear Bedecking wagon, cart and hall And advertising lager beer.

And Her Husband Received His Orders "Doctor," said the sick woman wearily, waving aside the glass he offered her, "there is only one thing that I am able to take." "What is that?" gently inquired the rising young physician. "A trip to California." And the doctor took a tumble.

His View of It.

"So she is happily married at last," remarked the old friend of the family. "Yes, happily, she's married at last," sighed her overworked father, thinking of the bills he would no longer have to pay.

Knew the Kind. "It is strange that the people of his time did not pay more attention to No-with weather prophets." The Explosion.

The auto rushing at full speed

Scoots proudly down the track. The rider sits with head erect And never once looks back But, oh, pride has an awful jolt Need Watching.

"When you are in Rome you must do as the Romans do." "Not necessarily, but you must watch out or the Romans will do you.'

Just a Habit, "Poor boy! His sweetheart has learned to love another." "If you knew her you wouldn't say that. She did not have to learn. It comes natural to her." The Usual Way.

"How did he break himself of the habit of drinking?" "He didn't. It broke him."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It really only takes one to make a quarrel, if he is determined.

After a man has been married a year he wonders how it ever happened. Children are sure to be the victims of their own bad judgment when they give an ill timed imitation of the head People who can't take a joke are apt to be regarded by their acquaintances as great jokes themselves.

There is nothing remarkably forbidding about a dentist's office, but many people have lost their nerve there.

Marine Firemen's Union Orders Strike Along Coast

Declared to Be Against a System of "Crimping," Which Is Declared to Take Thousands of Dollars Out of the Firemen

New York, June 9.-Five thousand coast marine firemen, members of the Marine Firemen's union in New York, have been ordered on strike by Secretary Sullivan of the national board of strike is expected to extend to all the coast cities from Portland, Me., to Galveston. According to the expectation of Sullivan about 15,000 men will be out on strike within the next two $125 weeks.

The firemen declare that their strike, although called while the freight handlers are out, is not sympathetic; neither is it for increased wages or shorter hours, but to do away with purpose. what the members of the union consider their greatest grievance, "the crimp" system. Secretary Sullivan last night gave out the following statement as to the firemen's griev-

"The crimp is a fellow who goes to the high officials of the coastwise lines and gives them money to control the shipping of firemen. These crimps make anywhere from $4000 to $5000 a year out of the poorly paid and hard worked firemen. This money is taken out of the wages of the firemen on every trip and then the crimp meets the head of the line and shares with him the blood money he has taken from the firemen.

"A fireman cannot make a kick, for if he does he loses his job, and he finds himself out of a position and unable to secure another one, as the crimps control the shipping.

"Our organization has swept the crimp out of existence in the ports of Boston, Philadelphia and Norfolk, and we are going to do the same thing here in New York. We want the public to know that this crimp system exists, that the shippers know of it, that the directors of these companies know of it and that they are all in favor of the system."

Firemen Called Out at Boston Boston, June 9 .- At a meeting of the local branch of the Atlantic Coast Firemen's union here last night a strike was declared against three steamship lines having terminals here. extended to a fourth line immediately. The lines against which the strike was declared are the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company to Baltimore, the Joy line to New York, and the Clyde line to Jacksonville. Unless the Metropolitan Steamship company agrees to the demands of the union a strike will be declared against that line. At the present time it is impossible to tell how many men will be ordered out.

Against Sympathetic Strike

Detroit, June 9.—Secretary-Treasurer Barter of the International Longshoremen's Marine and Transport Workers' association is outspoken in declaring that there is no probability of the longshoremen declaring a sympathetic strike in aid of the masters and pilots. He alluded to the fact that there is an agreement in existence between the longshoremen and the Lake Carriers' association for this season. "I challenge President Gompers or any one else to order us out on a sympathetic strike," he said. "The American Federation of Labor has no power to order us out. I would advise withdrawal from the federation in preference to submitting to such an order if it were issued.'

Much of Fund Distributed Washington, June 9.-The Navy Relief society, having progressed sufficiently in its investigation of the needs of the surviving relatives of the Missouri dead to warrant a partial distribution of the fund subscribed for their relief, announces that it has distributed $3936. The remainder of the fund will be distributed as soon as communication can be established with other surviving relatives and their comparative needs ascertained.

Old "Weather Clerk" Dead Scranton, Pa., June 9.-Frederick M. Clark, forecast official of the weather bureau, was found dead in a chair in LEHIGH STOVE, his office. Death was due to heart failure. Clark was the weather observer on one of the Greely relief expeditions and spent a year at Point Barrow and afterward three years in Alaska. He LEHIGH BROKEN, had been in the government employ for more than a quarter of a century.

-All records of emigration were broken at Bremen last year. Not including tourists, the number of Europeans who left by that harbor was 175,320 the highest previous figure having been 143,329, in 1902.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

A new law relative to Sunday shows is having remarkably clear sailing in the Legislature which is supporting Gov. Bates heartly. It was offered in the united States by its traditions not to entangle itself in the internal affairs of other countries. It is stated positively that under no conditions can the took all its readings in that body, and these guarantees three readings in the House. It will undoubtedly pass today and receive the signature of the Governor.

After all, the Filipinos who are coming to America will be the recipients of considerable attention and hospitality. The city of Boston feeling too poor to entertain them, the merchants of that town have subscribed a fund for the purpose. They will reach the "hub" on the 19th of June, and will remain for five days. It is a pity they could not witness the Battle of Bunker Hill on the 17th of that month.

Drift of Opinion.

The Democrats are chirking up and saying that Governor Bates' veto of the 56-hour bill has given the Democratic party the best card it has had in years. If it pleases them to think so, et them play the card and see what comes of it. Can they get Representative Ross, the chief champion of the 56hour bill, to join the Democratic party?-New Bedford Standard.

STORMING OF CAMP

Colorado Troops Make a Descent Upon Union Miners

Soldiers Are Victorious After Having Killed One Man and Taken Fourteen Prisoners--Further Resignations of City Officers In Disturbed Listricts

Victor, Col., June 9.-A pitched battle between the militia and union miners was fought at Dunnville, the new mining camp 13 miles south of Victor, shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. John Carley, a union miner, was killed. The troops returned to Victor at 8 o'clock last night, bringing with them 14 captives.

bearing the force under General Bell, it was reported that the miners in the hills above Dunnville numbered about 250 men and that it was their intention to march into Victor in a body and attempt to liberate by force the inmates of the temporary "bullpen" in Victor. That the force actually consisted of but 21 men is the statement of one of the 14 men who were captured by the

The train proceeded to the imme diate vicinity of Dunnville without unusual incident. When about a quarter of a mile distant from the Dunnville temporary station the officers could see the camp of the miners. It included one cabin and six or seven tents. The officers left the train at the command of General Bell and prepared to advance upon the camp of the unionists in skirmish order. As they emerged from the cut in which the train had come to a stop, they were greeted with a volley of shots which came from points of vantage surrounding the hills.

The deputies returned the fire and promiscuous shooting was engaged in for a period of 10 minutes. From the character of the shooting from the hills General Bell immediately recognized the fact that the strength of the miners had been greatly over-estimated and that he had sufficient force under his command to make an immediate roundup and capture the entire opposing Accordingly, he divided the deputies and soldiers into seven detachments clean-up of all the surrounding mils.

Washington, June 9.-With political conditions in New York growing more unsatisfactory to the Democratic leaders their attention is now turning to the middle west, and there is much discussion of the possibility of picking a man for second place on the ticket who can influence the votes of Indiana and Illinois. In this situation the friends of John R. McLean are urging his qualifications.

Matadors In Fatal Fight

St. Louis, June 9.-Don M. Cerevera, a Spaniard, who claimed to be the favorite matador of the King of Spain, was shot through the heart and instantly killed by Carleton Bass, known as "the American matador." The shooting resulted from a quarrel regarding the flasco of Sunday when the authorities stopped the bull-fight and the angry crowd burned the arnea struc-

Soldiers' Health Is Good

Washington, June 9.-The war department is in receipt of a cablegram from General Wade, commanding the Philippines division, saying that no deaths were reported throughout the division between May 16 and June 1. It is unusual for no deaths to occur during a fortnight among so large a body of troops serving in the tropics.

Canadian Woolen Mills to Resume Toronto, June 9 .- As a result of the higher tariff on woolens there is a probability of the Canada Woolen Mills company resuming business, as the liquidation proceedings will probably be stayed. One That Women Would Do Well to Heed In Doing Housework.

To make your head save your heels is an old, old maxim, but it is one that women do not follow as strictly as they should. Particularly where a woman does her own work, or most of it, with a day's help once or twice a week, is the saving of one's steps important. Yet how many housewives are prodigal of their strength! To sit down as much as possible, to lie down for a few minutes whenever a little pause occurs in the procession of du-0 ties-these make an appreciable difference in the sum total of fatigue which one carries with one to bed. Most women who work, work beyond their strength. They are inclined to take things hard, while men take things 0 easy. Women wear out faster and earlier than men, and one reason seems to be not that they work harder than men, but that they do not take such good care of themselves.

The man who works eight or ten hours a day is satisfied to let it rest at that, but most women who have a home and children to look after work from twelve to fourteen hours a day and they have no Saturday half holidays either. Sunday, so far as work goes, often brings little chance for relaxation. No wonder that fatigue ac cumulates on the wife and will not be shaken off or that the wrinkles form a tiny network around her eyes and the hair shows gray on the temples. It is easier and better to rest as you go along than to have a severe fit of sickness or degenerate into a wornout nervous invalid.

Kitchen Knives. A complete assortment of good knives should form the stock of every well appointed kitchen and dining room, and the best of care should be given them. Kitchen knives are, as a rule, treated as if it were the chief obthat General Jiminez had effected a ject in life to blunt the blades and break the points as soon as possible One way in which knives are destroyed is by putting them in a pan of hot water and allowing them to soak until the handles are loosened and split and the blades fall out. All knives should be washed as soon as possible after they are used. Grease, acid, salt, etc., all act ness. When ready to wash the knives take a knife in one hand and a soft cloth in the other. Dip the blade in warm (not hot) water, wash thoroughly and quickly, passing the wet cloth over the handle; then with a soft, dry cloth wipe until thoroughly dry.

Velveteen May Be Washed. Not every owner of a velveteen gown is aware that velveteen stands washing. Yet this can be very successfully done. Have ready a warm, soapy lather, immerse the velveteen garment in it and gently rub until the dirt disappears. After rinsing press as dry as possible and iron damp on the wrong side with hot irons frequently changed. Then hang in front of the fire to finish, and the pile will come up like new. To the car company was sold separately be successful this treatment must be carried out with extreme care, otherwise it is far cheaper to send the costume to a cleaner's.

Grated Horseradish.

Grated horseradish can be kept on hand ready for use and yet retain its fresh flavor if well covered with vinegar and put into an airtight jar immediately after grating. When it is to be used take out quantity desired, dilute slightly with cold water and mix with one teaspoonful of sugar to two tablespoonfuls of horseradish.

WILL FIGHT UNIONS

Plan of Citizens' 'Alliance In the Cripple Creek District

THE VICTOR RECORD RAID

Editor Thinks Union Men Not to Blame--Closing of Portland Mine by the Military Brings Up Case For Federal Courts

Cripple Creek, Col., June 10.—"Death to unionism in the Cripple Creek distric." is the new slogan of the Citizens' alliance which has sent a decree broadcast that every person connected with any union here must either sever his or her connection with such organization or leave this district.

The latest stand of the anti-unionists was vaguely hinted at two days ago, but the movement on the part of the alliance seemed so absurd to three or four thousand unionists in the camp and its enforcement fraught with so many difficulties, that it was not taken seriously.

Tyson S. Dines, a Denver attorney and one of the executors of the Stratton estate, is here in conference with Citizens' alliance leaders and it is announced that he is preparing a form which will be presented to every merchant and business man and other employers of labor in the district, pledging them not to employ any person who is affiliated with a labor union.

No person who works for a living will be exempt and the absolute annihilation of unionism in this country is predicted by members of the Citizens' alliance and the Mine Owners' association. This is considered the most drastic step yet taken by the alliance since it secured the upper hold in the district and its enforcement will affect 3000 men and women now affiliated with the various unions. Among the unions that will feel the new movement are the Clerks, Cooks and Waiters, Bartenders, Carpenters, Electricians, Trainmen and Stone and Brick Masons The unionists assert they will fight the movement to a finish.

Subsequently two committees com posed of members of the Citizens' alli ance started out with identical forms of agreement to secure signatures. With two exceptions all business houses visited signed. The agreement

"We, the undersigned merchants of the Cripple Creek district and employers of help, hereby agree not to employ help of any kind that is in any way connected with a trades assembly of the American Federation of Labor or the Western Federation of Miners, or kindred organizations."

Every clerk employed in stores in Bennet avenue, the principal street, belongs to some union, but all will be required to surrender their cards, according to the agreement made by their employers.

General Bell has issued the following statement regarding the raid on the Victor Record office and the destruction of the newspaper plant:

"I cannot be too emphatic in my condemnation of this unmerited act Such action as this reflects upon the military, because martial law prevails. As military commander I am solely responsible for the cleaning up of this crime if it is possible.

"I am aware that Editor Kyner was bitterly denounced and threatened and accused of selling out when his editorial appeared asking the Western Federation to call off the strike. The socialistic element of the federation were the ones who took the principal WHITE ASH STOVE, stand in this thing. However, whoever the perpetrators of this crime may be, they will land in the bullpen if apprehended."

"Do you think that union miners wrecked your office because of your editorial on Wednesday advising that the strike be called off?" Editor Kyner SHAMOKIN STOVE, was asked.

"I unquestionably do not," he replied. "I do not think the editorial was the cause of this at all. We had hints and rumors of a plan to wreck the office three days ago, before this editorial was published. I asked Major Naylor, the city marshal, for protection. He was willing to give it, but said it would not be necessary and not to fear. As a matter of fact, the union men agree with the sentiment in the editorial. After its publication all the union men I saw commended my position and many came to me for that special purpose."

Mine Temporarily Closed

Victor, Col., June 10 .- In a bloodless LEHIGH EGG, assault made by 150 militiamen and deputies, led by General Bell, on the Portland mine, the mine was indefinitely closed, to be reopened later on terms which will prevent any workmen securing work without presenting satisfactory working cards from the Mine Owners' association. General Bell says the mine was closed because of "military necessity," as the men working in it were contributing to the support of the strikers and thereby continuing the present conditions in the district. His proclamation also states that dangerous men in the mine should

Effort to be Pushed to Raise the

An enthusiastic meeting of those interested in the proposed building for the Y. M. C. A. was held Thursday evening at Colonial hall.

Owing to death in the family of President H. B. Bailey, George H. Brown presided and in opening the meeting reviewed at length the history of the Y. M. C. A. movement in Quincy up to the present time.

The first speaker was Dr. E. R. Johnson of the building committee, who explained in detail the plans of the proposed building which were displayed Quincy need the association. We need Whittemore, who in his capacity of on the wall.

President Bowles of the Fore River

Ship & Engine Co. was then introduced President Bowles opened his remarks by saying that the Fore River Ship and Engine Co. was here to stay. The Y. M. C. A. was a necessity, and it was a shame to Quincy if the citizens do not furnish it and do it in good shape. His company find it difficult to keep good young men for lack of from Quincy as they possibly can and fountains. get here to work. You have no saloons here but have nothing in their place. It is like taking playthings away from a child and give nothing to take the River what it should be, and that the Y. M. C. A. building would be erected in the near future, as it would aid hem in doing this.

Williams Knowles Cooper, general secretary at Springfield, when introduced, said he was surprised that a city of 30,000 population and with an industry like the Fore River, should be without a Y. M. C. A. He then took up the several branches of the Association work. Of the physical exercises he said, that after fifteen years of study of the problem of young men here was nothing equal to the gymnasium to lead young men to live pure

He touched upon the social side of he Association work, and the educaional classes which did a grand work for the intellectual and economical needs of young men in our cities. The Y. M. C. A. was one of the most fruitful opportunities for philanthropist. The conditions which exist in boarding louses make it almost impossible for young men to live pure lives. The Y. M. C. A. building will supply one of the needs of the city, for boys need a religious as well as a physical life. This Y. M. C. A. is a fascinating subject, about which enough could not be said. In closing he said he felt sure that Quincy would fall in line with other cities in this work.

Chairman Brown said it was not possible to build this summer unless the pledges of money needed are raised $6.75 in a month. We need the cooperation of everyone and if those present would interest their friends who are not present the amount necessary can be raised.

Rev. William E. Gardner thought a great deal of the Y. M. C. A. and its 7.00 work. He had recently been making a practical investigation of the needs of such an association. He referred to some conversations of young men. Out of eighteen he had 7.25 heard there was but one that would bear repeating. At Brewers corner things are being said by boys that he did not dare to repeat. He related the one conversation that could be 8.00 repeated.

This was between two young men. It was a cold drizzling night. One of the young men had been driving a team all day and the other had been plugging 7.00 stone all day. This conversation only went to show the need of some amusement for these young men who had no place to go for an evening's recreation. In closing he said he knew of no place that needed an Association more than Quincy and no institution would pay a 6.75 better dividend.

Richard D. Chase spoke of what a splendid thing it was to have a share in such a pleasure as this Y. M. C. A. He was sure if people who at heart love boys and things that are good could take hold of such an opportunity as this they would have a lot of enduring fun.

Amos D. Albee of Wollaston said we nust look at the building as to its possible needs as well as to the present needs. In the natural growth of things we must look ahead five or ten years. In order to avail ourselves of the generous offers it is necessary to raise money. We ought not to do anything acquainted with the Y. M. C. A. since boyhood. Then the young men were in the background. Now it is the old men who are in the background. He was glad it was so. The Y. M. C. A. work was the greatest work going on in the United States today. Quincy is peculiarly situated. We are a set of villages, each with its own whims and environments. Quincy was one of the coldest cities in the United States. He could find a better reception in two days in any city he had visited than in two years in Quincy. There was no place to go. He only wished he had the funds. If I had you would have a building. There was money enough in Quincy. It was only necessary to get

Secretary Gay, the last speaker, said that he believed fully in the needs and son. All thoughts of cold weather possibilities of a Y. M. C. A. building vanished from the yachtsmen as they in Quincy. He felt sure that in a few entered the club house, where everyone months we will be able to do what the received a warm welcome from Combusiness men want us to do. There will be the regulation circus acts by professional performers, but the main interest will center in the prominent Quincy men who will appear as ringmasters, clowns, peanut and lemonade sellers and side show "barkers." The manager said that in Providence Gov. Force Not Large Enough to Attack Port Arthur London, June 10 .- Little news of importance has reached London from the seat of war during the last 24 hours and reports that Chinese refugees from Port Arthur have given to the Chefoo correspondents of English papers do not agree sufficiently to carry much weight. According to one account the Chinese at Port Arthur have been given three days in which to depart. Thereafter none will be allowed to leave.

It probably is not true that there has been any attack by the Japanese on the immediate land defenses of Port 'women's interests'' in the average most serious work, which will not be

The alleged attack on Port Arthur from the sea, reported in the dispatches, is explained by Admiral Togo, who reports that a flotilla of torpedo boats was sent into the harbor's mouth for the purpose of making a reconnoissance. These, of course, drew the fire of the Russian forts, but they retired, it is reported, without damage. The object in sending the boats in probably was to

NEW SUNDAY LAW

Amusement Bill Passed by the Massachusetts Legislature Boston, June 10.-The great and general court brought the year's work to a close last night, after a session of 155 days, by amending the Sunday amusement law and overruling the governor's veto on a bill providing for the IS FACING SERIOUS TASK payment of a bounty of $125 to Civil war veterans who had not received one. The vote in the senate on the bounty bill was 25 to 8, and in the house 157 to 47 in favor of the bill. The governor sent 14 vetoes to the legislature last year and 15 this year, Fortified Places In the World and his objection to the bounty bill Big Bethel in 1861 in which Quincy tained by substantial majorities.

The amendment to the amusement law was the cause of prolonging the session several days. A recent decision of the supreme court permitting entertainments of all sorts on Sunday, providing a portion of the receipts went to some religious or charitable organization, called forth from the governor a message urging a speedy amendment to the law.

After several measures had been proposed both branches reached an agreement on a bill late yesterday afternoon. The new measure requires that all Sunday entertainments shall be licensed by local authorities and that 75 percent of the gross receipts shall go to some charitable or religious organization.

The bounty bill was not returned to the house with the veto until late in the afternoon and two hours was spent in its discussion and the overruling of the veto. The amusement bill was laid before the governor for his approval as it was signed the legislature was prorogued.

During the session the governor signed 110 resolves and 460 acts.

What Southern Delegates to St Louis Convention Will De

DISPLEASES GORMAN MEN

Latter Will Try to Overcome Momentum of Parker Movement--Republicans Decide Upon Knox to Succeed Quay

Washington, June 10 .- The news from the southern Democratic conventions and from the uninstructed delegates already elected, shows no weakening of the hold of Judge Parker of a section always strongly influential in Democratic national conventions. The Washington Post's correspondent a Richmond telegraphs that no safe pre diction is possible as to the Virgini convention's course regarding instruc tions. He adds:

"The sentiment for Parker's nomi nation is practically unanimous, many of the delegates wear Parker buttons and the name of no other candidate is mentioned." But in spite of this he says a strong element favors a compro mise like that adopted in Alabama se as to leave the delegates at St. Louis | Boston16 25 with a larger measure of discretion, although from all present appearances they would exercise it in Parker's be-

Senator Mallory of Florida, who is in the city, says that seven of the 10 delegates from his state are for Parker and three for Hearst. He believes the entire south favors Parker, and he looks for his nomination not later than the third ballot. The convention, he declares, will tolerate no dictation from Bryan or from Tammany hall.

Representative Richardson of Ala bama, one of the delegates-at-large to St. Louis, says that his delegation, while not formally instructed for Parker, will vote for him. They believe it foolish, in Alabama, to tle down a delegation of intelligent Democrats with ironclad instructions. He explains that the Democrats all over the country agreed to leave to New York the selection of a man to lead the party. When New York spoke, the southern Democrats felt that the selection had been made. This attitude of the south is extremely distasteful to the Gorman leaders here, who are trying to hold back the Parker movement. They say that the south always rushes headlong; that it did that in 1896 for Bryan and free silver, and that if it does so this time it will cost the party the vote. Their hope is to convince the southern delegates at St. Louis, who have committed themselves to Parker, but are under no binding instructions to vote for him, that on account of factional difficulties in New York it would be much better party policy to nominate somebody else. This appeal to the desire to the southern Democrats to win at all hazards, they argue, should suf- New York24 fice to overcome the present momentum of Parker's movement.

Knox Will Succeed Quay

Philadelphia, June 10.-Philander C. Knox of Pittsburg, attorney general of the United States, was selected to fill the seat in the United States senate made vacant by the death of M. S. Quay. He will accept and serve by tion of the late senator's commission. legislature which meets in January. It is expected that Knox will remain in the cabinet until December.

Convention Without Platform

Salt Lake City, June 10 .- The six delegates from Utah to the Democratic national convention will go uninstructed. Four of the six, it is understood, are against Hearst, with a leaning toward Parker as first choice. Two delegates probably will support Hearst. It was decided by the party leaders to avoid all reference to the question of polygamy and so thoroughly was this plan carried out that no platform was presented to the convention. It was declared that the only platform the Democratic party needed this year to win was an anti-Roosevelt plank. This was the only reference to national issues made.

Miles Resolutions Voted Down Hartford, June 10 .- The state Prohibition convention voted down a resolution to endorse the name of Nelson A. Miles as the presidential candidate of the party, after a lively dicussion in which all of the delegates had a

MADNESS OF THE DESERT.

Effect of the Monotony of Silence Upon Human Beings.

"The silence of the desert has a maddening effect upon the human brain,' said a traveler whose experiences are not often paralleled. "Monotony is more severe than anything else derivhim with the urder of Mabel Page at ing its entire pain from mental effect. The monotony of silence is worse than

"Take a man away from the hum of becomes awful and is sometimes unbearable. All at once, without any the party may stop suddenly, with dazed look on his face and a wild expression in his eye. He is dangerous. His reason is torn in wild confusion Anything or anybody familiar infuri ates him.

"He must be disarmed and bound at once or he will deal death to the whole party. He is possessed of 'desert madness,' brought on by the monotony of silence. He suffers excruciating mental anguish. He needs to be relieved by being brought back to his accustomed surroundings.

"On this account men used to the desert refuse to go out with those with whom they are well acquainted. The mad man is not likely to attack a stranger. If there is no friend in the party his madness is likely to assert itself in running rather than in fighting. It is a fearful disease not yet understood."-Birmingham News.

FEMININE LANGUAGE.

An English Criticism of the Use of Words by Women. You may talk to a woman for an hour or more and understand every word she says. Meat, bread, money, motor cars, drains, the ace of trumps-there is really no space at my disposal to give a list of the words that are common to both languages. In fact, most of the solid, concrete things of life may be left out of the question. It is when we pass beyond the concrete that the real misunderstanding arises. Take a couple of very common words used equally by both sexes. A man will say that So-and-so is a "nice" girl. I should know what he meant. A woman wi reply that the girl is pretty, agreeable and all that sort of thing, but that she is "not quite nice." The two are using the same word to express differen ideas, and they will never agree as to whether that girl is nice or otherwise until they can talk the same language Again in the feminine dictionary the opposite of "nice" is "horrid." A man will talk of a "nice scoundrel" and a "horrid bore," and I can understand him. But when a woman tells me that a man is wealthy and clever and good she has dropped into her foreign language. I can only be sure that she does not mean what I mean when I speak of a "horrid girl."-London Out

The Name Tibet.

Many forms of the name Tibet sprang from the Chinese T'ubar (fifth century) through the variations of Tuebet, To boet, Thibet (1165), Tebet (1298), to Tibet (1730). The origin of the name has been variously accounted for, but the HERBERT A. HAYDEN weight of historical evidence indicates .568 tional Travelers' Protective associa- that the word is derived from Tubat, a famous family name proper to several ancient Tartar dynasties, extensively used in the sense of "chief."

Hodgson asserts that before the arrival of Indian teachers the people had and, though the present name is not, as some say, unknown in the country itself, the modern Tibetans call themselves Bod-pa and their land Bod-yul, Bod being a Buddhist appellative suggested by the Sanskrit b'ot, or bat, so working back to the Tartar name .-London Spectator.

Irish Nomenclature.

Irish names have often a knack of being frankly pugnacious, so that even a peaceful lord chief justice has had to bear the inciting to murder sobriquet of Killowen. But the mountains from Lismore to Clogheen, known as the Knockmealdown range, are capable of an entirely pacific interpretation, for we commonly say we are knocked down all in a heap by this or that which takes us by surprise, and these mountains surprise all by their beauty. There is no lovelier sight in Ireland and if an air of melancholy prevails it is because the scene is "somehow sad of Henry James it would be difficult to better.-London Chronicle.

Eskimos' Appetites.

The Eskimos have enormous appe tites. An arctic explorer relates that he saw a boy eat ten pounds of solid food and drink a gallon and a half of liquid with much gusto. This same explorer observed an adult eat ten pounds of meat and two candles at a meal. Sir P. Phillips tells how a lad of seventeen years ate twenty-four pounds of beef in twenty-four hours.

Analogies.

"I understand your friend Jenkins has resigned that city clerkship he held."

"Resigned? H'm!" "Oh, wasn't it voluntary?" "Well, it was just as voluntary as his contributions to the campaign fund were."-Philadelphia Press.

An Evasion. "But," said the absolutely bald old party, "can I be assured that this horse is quite gentle?"

"My dear sir," replied the horse "gyp" earnestly, "he wouldn't hurt a hair of your head."-Catholic Standard

MECHANICAL WONDERS.

The Toys Louis XIV. Played With In His Childhood Days.

An extraordinary piece of mechanism was constructed for the amusement of Louis XIV. when a child. It consisted of a small coach drawn by two horses in which was the figure of a lady, with a footman and page behind. According to the account givcoach being placed at the extremity of a table of a determinate size, the coachman smacked his whip, and the horses immediately set out, moving their legs in a natural manner. When the carriage reached the edge of the table it turned on a right angle and proceeded along that edge till it arrived opposite to the place where the king was seated. It then stopped, and the page, getting down, opened the door, upon which the lady alighted, having in her hand a petition, which she presented, with a courtesy. After waiting some time she again courtesied and reentered the carriage. The page then resumed his place, the coachman whipped up his horses, which began to move, and the footman, running after the carriage, jumped up behind it. Louis XIV. had also an automaton opera in five acts, with fresh scenes for each. It measured sixteen and a half inches in breadth, thirteen inches four lines in height and one inch three lines in thickness for the working of the machinery.-Westminster Gazette for the civilized native of Luzon the one annual event around which all others move. Weeks beforehand the Tagalo masculine prepares his Easter wardrobe. The Tagalo feminine does not count for much. She, too, does her little best to dress her part for Easter Sunday, but all the bravery of her attire is thrown into total eclipse by the splendor of her male counterpart's holy week shirt. And thereby hangs a tale.

To Prudencio, house servant and valet in Manila, year of our Lord 1900, his holy week shirt was to be much more than an ordinary holy week shirt. It was to be also his wedding garment. and a shirt means much to a Tagalo, for he wears it outside his trousers, so that it is all ever visible to the eye of mankind. Easter Monday, unless a wicked hoodoo or an evil eye intervened. Prudencio was to take the lovely and bewitching Feliciana, maid of the Senora Americana Wyse, to be his bride.

True, Feliciana had erstwhile been bride to Senor Jose Carvalho's coachman, Agapito, but Agapito had dropped out, whether dead or derelict nobody knew. Nobody cared. Feliciana counted herself widow and counted herself well off. That was enough. For the matter of that, Prudencio himself had been previously bridegroom. He had a wife to whom, strictly within his husbandly rights, he had administered a good sound beating a few months previous to the opening of this story. Thereon she had left his bed. Her board she always had earned for herself. Prudencio accepted the situation like a philosopher, and he, too, counted himself widowed-widowered, one might say.

He met his second fate, or it may have been his fourth or fifth, in Feliciana, the beautiful.

"There goes the prettiest Tay-gal in ready?" Manila," quoth a soldier who saw her passing the American tented camp on the Luneta. His comrades groaned down him and his pun alike, but they accepted its sentiment.

Feliciana had magnificent purple black hair, greased to kill with cocoanut oil. It was wound in a knot at the back of her head and stuck through the senora Americana and the envy of every Malay woman who saw Feliciana drive bareheaded along the Luneta in the carriage with her mistrong and rounded, her eyes were large for Tagalo eyes and so burning bright that when once she glanced coquettichly at Prudencio their electric rays penetrated his ever susceptible masculine heart and bowled him over like a ninepin.

Feliciana's fiery red cotton skirt was at least two inches longer tailed than those worn by the common run of Tagalo ladies. The tiny pina cloth waist she wore made no attempt to conceal and ankle, but trousers were of infethe full, nobly outlined neck, for itself | rior consideration. Again something rather uncommon-her teeth were all there, and they were white when not stained blood red with betel nut chewing. But blood red teeth were no disfigurement in the eyes of the lost in love Prudencio. While the fit was on him he would have adored his divinity had her teeth

He neither danced, played the mandolin nor joined his brethren in sipa, the back kick football game of the Philippine natives. He was dignified and silent. He was Tomas with a long Spanish "o," but his master called him Tome for short. Tome saw the beautiful Feliciana one day when she sat on the front seat of a street car smoking a long black Manila cigar. VOLTAIRE AND ROUSSEAU.

Pointed Jokes That Passed Between the Two Authors.

Voltaire and Rousseau, though on friendly terms, were in the habit of firing off pointed jokes at one another. Voltaire, and oysters were brought on the table, for, as somebody has remarked, no dinner could be complete without them. The author of "Emile," after helping himself pretty freely, made he somewhat injudicious remark:

"I am sure I could eat as many oysters as Samson slew Philistines."

"With the same weapon?" (the jawbone of an ass) slyly inquired Voltaire. Rousseau did not soon forget the little joke at his expense and sought an opportunity for revenge. Not long afterward Voltaire called at his house during his absence. The door being open, he walked into the library, and, finding all the books thrown about in confusion and covered with dust, he traced on one of them the word "cochon" (pig) with his finger. Next day he met Rousseau and said to him:

"I called at your house yesterday, but did not find you in." "I know," replied the latter. "I found your card."

Mothers, sisters and sweethearts cried goodbye and tried to push through the lines for a parting hand-shake.

Mayor Harris of this city had been informed of the decision to deport the men and immediately took steps to see that none of them landed in Colorado Springs. Under his instructions a large force of officers and deputy sheriffs met the special train at 6:10 last night for that purpose. No attempt was state line because of protests made against taking them to Pueblo or Den-

Secretary Hamlin of the Cripple Creek District Mine Owners' association, in reply to a telegram from a New York newspaper asking him, as head of the "vigilantes," to present his side of the labor troubles here, has issued a statement in which he says that there is no vigilante committee in this community. The only movement that might be considered of that character occurred after the Independence outrage of Monday, when determined citizens took steps to bring about the resignation of several officers who were either incompetent or in sympathy and collusion with those responsible for the murders and dynamiting which have taken place here since the strike. These offices have been filled by capable men and the situation is now in the hands of a sheriff fully capable to handle it.

"The position of the Cripple Creek operators," says the statement, "has been placed in an absolutely false light by the eastern press. Labor leaders attribute these troubles to the defeat of the eight-hour law in Colorado. The eight-hour day for 10 years, paying a minimum wage of $3 and an average wage of about $4 a day. The actual working time of a miner is only about seven nours. No grievance was lodged against the operators when the strike was called and had the question been cent would have voted against it. genieus Method of Catching the Bensts Used In India.

1 cor. spondent of the London Field, thig on the pursuit of the crocodile the Malacca strait, describes the inenious method of catching the beast dopted by the natives of the Kedah ver. He says: "A small bamboo raft ome two feet square is constructed, and on it is erected a flag post surbounted by a red flag, while from the inderside of the raft, or float, run wenty or thirty yards of stout line, nding in a few feet of chain. To this chain the barbed hook of hard brass netal is attached by three feet of untwisted fiber in order that the fine gaments may get between the crocodile's teeth and thus prevent his snapping off the bait. On the shank of the book a live fowl is made fast, together with a short length of bamboo, to give it flotation, and then the raft, line and bait are dropped into the river. Loudly squawks the unfortunate fowl for a few minutes, but its sorrows are short lived. A splash, a swirl, the bait has disappeared, and then the men return to their homes, leaving a boy to mark the progress of the floating flag. Next day or the day after half a dozen men paddle down stream until they sight the raft. Then, taking the line ashore, they haul away, and as by this time the hook is firmly entangled in the crocodile's intestines, he shows but little fight and is easily dispatched."

THE HALIFAX GIBBET.

A Sort of Guillotine That Was Once Used In England.

in construction and stood on a stone scaffold, unearthed when Gibbet hill was leveled. The ax is preserved. This, the only guillotine used in England, was the forerunner of the "maiden," introduced into Scotland by Regent Morton and now in the Edinburgh Antiquarian museum. The "Halifax gibbet" was last used in 1650 and the "maiden" for Lord Argyll in 1661 and his son in 1685, who spoke of it as the sweetest maiden he ever kissed.

Dr. Guillotine did not invent the machine. Dr. Louis constructed one in 1791, the "Louison," but the name 'guillotine" became general from the burst of surgical enthusiasm, in which Dr. Guillotine, in 1789, after deploring the tedious torture of hanging, exclaimed, "With my machine I strike off your head in the fwinkling of an eye, and you never feel it!"-London

SECOND WIND.

It Comes When All the Lung Cells Are In Full Play.

The following is a popular explanation of what is known as second wind. In ordinary breathing we use only a portion of our lungs, the ceils at the extremity not being brought into play. This is the reason why those who are 1904, for the entire country showed a not in training when they try to run decrease from $22,488,129 for the cor- for any distance soon begin to gasp Knox to succeed the late Senator Quay 518, the receipts at the port of Boston persevere in spite of this choking senhas been made. > When this second wind is fully established the runner does not again lose his breath, but can run in comfort as long as his legs will carry him. The fact is that on starting the farthest portions of the lungs are choked with air and the remainder do not supply enough to meet the increased circulation induced by exercise.

By degrees, however, the neglected cells come into play, so that when the entire lung is in full working order tured one of the most complete outfits the circulation and respiration again balance each other, and second wind is the result.

In the Rat Pit.

The ordinary house rat will not fight if he can find his way into a hole. Inclosed in the pit, with no chance of escape, the case is different. The rat will not only fight its enemy, but will turn on those of its kind with which it is plication has been made for a writ of bunched. The trained rat dog will jump backward and forward, oftentimes entirely over the rat, in avoiding its bite, and, watching its opportunity, will catch the rat by the back, give one crunch and break its spinal column. Then it throws the rat, dead or dying, aside and like a flash leaps into place for seizing and killing the next rat.

Russian Choral Singing.

Love of music, cultivated and enlarged by the fine rendering of the anthems and chants of the services of the churches, is a trait of the Russian peasant. The choral singing of men and boys in some of the smaller hamlets is indeed so rich and finished in style as to be a constant source of wonder to all travelers.-Social Serv-

Certain.

Prominent Citizens Will be Seen in the Various Capacities.

The Society Circus, that will perform on the evenings of June 13, 14 and 15, in Quincy and the afternoon of Wednesday is composed of both professional and amateur performers. In addition to the fun of seeing the local people do stunts in the ring and side show, there is a very good professional entertainment provided that is in itself a good evening's amusement. Among the imported attractions will be found Bristol's educated ponies, El Nino Eddy, the "king of the bounding wire," and a number of aerial and ground performers of merit.

The local people who take part in the performance have the roles of ringmasters, showmen, barkers, jockeys, clowns in the side show, etc.

After the regular performance there is a concert which no one can afford to miss. In this will appear both professional and local performers.

Some of the best known citizens of the city have agreed to do their part and act as ringmasters and do other feats, and a number of the wellknown local actors who have shone in other performances in times past will be seen in the sideshows and wherever they can best entertain the great and amusement-loving public.

About 40 professionals will be seen in the big show, and about 60 local expected to act as venders of lemonade, peanuts and others necessaries of circus

The tent used defies wind and wealther. It was too large for use on the playground, but on River street it will thing, fitted up in the regulation way.

The production is given under the direction of Mr. A. A. Duchemin, who has made success of it elsewhere and it will undoubtedly be a hit in this city, with its large number of clever amateurs.

Collagan Fined.

A large number of witnesses were summoned to court this morning to testify in the complaints against John J. Collagan for drunkenness and for violation of the city ordinances. John W. McAnarney represented the government and John B. Moran of Boston, the defendant.

The cases occupied a good part of the morning, the witnesses being cross questioned at length. The date of the alleged offenses was on the morning of May 30, and it was alleged that the defendant was on what is known as the player's bench and that when arrested he used bad language. The case for violation of the ordinances was dropped and Collagan fined $3 for drunkenness REAL ESTATE and INSURANCE which he paid.

Platt's Charges Against Mrs Elias Are Not Sustained

THE WOMAN DISCHARGED

Prosecution and Court Agree That Parties In Scandal "Be Allowed to Stew In Their Own Grease"--Civil Proceedings

New York, June 11.-Mrs. Hannah Elias was discharged late yesterday afternoon on motion of Assistant District Attorney Rand, acting for District Attorney Jerome, at the conclusion of the testimony of John R. Platt, the aged millionaire, who caused her arrest for

MRS. HANNAH ELIAS.

Mr. Platt had proved a disappointing witness. To questions bearing directly on the charges on which the woman's arrest had been made he had answered repeatedly "I don't know." His helplessness and his weak and apparently unreliable memory surprised those who attended his examination. He did not remember whether he had given Mrs. Elias large sums of money during the past 10 years, as charged, Put in while you wait. Warranted two years Your Watch thoroughly cleaned and kept in repair for one year, $1.00. charges against her.

Mr. Platt testified that he was 83 years old and had resided in this city since 1865. He first met Hannah Elias about 15 years ago. Some time later he again met the woman at a Third avenue massage establishment through an advertisement and had kept up the acquaintance since. His relations with her had been of a tender character and be had bought for her a house and had given her large sums of money. "She was your mistress?" asked

JOHN R. PLATT.

"She was not my mistress," replied Platt. Asked if he had not signed a paper several days ago in which he stated that Mrs. Elias had extorted hundreds of thousands of dollars from him he replied that he could not remember. He would not give a direct answer to a question as to whether he had paid the woman more than $600,000 since January, 1896, but did remember that he gave her $7500 last month. This payment was made, he said, because Mrs. Elias told him she was being sued and would have to go to court and expose him unless the money was paid. He could not recall that two men, whom Assistant District Attorney Rand named, were about to bring suit against her. She did tell him that if she was taken to court she would be obliged to testify as to her relations with the witness.

Mr. Osborne, attorney for Mrs. Elias, admitted that Mrs. Elias had received the $7500 mentioned in the complaint, but said that it was not given her by reason of any threats.

The ordeal had been a trying one for the aged man and his replies had become scarcely audible toward the last, As soon as he had left the witness chair, Assistant District Attorney Rand said: "Your honor, I think the parties to this miserable scandal ought to be allowed to stew in their own grease. There is no evidence before you that will possibly serve to hold this woman on a charge of extortion. I recommend that she be discharged."

"I agree with you," said the magistrate. "Mrs. Elias, you are dis-

REAL CRISIS IN MOROCCO

United States Will Force It When Perdicaris Is Released London, June 11 .- The Tangier correspondent of The Daily Mail says that the release of Perdicaris and Varley may be expected in a few days. Pracically all of Raisuli's conditions have been accepted by the sultan, and the shereef of Wazan, who is conducting the negotiations, is satisfied that Raisuli will receive the sultan's pardon.

The correspondent adds: "I understand that the bulk of the cansom will be furnished by the deposed governor of Tangier, Aber Sadok, who leaves for Fez immediately. It is feared that a tribe inimical to Raisuli which holds the country between Tangier and Beniaros may attempt to seize the money in transit.

"The United States is determined to deter further acts of brigandage which are likely to be encouraged as a result of Raisuli's success, and the release of Perdicaris will see the beginning of a real crisis here."

An Automobile Failure

New York, June 11.-Charles G. Hai Cheng. Wridgway, who started Thursday morning to ride 1000 miles in an automobile without stopping his motors, arrived in this city on a rough trip from Boston, having completed the first 500 miles of his journey in 33 hours without sleep. He was a physical wreck. 'I can't go on," said he, with a wild ook as he painfully dismounted from his seat. "The roads are fearful after the heavy rain and I will not send another man out to continue the trip, for he could not make that round trip again in 50 hours as the roads are at present."

Land Held at High Figures Washington, June 11.—In a report to the department of commerce and labor, United States Consul Berliner at Teneriffe, Canary Islands, says that good land with water facilities has been sold at $4866 an acre. The consul says that in order to help the farmers the Spanish government compels Spain to take from the Canary Islands each year for the next four years 220,000 pounds of tobacco. He says at present the crop amounts to 132,000 pounds, but that more will be planted in the future.

Divorce For Mrs Hendricks New York, June 11.-Mrs. Agnes M.

Hendricks, wife of Dr. C. C. Hendricks, who was convicted of conspiracy in connection with the claims of Laura Bigger, the actress, in the Bennett estate, was granted a decree of separation from her husband in the supreme court in Brooklyn. The plaintiff charged abuse and cruelty on the part of the defendant. The court granted the plaintiff alimony and the custody of her three children.

Good Trade Prospects

New York, June 11.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that current trade conditions are without change and collections continue slow as a rule, but there is growing hibiting an inclination to prepare for fall and winter on a larger scale. There is still much complaint that the weather is unseasonable for retail distribution and payments are not prompt.

TOY GARDENING.

t In of All Soris the Most Pitiful and Ridiculous.

Our counsel is to avoid all mimicry n gardening as we would avoid it in peech or in gait. Sometimes we do et mind being repetitious. "In garlening," we say, "almost the only thing which costs unduly-in money or in mortification-is for one to try to give himself somebody else's garden!" One of the reasons we give against it is that it leads to toy gardening, and toy gardening is of all sorts the most pitiful and ridiculous. "No true art," we say, "can tolerate any make believe which is not in some way finer than the reality it simulates. In other words, imitation should always be in the nature of an amiable condescension. Whatever falseness, pretension or even mere frailty or smallness suggests to the eye, the ineffectuality of a toy is out of place in any sort of gardening." We do not actually speak all this, but we imply it, and we often find London, June 11.—A St. Petersburg that the mere utterance of the words ispatch says: "The Japanese have "toy gardening" has a magical effect to suggest all the rest and to overwhelm with contrition the bad taste and frivolity of many a misguided attempt at adornment. RELEASE IS NEAR ODD FELLOWS.

Perdicaris May Return to His Home During This Week

His Capture and Journey to Raisuli to Be a "Gentleman"

London, June 13.-The Daily Mail's Tangier correspondent says that Raisuli has received the sultan's letter concerning his demands and that unless the Rebekah lodge. bandit formulates fresh conditions the release of Ion Perdicaris may be expected Wednesday next.

"I learn," says the correspondent, platform. "that Raisuli is suffering from nervousness and insomnia and is greatly depressed by the desertion of two of his important adherents.

"An unconfirmed report from Mokidnapped in that district."

The Daily Mail this morning pub- Scripture reading, lishes a letter written to A. J. Dawson, the novelist and traveler, by Ion Perdiearis. It is dated at Tssaradon, June and says:

"Nothing more startling and unexpected than the circumstances of our capture could be imagined. A quiet domestic dinner without guests, the Offertory. vindows open, the table a mass of Violin solo,-Priere A La Madone, lowers; then suddenly, like an avaanche, the yelling onset of Raisuli's Address, men-it was a classic scene of rapine and confusion; nor would it be easy to conceive a picture more wild and gloomy than our forced journey; in fact the libretto was perfect.

"It is easy now to write in this strain when we are assured that negotiations for our release are concluding, but during that terrible 24 hours' ride over rocks and boulders and through dense thickets, where our captors had at times literally to cut their way in order to avoid the villages on the beaten track—well, we had no such consolation then—none of any sort indeed." After describing the dread which he ong had had of being kidnapped on account of his family, Perdicaris says: 'You may conceive my feelings while thus being dragged along by ruffians who began their amicable attentions by clubbing us with rifles and threatening us with their murderous looking curved daggers. I was astonished to learn that our fears were not really well-founded. We have learned that release of members of his own Kabyle, unjustly or at least treacherously entrapped and imprisoned by the bashaw of Tangier, a former friend and foster brother of Raisuli, who had trusted this man and had been betrayed. Whatever ill he may have done, the fact remains that he was betrayed. "The ransom demanded is not so much the price of our release as the demand for the recouping of the losses inflicted by orders of said bashaw, from whom Raisuli claims payment.

"Another startling surprise is to find in Raisuli himself the most interesting and kindly hearted native gentleman it has been my good fortune to have known. It is impossible not to like the man, conscious as I am of the injury all at Tangier suffered at his hands."

After dealing with some private matters and referring to the courage of his wife and the mental anguish she has endured, Perdicaris expresses the hope that some good will come of the trouble to Tangier and its people. He then

"Meanwhile you must not worry about us. I am writing this at the mouth of a handsome tent placed at our disposal by Moulai Ali, the Wazzani shereef. The brightest episode of our detention here was our first sight of his and his brother's, Moulai Asmet's, caravan, accompanied by an armed escort. Signal guns fired by three Kabyles, leaged in defense of their rights under Raisuli's leadership, announced the arrival of this welcome relief expedition which we saw later on winding along the hillside. Moulai Ali himself has remained with us ever since. Indeed, he and Raisuli dined with us every evening in the tent. The climate is admirable and a better site for a camp would be hard to find. Our release will be very welcome, but it is at hand now so you must not pity us too much."

Killed by Unknown Person Long Branch, N. J., June 13 .- Rebecca Traynum, 20 years old, a negress, was killed here last night by an unknown person. She was shot twice in the head and from the position of the body and the course of the bullets it is thought she was on her knees when the crime was committed.

Union Men to Open Mining Camp In New Mexico

Denver, June 13.-A new mining camp will be opened in New Mexico, according to The Post, to receive the deported union miners from Cripple

The Western Federation of Miners will work the claims on a co-operative basis and will have entire jurisdiction over their development. Provisions will be made by the federation for all the deported miners, and to this end a carload of supplies will be sent to the new camp immediately as a starter. The camp will be located near Tres Piedras, which is 20 miles south of the Colorado line, on the line of the Denver and Rio Grande. There is a district 10 miles square of virgin ore and the work of mining it will be parcelled out to the union miners.

The most attractive feature of the proposition to send the exiled men to New Mexico is that they will be amenable to federal law only. Governor Peabody has been asked to order General Bell to send further ship. ments of deported miners from Cripple Two Story House, 5 rooms up stairs, 4 down | Creek to New Mexico, and approves of

Cripple Creek Quieting Down

Cripple Creek, Col., June 13.-The Cripple Creek district experienced a quiet day Sunday. General Bell and staff transacted no business except what was absolutely necessary. Another party of deported miners will leave Victor today, their destination being either New Mexico or Utah. This party will consist of about 100 men. A number of arrests were made and the peace commission sat for a few hours and passed on several cases. The saloons of the district were opened today for the first time in a week. The closing of the saloons was one of the chief factors in restoring order.

A Denial From Miners

SUNK IN COLLISION

Five Persons on Steamer Canada Are Drowned

Montreal, June 13.—Steamer Canada, bound from Quebec for Montreal, came into collision with the collier Cape Breton six miles below Sorel. Twenty minutes later the Canada went to the bottom. At the time of the collision were rescued except five.

The collision occurred just as the first signs of day were becoming visible. The Cape Breton lay at the entrance of the Lake St. Peter channel, waiting for daylight, so as to find her way through. She was just getting under way when the Canada, making for Sorel at full speed, came into view.

Just how the collision occurred and who is responsible for it has not yet flanking movement of the Japanese been determined, but it would appear that the Cape Breton had not got headway on enough to answer her rudder and that she swerved across the path of the passenger boat, her bow striking the Canada just forward of the tearing its way half through. Then she swung clear and the two steamers came alongside one another.

There was no necessity of arousing the sleeping passengers, for the shock of the collision had already done that. The Canada at once began to settle and, as the Cape Breton uid not appear to be seriously damaged, the passengers were hurriedly transferred to that steamer. Twenty minutes later, when

AN ANSWER TO CRITICS

Governor Peabody Tells Why Men Were Deported and Re- High futes Statements Made by the Coddington Western Federation of Miners Cranen Gridley Bryant

Denver, June 14.—"I think the war Mass. Fields s nearly over," said Governor Peabody, | Quincy in an interview. "I have news from Washington General Bell that the Cripple Creek mines are open and running, and there is comparatively little disaffection among the men. There is no news of further trouble or any little likelihood of any. I don't know how many more men will be deported, or whether any

"I learn from Captain Wells that the union men at Telluride concede that their cause is lost, and that those of them who are acceptable to the mine owners are at work again. One hundred and fifty capable men, whether union or non-union, have been invited to go to work, and the invitation will be speedily accepted.

"In Silverton and Ouray peace reigns. The troops have all been ordered from Las Animas county and only Major Hill remains to look after the closing up of the details of the cam-

Governor Peabody has sent the fol-FRANK A. LOCKE owing reply to a message from the industrial council of Kansas City con demning his action in regard to military "The fact that your council indorses the assassinations, train-wrecking and dynamiting by the lawless element in the Cripple Creek district but proves the necessity for my present action in suppressing all such persons from the soil of Colorado. Become wise before you attempt to teach." Governor Peabody sen the following dispatch in reply to a request from an eastern newspap or statement of his reasons for pitting Colorado troops to dump union miners over the Kansas line, leaving them destitute on the prairie, miles from habitation: "The reason for deporting strikers and agitators from Cripple Creek was the dynamite outrage of June 6, where by 14 non-union miners were instantly killed, and the subsequent street riot and killing of two non-union miners by the same element. Suitable provisions were sent on the same train with the gitators. No cases of hunger or suffering reported. The constitution of Colorado commands the suppression of insurrection by such means as are "The statement published from headquarters of the Western Federation of From Liverpool to Boston, Miners to the effect that the present strike was called by referendum vote and for the purpose of establishing an eight-hour day is erroneous and false. The strike was arbitrarily called by the executive committee of the Western Federation of Miners and protested against by three-fourths of the miners in the Cripple Creek district. The eight-hour day had been established and recognized for 10 years past, and employers and employe were satisfied and working in harmony. Rioting, dynamiting and anarchy has had its day in Colorado."

A Charge of Murder

Denver, June 14.-President Kennison of Miners' union No. 40 of Cripple Creek was arrested by City Marshal Moore of Goldfield as he was going to the miners' headquarters in Denver. The charge against him is murder, alleging participation in the blowing up of the Independence with dynamite. After his arrest Kennnison got into an altercation with Moore and the marshal struck Kennison on the head with a revolver, making a scalp wound.

BIRTH OF THE ROSE.

Two Legends of the Origin of This Beautiful Flower.

There are two traditions as to the origin of the rose. According to Sir John Mandeville, a Jewish maid of Bethlehem (whom Southey names Zillah) was beloved by a brutish sot named Hammel. The maiden rejected this suitor, and he, in revenge, accused Zillah of offenses for which she was condemned to be burned alive. When brought to the stake the flames refused to hurt Zillah, but burned Hammel to a cinder. There she stood in a garden of roses, for the brands which had been kindled became red roses, and those which had not caught fire white ones. These, according to the tradition, were the first roses that bloomed on earth since the loss of

Then, according to a Mussulman tradition, the rose is thus accounted for: When Mohammed took his journey to heaven the sweat which fell on the earth from the prophet's forehead fell from the animal he rode upon, named Al Borak, produced vellow ones. At the present day the sellers of roses in eastern towns cry aloud in the streets, "The rose was a thorn, and the sweat of the prophet Mohammed dropping upon it formed it into a

THE MANNA TREE.

It Is a Species of Ash Which Is Tapped For Its Gum.

Few know that manna is a species of gum which exudes from the ash. The true manna ash is the Fraxinus ornus. It is a beautiful tree and has much handsomer flowers than any other ash. In some parts of Sicily trees are planted especially for these subsome parts of our country the sugar maple is planted for its sugar. The Thursday, June 16, 1904, ash trees are tapped when about ten years old. A transverse cut is made ash trees are tapped when about ten about one-third of the circumference of the tree, a number of these transverse As many as forty-five cuts are fre quently made in one large trunk.

In some countries where manna is collected it is done by inserting tubes, just as is the case of collecting the maple sugar, but where these cuts are made the gum runs down the trunk and hardens. The following season cuts are made just above those of the previous year. After this has been three years in progress the stems are cut down and the new crop of shoots left to get matured. Sometimes, however, the stems are left standing four years before being finally cut away.

Latest Tells of Ambuscade of Eight Hundred Russians

ARMY MOVES ARE SECRET

Kuroki Has as Yet Been Unable to Force Kuropatkin's Hand--Togo Reports Continued Shell-Have Evacuated Yin Kow

London, June 14.-A fine assortment of rumors is given from the far east. To counterbalance the Hai Cheng story about a Russian ambuscade west of Fung Wang Chang in which two battalions of Japanese troops (approximately 1800 men) were annihilated, a dispatch from New Chwang says that the Japanese on the south, by a false retreat, drew the Russians into an ambuscade and 800 of them were killed, wounded or taken prisoners.

As has been pointed out from time to time, one of the most remarkable features of this war is the success that attends the efforts of both sides to is a blow to the fake sacred concerts keep secret their military moves. About position in the theatre of operations is that the Japanese are in force at Fung Wang Chang, 100 miles southeast of Liao Yang, with columns demonstrating northwest toward Motien pass, another north toward Saimatsza, looking to the turning of Mukden, one operating west toward Hai Cheng, and still another southwest toward Siu enough, and it would have been better of Port Arthur also is dominated by the Japanese.

The Russians hold the west of the heatre of operations, their front being parallel to the railroad, which they nold as far south as New Chwang. The Harbin-Vladivostok road also is in their possession. Just where the main Russian army is located is not known. So far Kuroki has been unable to force Kuropatkin to show his hand.

A long report has been received at Tokio from Admiral Togo, in which he covers the operations of the fleet since June 6, and repeats his former account of the bombardment of the west coast on the Liao Tung peninsula. Continuing, the admiral says that the captain of a foreign vessel that left Yin Kow on June 8 reports that the recent Japanese bombardment in the vicinity of Kaiping, south of New Chwang, caused Russian forces, to the number of 3000 with 20 guns, to evacuate Yin Kow. On June 8 a detachment of the fleet bombarded and dispersed two companies of Russian troops who were on Kaiping point. On June 10 another deachment of the fleet bombarded the enemy for two hours near Yin Chin damage upon them.

et according to Admiral Togo's r port, discovered four Russian torpedo burden and has accommodations for ooat destroyers in Talienwan bay near Shaopingtan and drove them back to Port Arthur. Over 70 mines have been destroyed in Talienwan bay. Thirty doating mines have been found and destroyed. Some of these were drifting nto Peichili guif. In conclusion, Admiral Togo says a dense fog which prevailed for several days finally cleared away on June 11.

No verdict of jury nor sentence of judge could have had such far-reaching or irremediable consequences for me as this extraordinary official proclamation a fleeting glance, a smile, a bow, to of guilt by you, and the ordinary machinery of justice is probably powerless fully to rectify the injustice done. Immediately upon seeing your charges in the press, I addressed you a letter. protesting that on the mere say-so of Mr. Bristow, you had no right, without, at least, first giving me a chance to be heard in my defense or without confronting me with the charges or the evidence, thus prematurely and rashly to prejudice me and perhaps forever blast the good name and character which for nearly 80 years I had endeavored to establish.

When I wrote this letter I had little able me to face a jury of my peers, and lieved to be a death-bed protest against tion. Fortunately, I have now had my day in court, and I have established my innocence of any crime or of any misconduct in office. The jury were locked up. asked by me and by my counsel and by the court to ignore my age and physical condition. The jury pro-

ENEMIES OF GROPS

Insects and Disease Created Havoc In Many States

Potato Blight and Rot Caused Loss of $10,000,000 In One Season In New York State--Observances of Experts

Washington, June 13.-The destruction wrought on crops by countless plant enemies throughout the country is revealed by a report issued by the department of agriculture on "Plant Diseases in 1903." Besides the mass of detail regarding conditions in the United States proper, it shows that coffee, cocoa, potatoes and tomato crops in Porto Rico have been ruined by disease. The cotton root rot in Texas prevailed to a greater extent than for many years, the loss being estimated at about $2,000,000. Anthracnose has been generally prevalent from North Carolina to Georgia and locally injurious, especially to sea island cotton in south Georgia. Wilt continues to spread slowly.

The potato blight and rot caused widespread destruction, being espe cially enormous in New York, Pennsylvania, northeastern Qhio, Michigan and Wisconsin. The damage is estimated at $10,000,000 for the season in New York alone.

Walnut bacteriosis caused heavy losses in California. The cherry shot hole fungus was injurious in New York and Pennsylvania and prevailed destructively in Iowa and Nebraska. Crown gall is becoming more serious every year as a nursery pest throughout the country. The black rot of grape was more general in Connecticut and Rhode Island, the loss being 40 percent. Strawberry leaf blight is less prevalent. Corn smut caused heavy loss in Maryland and was common in New York. Corn leaf blight was general in Connecticut, Defaware, western Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Tomato bacterial wilt was found i Connecticut and it was widespread in the south. The fusarium wilt in Florida caused a loss of $500,000 and large areas of land also had to be thrown out of cultivation.

Cucumber downy mildew caused large losses in Florida and the trucking section near Charleston, where the estimated loss was $100,000. It was also unusually destructive in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York and Michigan. The bitter root of apples has been wide Apple scab was much less injuriou in New England, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan than last year, but it seems to have been more destructive in the west. It is on the increase on the Pacific coast. Apple canker or brown rot was prevalent in Connecticut, Ohio, New York and Michigan. Black heart, a disease affecting the wood of nounced me "not guilty" on all the in- Sanborn, a man who was sought by apple trees, was reported from western states.

> Pear blight was more than usually prevalent this year in the east. In the south it is universal and little effort is made to control it. There was an epidemic of pear blight that defoliated trees from Maryland southward.

In Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York pears and cherries were much disfigured by sooty mold, which followed a serious epidemic of the pear psylla and apple louse.

Brown rot was again less injurious in the eastern states, but was very destructive to southern peaches.

The department reports that several new insect enemies of crops have been discovered. The Mexican cotton boll weevil, which spread into Louisiana, is stamped as the most important insect pest of the present time. The San Jose and codling moth have engaged the attention of many economic workers and there is a possibility of a lessening of damage in a few years. There were local outbreaks, usually not extensive, of the Hessian fly, chinch bug and of grasshoppers or locusts, cut worms and army worms. Root feeding species, such as white grubs, wire worms, root maggots and root lice, were rampant over a considerable territory. The cabbage and onion maggots were particularly destructive. The twocucumber beetles, orchard scale insects. in general and a few similar pests were. normally troublesome. Shade tree defoliators were only locally abundant. The gypsy and brown tail moths have: both enlarged their territory, the latter having become destructive in New Hampshire. The cherry fruit fly has apparently disappeared, owing to atmospheric conditions, and other pests, such as the squash bug, strawberry weevil, squash vine borer, the potato and tobacco weevils, have not attracted attention. Of insects injurious to stored products found guilty of breaking and entering in there has been a decided increase, especially of the cigaret and flour beetles. Several species of insects, which have until recently been very troublesome northward, have died out in the north. the list including the harlequin cabbage bug, cabbage looper, corn stalk borers, fall army worm and others. corps of Leavenworth, was killed near | This, however, cannot be said of all localities.

L. Rodman Wanamaker, son of John Wana-maker, the eminent merchant of New York and Philadelphia, has taken out a policy in

The Prudential Insurance Co. for $1,000,000, paying an annual premium of over $30,000. This makes him the most heavily issured man in the world, with the single exception of King Edward VIX.

Mr. Wanamaker's total insurance is now

Ask yourself WHY Mr. Wanamaker placed one-half this great amount with The Prudential. Your business judgment with the Prudential.

Your business judgment will at once reply;

"Because after full investigation and comparison, Mr. Wanamaker found that the company which could give him the best insurance for a given amount of money was The Prudential."

Undoubtedly you will agree that Mr. Wana-maker does not pay over $30,000 per year except for most excellent reasons.

These reasons apply to YOU precisely as well as they do to HIM. Better apply TODAY for information regarding Prudential policies to

HOLIDAY NOTICE.

Friday, the Seventeenth of June will be observed as a holiday by the Daily Ledger, no paper being issued on that day. The Saturday eight-page Ledger will have all the holiday news.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

Carpenters are putting on the interior finish on the new rooms of the National Granite bank. The Merrymounts and Quincys will play at Merrymount park on the Seventeenth of June. The Prospect Union club of Cambridge have opened their summer resi dence at Squantum.

Mrs. George Darragh and son of Charlestown have been visiting her QUINN-In Randolph, June 13, Mr. Edward heir ability. mother, Mrs. Fred Nelson of Old Colony street the past week.

The address of Judge William G. Ewing, on "Christian Science, a religion of works," was reported at length in Monday's Ledger.

The first of the interclub races of the Quincy, Wollaston and Squantum yacht clubs will be sailed on the Seventeenth Exercises appropriate to "flag day" were held in all the schools today. These consisted of brief talks on the origin and history of the flag we all ove so well.

Capt. James M. Usher, the new comnander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, has appointed Sergt. Frederick W. Tirrell of this city one of the "flankers" to the commander.

The wind which has been from an easterly direction for the past week, shifted to the southwest this morning, which means that the weather should be warmer. It is just a little warmer.

If you are going to the circus tonight, and of course you are, for it is a great show, be sure and dress warmly for the ground is very damp and the air chilly. Long coats, shawls and steamer rugs will come in handy.

John Hancock lodge of Odd Fellows will hold memorial services Sunday afternoon at the Wollaston Baptist church, when Rev. E. D. Webber, the pastor will preach the sermon. Odd Fellows of Quincy and Neponset have been invited.

The admission to the Hospital fair is but ten cents but several hundred or a thousand ten-cent pieces makes quite a neat sum, so if you cannot buy much, let your ten cents for admission help swell the funds. You will also enjoy the fine entertainment and more-over have a chat with your friends for they will all be there.

Flank of Russia's Main Army Is Attacked

THE FIGHTING CONTINUES

Indications That Japanese Movement Is Toward the Russian off Nut island. Base--St Petersburg Regards Latest News as Very Serious

St. Petersburg, June 15.-Emperor Nicholas has received the following telegram from Lieutenant General Stakelberg, bearing date of June 14:

"A battle began at noon around the Russian position four and a half miles south of the station of Vafangow, the enemy making repeated attempts to disodge our left flank. The attack was epelled and we retained our position.

"The First regiment, occupying the eft flank of our position, sustained se vere losses. Its commander, Colone Khavastounoff, and Adjutant sub-Lieutenant Nadochinsky, were killed. General Gerngross was wounded, a shrapnel bullet shattering the right side of his lower jaw, but he remained on the field."

The general staff remained in ses on until almost 2 o'clock this mornig to translate and give out the abov cates that the authorities attach conderable importance to the dispatch.

It is thought here that the Vafangow ffair may prove to have been quite a eavy fight. The fact that the Russians ield their position in the face of heavy osses also supports this theory, and t may turn out to be a check to the Japanese northern advance.

The movement of 3000 Japanese orth of Kuan Dia Sian only adds to he blindness of the situation in the ortheastern field of operations. A special dispatch from Liao Yang. ated June 14, says: "Yesterday Monday) at the battle of Vafangow, fapanese troops numbering 20,000 tried to pass our flank, but were discovered. We changed our position, neavy fire. The result is unknown." The same correspondent in a later ispatch says:

"Today (Tuesday) the battle continues. The Japanese have opened a neavy fire on our centre.

"On the night of June 12, southwest of Vafangow, the Cossacks came in JOHNSON & BROOKS, contact with the Japanese and drove them from their position. We lost two men. The Japanese losses were 15 men ina 20 horses." The date of the first dispatch does not agree with Stakelberg's message to the czar, which indicates that the battle took place yesterday. It is thought improbable that there have been two actions.

Fighting Along Entire Front London, June 15.-The Central News

Drift of Opinion.

The body of a woman, about 50 years of age, a victim of the Iroquois theatre horror in Chicago last January has just been taken from the morgue and buried unidentified. It hardly seems possible that there could have been in that theatre audience a woman so absolutely friendless and alone in alliance interfered in such a manner as the world, that in five months time her disappearance from earth should not have been noticed and her identification as a victim of this catastrophe established, -- Haverhill Gazette. Conditions in stock exchange offices are in striking contrast with those that prevailed during the boom. In customers' rooms, that formerly were well filled, there is often nowadays but a solitary survivor. Managers and members of firms sit around, waiting for the change that once more will bring activity. Recent instances of large houses going for several days at a time without a single order from the outside public are numerous. The worst of the matter, from the Wall street point of view, is that there will probably be no relief from the prevailing inactivity for several months at least .- New York Letter to Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The very central ideas of a church should be the training of human beings in the art of living well and then preparing them to bring their influence to bear in all righteous ways and unselfish action for the benefit of the world around them. Many of the most useful men in any community are those who have great success in business and n society, but who always hold their gain subject to the good of others. MINERS'

THE ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County, Cripple Creek Crimes Laid at Door of Citizens' Alliance

"WORK OF HIRED THUGS"

Forcible Resignation of Officials Declared to Show That Explosion and Subsequent Outrages Were Planned In Advance

Denver, June 15.-The executive board of the Western Federation of Miners has issued a statement regarding the strikes in Colorado and the recent disturbances in Cripple Creek

The statement declares that, "notwithstanding persistent reports to the contrary," every local union voted upon the proposition before any strike was called; that the recent convention sent a committee to Cripple Creek to investigate the situation and that the committee found the representatives of the mines ready to listen to a proposition of settlement.

"Before any further conference could be held," it is asserted, "the Citizens to frustrate further efforts in the direction of settlement, the interference of the alliance being no doubt prompted by the bitter hatred of the merchants against the four co-operative stores established and maintained in the district by the federation.

"We are fully convinced that the original explosion and subsequent outrages were not only the work of the Citizens' alliance, but are thoroughly of the opinion that the whole matter was planned in advance. Perhaps no single occurrence has so much bearing on this conclusion as the forcible resignation of various regularly elected of ficials in the district.

"What public necessity justified the mob to compel the resignation of those officers we will leave the reader to judge. To set aside the expressed will of the people, to depose officials named by the majority to conduct public affairs, is of itself a crime against citizenship that we cannot pass without severe criticism. Beside this all other crimes are puny-are parlor jokes or comic opera.

"The very fact that union men are deported by the military is of itself suficient to show that no evidence could be obtained against the men. What evidence there is acquits the miners, but apparently tastens the crime upon the leads of hired assassins and thugs in the pay of the Citizens' alliance.

"The apparent success of this line of action at Telluride has evidently the Cripple Creek district. The lawless nob at all times had access to the state erms and ammunition. When the mob had committed outrages without number the power of the great state of nen, abuses others, and brazenly heralds to the world the palpable lie that the miners' unions are criminal organizations and must be wiped out.

"We denounce the verdict of the coroner's jury who holds the federation responsible for the death of the vicunjust and ridiculous, and we assert that when the truth is known it will be found to be the work of detectives and thugs hired on purpose to commit a deed that might be laid at our door. and offer the excuse for the reign of terror that followed."

The statement concludes with an appeal for funds to sustain the deported miners and their families.

Another Batch Deported Victor, Col., June 15.-Thirty-six men were deported yesterday afternoon by the military. The destination of the exiles was given out unofficially as New Mexico. The report was current. however, that they would be taken through that territory to the old Mexico soil. A strong guard of military will accompany the men until they are finally released. The men sent out are nearly all union men or union sympathizers. Other deportations will be made, but just when the next train will be ready to be sent out is not stated at military headquarters. It is very quiet here.

No Sympathetic Resolutions

New York, June 15 .- An attempt to ntroduce resolutions of sympathy with the union miners of Colorado at the neeting of the board of aldermen met with so much opposition that the resolution was withdrawn before it had been read. Alderman Downing said he presented the resolution at the request of trade unionists.

LOW STEERAGE RATES

Likely to Bring Heavy Influx of Undesirable Aliens

at such a small figure by the leading | Tuesday. steamship lines that the immigration officials look for a heavy influx of aliens, with the likelihood that many of them will prove undesirable. The cut has come at a time when the authorities were congratulating themselves that immigration was on the wane, and now it is likely to reach record-breaking figures.

White Star rates from Liverpool to this port are $14 by the cut, while the Cunard met the cut with one still lower, going from $27.75 to $13.75. The North German Lloyd is expected to reduce the fare to $10, in which case the other companies will have to follow suit.

So far as Boston is concerned, Immigration Commissioner Billings has made up his mind that if he can help admission to this country, no matter what the rates.

London, June 15.-The American line announces a 5 shilling cut in third-class fares on the same conditions as those announced by the White Star line, namely, for steamships sailing from Southampton to New York the same week as the Carpathia and the Aurania of the Cunard line.

Passenger Steamer Punctured New York, June 15 .- The sound steamer Chester W. Chapin, with 200 passengers on board for New London, Conn., struck a reef off Nigger point, off the south end of Ward's island, last night, and stove in her forward bulk-

Captain Rowland decided to put back and, with the aid of a tug, brought the Chapin to her dock in North river. It was found that the Chapin's injury consisted only of a small leak about three feet below the waterline in her forward compartment. The vessel continued her trip to New London, leaving shortly after 11 o'clock, most of the passengers remaining aboard.

Should France avoid her responsibility, America or Great Britain may be forced into energetic action.

Premotion For Chaplains

Washington, June 15.—The president has directed that Chaplains Allensworth, Swift, Pierce and Vattmann be promoted from the rank of captain to that of major in the army. The last congress authorized such promotion where chaplains have served 10 years in ims of the Independence explosion as the army and have been specially recommended for promotion by their superior officers on account of meritorious service.

> American Supersedes United States Washington, June 15.-In accordance with an order issued by Secretary Hay, the inscriptions "United States Embassy" and "United States Consulate" no longer will appear upon the embassy and consular seals and in other places where they formerly stood. In their place will appear the words Consulate" and "American Consular Agency."

An Errand of Mercy

Washington, June 15.-The cruiser Tacoma will leave San Francisco on a long cruise in search of the missing merchant steamer Conemaugh, which left a Chilian port several months ago, bound for New York, and has not been heard from since. It is regarded as an almost hopeless chance, but is undertaken in the bare possibility of rescuing the 40 persons on the steamer.

Are You Going to Europe?

As several Quincy people are contem it, no undesirable immigrants will gain plating summering in Europe, perhaps a little advice will not be amiss. If you return by way of Liverpool you will be quite apt to leave London the day before sailing, as did our party so as to spend some time at quaint old Chester.

When we reached Liverpool we were met by an agent of the Dominion line. He was given our hand baggage. Each piece was already marked with the name of owner, number of stateroom, etc., but the agent also tagged each piece with the Dominion Company label, writing the name, stateroom etc., so that each piece was doubly marked. We left to spend the night in Chester with the assurance we would find every head. Her condition was such that thing in our staterooms the next after-the Commonwealth sailed and our luggage arrived piece by piece, till we had all but one hat box. We interviewed the proper officials who said, "It will come aboard, don't worry about it, but it came not. A letter was sent back at Queenstown and the steamer thoroughly searched. On arriving at Boston the loss was reported to the proper authorities, who were confident the box would come by the next steamer. Nine months have passed and still no hat box, nor has the company shown its existence, a cessation was brought any disposition to continue the search or to reimburse the loser, who is out about thirty dollars by the carelessness or dishonesty of the Company's employes. The Dominion line at that time was being or had been merged into the White Star line.

Whether all steamship companies beween Boston and Liverpool would have acted the same under like circumstances cannot say, but I would advise all passengers homeward bound with Parisian hats or anything they care particularly for, to carry it aboard them-Annie L. Prescott.

Presidential Aspirant

ods" Employed In Behalf of nois Democrats For Hearst

New York, June 15 .- The following to the press:

Louis or to question in any way the a runaway child. regularity of the Albany convention, but merely to enter a protest on behalf of a large number of New York voters who believe in honesty in politics and which are now being employed to date and a meaningless platform.

The argument made in favor of Judge by his friends is that he can win, and very little on their investment. they base their belief on the fact that, as he has never said anything in connection with pending questons, he has no record that can be used aganst him. His virtues are purely negative, and his friends think it sufficient that the Democrats send him forth as a candidate with the endorsement, "We know nothing against him."

to so high a position on the ground that his opinions are unknown. Surely the Democratic party is in desperate straits if among all of its members you cannot find a trustworthy man who has ever been interested enough in pubic questions to give expression to his pinion. In the great contest between Democracy and plutocracy our party should take a positive and aggressive stand, and it should present a standardbearer who will infuse courage and enthusiasm among the masses.

I am glad that there are Demoerats in New York who are willing to register such a protest as your call suggests, and I trust that the protest may loyalty and earnestness of the Demowww.comm crats who were true to the ticket in 896, when loyalty meant abuse and ostracism, if they are really in favor of a silent candidate whose most conspicuous supporters have in recent years been more familiar with Republican headquarters than with Democratic headquarters.

Illinois Democratic Convention Springfield, Ills., June 15.—The Democratic state convention nominated Lawrence B. Stringer of Lincoln for governor and instructed the delegates to the St. Louis convention to vote as a unit for William R. Hearst for the presidential nomination. The convention was controlled by John T. Hopchairman of the state central commit- giver from Manchester or vicinity. tee. Hearst's campaign managers, who attempted to ride into power by the aid of his name, received no consideration whatever from the convention. The Harrison party, which came solely support of Congressman Williams of this state, was routed completely. Mayor Harrison was unseated as a delegate and took a train for Chicago without going near the convention. Both his faction and the Hearst party were as nothing compared to the strength and skillful management of the convention exhibited by Hopkins.

Frank J. Quinn presided over the convention. The report of the committee on credentials endorsing Hopkins' action and seating his delegates was put through under the gavel in spite of vigorous protests from the adherents of Hearst and Harrison, Following this Garman of Amherst college is his son. Judge Prentiss of Chicago, a supporter of Hearst, took the platform and withdrew as a candidate for governor. He declared that he desired nothing from opinion, represent the Democracy of Illinois.

CLEAN SHAVEN FACES.

A Contention That Every Man Should Show All His Features.

A recent writer, says the Chicago News, has this to say about beards: "The ideal man is clean shaved. Confidently he exposes to the world his features undisguised by hirsute appendages. Can we conceive the Apollo Belvedere with even a mustache? I doubt it. A merely honest man also, one would think, should wear no hair upon his face and for these reasons: Each of us in great measure, partly from exaggerated ideas of his own perspicacity, partly from the stress of life, judges his neighbor from his face. His clothes are but a doubtful index of his character, but his features are, we firmly believe, indicative of his nature and his mode of life.

"There may be villainy written large on his upper lip. A certain mold of chin betrays its owner as a man of considerable homicidal tendencies. Cover the lips with a waterfall mustache, and in each third year thereafter such drape the chin with an Assyrian beard, corporation shall call in the books of and it may well be that this murder- deposit of their depositors for verification ous monster is a pleasing enough fellow to view. BENEDICT ARNOLD.

The Tragic Ending of the Life of the Talented Traitor.

The last twenty years of the life of Benedict Arnold were probably the most unhappy that ever fell to the lot of man. The British were willing to use him to promote their own plans and to pay him for his disgraceful services, but everywhere he was held in such scorn and contempt that for years he scarcely ventured to appear in public. Before his treachery he stipulated for a fortune in cash and a commission as major general in the British army.

He got both and soon spent the former in speculation, while the latter did him no good, as no officer in the army would serve under him, and, although his talents and bravery were unquestioned, he remained to the end of his days a general without command, even at a time when the British government was sorely pressed for officers and men. In 1798, during the Batteries, Chase and McGovern; French war, when the country was anxiously gathering all its resources, he applied to the Duke of York for a command, but was refused.

He want home in despair and said Batteries, Hastings and Diggins; to his wife, "They will not let me find a soldier's death." He never rallied after this blow, and soon after his mind appeared to wander. He ordered Manchester 3 7 4 his Continental uniform to be brought 3 and put it on, including the sword he Batteries, Leith and Cote; Harris and had worn when in the American service, and so he died a raving maniac in 1801 at his residence in London.

Judge Shea Posed.

Some years ago Judge Shea, a New York lawyer, became chief justice of what was then the marine court and what is now known as the city court of New York. He went to England once and was registered at a hotel as "Chief Justice of the Marine Court, U. S. A." The lords of the admiralty and the judges of all the great British courts called upon him, put him up at their clubs, invited him to dinner and treated him with as much consideration as if the tribunal of which he was the head had been, as they supposed it to be, one of the great courts of the United States, instead of a purely city affair. Judge Shea was never tired of recounting to his cronies here how he had been treated in England on that memorable trip.

Liquor and the Term "Proof." What "proof" means as applied to the quality or the measurement of the by many people. As explained by a term it is simple enough. The standard of the United States revenue is a liquor half of which, by volume, is alcohol. This is 100 proof. PUT OUT BY WOMEN

One, Wife of Fireman and Heroic Fire Fighter.

The alarm from Box 171 at 9 o'clock Tuesday night was for a fire in a house 6.75 on Union street occupied by William A. Gavin, electrician of the fire and police departments. The fire was caused by a lamp in a window alcove setting fire to the window draperies.

Mr. Gavin was not at home when the fire occurred, but his wife and neice Miss Catherine F. Garrity went at the flames in true firemen style and fought it with rugs. It was a stubborn fight, but they kept bravely at work and had the flames extinguished by the time the department arrived.

Mrs. Gavin's clothing was somewhat burned and her face and hands singed. Miss Garrity had her hand cut by glass, and her face badly blistered under the eyes. Her hands were also singed. The fire loss was $50. The ladies were cer-HERBERT A. HAYDEN tainly plucky in making such a stubborn fight.

Disaster Overtakes New York Sunday School Excursion

Majority of the Victims Were Women and Children, Those Who Were Not Burned to Have Been Too Securely Fast-Boats or Life Rafts

New York, 16.-Six hundred persons, men, women and children, at a con servative estimate, met death by the burning, beaching and sinking of the big three-decked excursion steamer General Slocum, which took fire in the East river, near the entrance to Long cursionists, the Sunday school pupils of St. Mark's German Lutheran church, their relatives and friends.

At 1 o'clock this morning, according to a statement issued by Coroner O'Gorman, 483 bodies had been recovered from the destroyed vessel, burned to death or drowned, and found washed or picked up in the river to The customary veil was worn. which they had jumped or fallen from the burning vessel. It is variously estimated that there were between 1500 and 2500 persons on board the General Slocum when she eft the pier at Third street, East river, though the Knickerbocker Steamboat company, which owns the steamer, officially states that the number of pasthird of the vessel's capacity. It is eral hundred of young children, for whom fares are not usually charged on these excursions. There are stories of rotten life preservers and of life preservers placed out of reach, of the failure of the crew to fight the fire and of the captain's mistake in not heading for the nearest land: but few know exactly what happened in that terrible scene of suffering and death, for many of the survivors are practically insane and hundreds of others are in the hospitals. At 2 o'clock this morning the corners announced that the total number f bodies recovered was 485. Before leaving North Brother island about that time Coroner Darlington said there was probably hundreds of corpses still in the wrecked hull of the Slocum.

DETAILS OF DISASTER Overturned Pot of Grease Said to Have Started the Fire The scene on the decks of the steamer as she proceeded up the East river was one of harmless merrymaking customary on such occasions. The mass of flags on the vessel fluttered in the June breezes, the bands were playing and the children were singing or dancing or waving handkerchiefs and flags in answer to the salutations of those on shore or on passing steamers. At the extreme eastern end of Randall's island, off 135th street, there is a stretch of water known as the Sunken Meadows. At this point, just as crowds were watching the gayly decorated steamer from the shore, the General Slocum took fire and as the age of the vessel-she was built in 1891-had resulted in the drying of the wood with which she was almost entirely built, she was soon a mass of flame. The fire is said to have broken out in the lunch room on the forward deck through the overturning of a pot of grease. The wind was high and all efforts to subdue the fire were futile. At 134th street there are several lumber yards and oil tanks and as Captain

Cleveland, Olney, Bryan, Gray, and all the rest say the same thing, except Parker, and he says-nothing.

A curious incident in connection with the visit of the Filipinos to this country was the anxiety of Rev. Dr. Abbot to sound them regarding their sentiments on the question of self government. He danced about them, note book in hand, and propounded all sorts the war office does not manifest anxabstruse constitutional questions. He is known as the editor of a pugnacious religious weekly in New York, which advocates "interdependence but not dependence or independence." The distinction is pretty fine. The States of the Union are independent and at the same time interdependent. What Dr. Abbot really wished to know was if the Filipinos would promise to be good, civilized, self governing, Protestant people, and if they would subscribe for his weekly journal. However that may be, events move forward to one divine purpose, whether men like that purpose or not.

Drift of Opinion.

The arguments urged against Roosevelt include many that are really reasons for his election. This wailing about Philippine independence is one of them. The Filipinos never had so good a government as they are given today by the United States. They are unfit to govern themselves, and they are being trained into a condition of fitness. When this condition will be realized House has all modern improvements, is finely constructed and in good repair, spacious halls, and conveniently arranged inside, steam heat; predict simply saving it will be a long. predict, simply saying it will be a long time in coming. It would be a cruel wrong to turn such children loose. They must first be educated. In our opinion there is not today as much interest in these people as there is in the fading American Indians. The public will never be aroused to see a live issue in the political welfare of so remote a population as those of these faroff islands. The question of their posi- darkness of midnight favored the option with regard to the constitution is to the average citizen an altogether academic one. If the government is looking after them, he concerns himself no further and cannot be made to. That is only one incident of the campaign, but we mention it as in some easily excited quarters the matter is being taken seriously. As a political make-weight it will fail. - Hartford Courant.

Russians Overwhelmed by Japs North of Port Arthur

LOST A THOUSAND MEN

Had No Time to Save Guns, Which Fall Into the Hands of the Enemy--The Russian Fleet Emerges From Port Arthur, Showing That Channel Is Clear -- Large Reinforcements to Be Dispatched to Aid Kuropatkin

London, June 16 .- A dispatch to The Daily Express from Tokio, dated June 15, says news has been received there, but has not yet been officially published, of a great Japanese victory near Fu Chou, on the railway, 70 miles north of Port Arthur. The Russians, it is added, were overwhelmed, lost 1000 men, left all their guns on the field and retreated in disorder. The Daily Chronicle's correspondent

Tshi Chaiao and Kaio Chow.

More Troops For Kuropatkin

St. Petersburg, June 16.-The appointment of Lieutenant General Dembowski as commander of the Fifth East Siberian army corps is evidence that large reinforcements are to be placed at General Kuropatkin's disposal. The four corps originally formed of Siberian troops are mobilized in Manchuria, and other drafts have been sent out to the far east. The organization of the new corps independent of the Russlan corps, now ordered out from European Russia, shows that Kuropatkin now has almost 200,-000 troops, irrespective of frontler and railroad guards, and that probably he has an effective army of 160,000 men at Liao Yang.

The dispatch of divisions southward is not entirely attributed to a desire to relieve the pressure on Port Arthur, as it is considered that the fortress would lose most of its importance to Russia, from a strategical standpoint, if the squadron there succeeded in escaping and effecting a juncture with the squadron commanded by Vice Admiral Skrydloff. Stakelberg's purpose, it is learned, is mainly intended to discourage the landing of a fourth Japanese army, which the authorities have reason to believe is planned, on the west coast of the Liao Tung peninsula, near New Chwang, whence it could cooperate with General Kuroki's advance upon Liao Yang.

The Japanese failure to follow up the bombardment of the Kai Chou and Suenchen coast by a debarkation is believed to be in consequence of the development of Stakelberg's position. Although the Japanese forward movement from Siu Yen to take Stakelberg in the rear looks extremely dangerous, ety at the prospect of Stakelberg's communications being cut, saying that at least six days' march of the Japanese will be necessary to reach a position commanding the railroad, over which the Russians in case of necessity could easily retire.

Port Arthur Channel Is Clear

Tokio, June 16.-A flotilla of torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, cooperating with the army, made a reconnaissance in force near Siaoping island Tuesday and bombarded the Russian outposts on the coast to the west of the island. At noon the Russian cruiser Novik, conveying 10 torpedo boat destroyers, steamed out from Port Arthur. The Russian shore batteries protected these vessels with a heavy cannonade.

The Japanese flotilla retreated slowly, firing as it went, for the purpose of decoying the enemy to sea. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Russian ships returned to the entrance of Port Arthur.

The fact that the Novik came out of Port Arthur makes it certain that the Russians have succeeded in blasting a channel through the cement-laden merchantmen sunk by the Japanese in the entrance to the harbor.

This freedom of egress comes too late to permit of any effect on the operations of the Japanese army, for men, guns and stores have practically all been landed, and Admiral Togo is capable of keeping the remnants of the Russian fleet imprisoned in Port Arthur.

Last Monday night Japanese vidette boats, protected by torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, succeeded in reaching the entrance to Port Arthur and planted a series of mines. The eration. The Japanese vessels were not observed and they returned to the rest of the squadron without having sustained any damage.

become panic-stricken and those who were not caught by the flames rushed to the stern of the vessel, where hundrdes jumped overboard into the swiftly running water. It is alleged that the life preservers were too securely fastened | WAS TO BE GREAT EVENT their holdings to be available, and stories are told of frantic efforts by strong men to cut them loose; but even if they could have been torn down they were too high up for the children to reach them. It is also alleged that no attempt was made to get out the fire apparatus at the first cry of "Fire," though Captain VanSchaick says that he immediately rang the bells for getting out the apparatus. According to several statements, no attempt was made to lower boats or life rafts.

FRIGHTFUL INDEED

Steamer's Flame-Enveloped Run to North Brother Island

The race to North Brother island was flames, which had now been fanned into work. a fury by the strong head wind, were consuming hundreds, both old and young. The scene was one of frightful panic, with men, women and children jumping overboard and being lashed by the whirlpools of the channel against the vessel's sides. Women and children were crowding together on the hurricane deck, which soon burned away and fell, and it is believed that most of those on this deck were burned. The after rail gave way and the passengers who had crowded against it were pushed and crowded into the river. Mothers and children became separated and frantically sought each other, while in several cases fathers and mothers, getting their children together, jumped with them into the water. Little children holding each other by the hand jumped together and were afterwards found clasped in each other's arms. It is alleged that men fought with women to escape, resulting in the trampling under foot of scores of children.

During her flame-enveloped run to North Brother island the General Slocum's whistles kept blowing for assistance, but before the whistles began to blow, several tugs, the captains of which had seen the outbreak of the fire, started after the vessel, joined by a yacht, while rowboats put out from the shore. The number of these craft constantly grew, and not the least dramatic incidents of the catastrophe were the efforts of the people on these boats to rescue those who had jumped over-Opposite Fore River Works board from the General Slocum. Men crowded to rails of the tugs and caught thrilling rescues by this means.

SIGNAL DISREGARDED

Statement That Not a Single Life Need Have Been Lost

Charles L. Storms, who owns the lumber yard at 134st street and the East river, says that the loss of life on the General Slocum could have been averted had the captain steered for shore when he first discovered the fire. "I saw the flames on the boat as she passed 128th street," said Storms, "and I signalled for her to come ashore. At the same time I turned in an alarm and almost immediately there were engines at the foot of East 122nd street. If the Slocum had turned in then not a life would have been lost. Later, when I saw how badly off the Slocum was and saw the people running around on her

Whole Church Had Anticipated Having a Grand Time

There is hardly a German family on the middle East Side of the city that is not mourning a dead, an injured or missing friend or relative. St. Mark's German Lutheran church contained in its membership practically all those of the Protestant faith within a radius of 10 square blocks. The fatal excursion was the event of the year for scores of well-to-do and thrifty Teuton families and had been looked forward to for many months. Family parties of 10 or more had been made up in many cases, the old grandmother, the mother and the children of all ages, with a sprinkling of those men of the families horribly dramatic. It was while the who could spare a day from their

> Rev. J. G. Schultz, assistant pastor of the church, called at the temporary morgue last night and identified the body of Mrs. Anna Haas, the wife of the pastor of the church. Dr. Haas is among the rescued. He, his wife and daughter got outside the rail of the Slocum before the steamer beached. He sank and when he rose he found scores about him fighting for life. He failed to find his wife and daughter.

> With great effort he kept afloat, and was about to give up in despair when a man on one of the tugs picked him up. Of the scores he saw about him when he rose, one by one sank. It is not yet known whether his daughter is among the living or dead.

Assistant District Attorney Garvin was at the scene of the wreck for some hours. He said that he would subpoena the entire crew and as many of the survivors as possible and would make every effort to fix the responsibility for the catastrophe.

Sorrow Expressed In London

London, June 16 .- The morning newspapers publish long descriptive accounts of the terrible disaster at New York to the excursion steamer General Slocum and in their editorial articles express a keen sense of sympathy with the American people in the horrible accident, which for grim and mournfu contrast between merrymaking and tragedy is considered to stand almost without precedent.

Jeffries In Bad Shape

San Francisco, June 16 .- Advices from Harbin Springs, where Jim Jeffries is training, are that an operation was performed yesterday afternoon on the ailing knee of the champion. An incesion was made and a quantity of fluid drawn off. Jeffries, according to the surgeon's order, will not be permitted to leave his bed for six days. There is a sentiment here that the Jeffries-Munroe contest will be indefinitely postponed. Munroe is in splendid shape, consequently Jeffries may be more inclined to risk his forfeit than to risk the championship honors.

President Considering Propriety of Answering Tyner

MEAT FOR HIS CRITICS

Baltimore Attorney Said to Have Advised the Tyner Protest, Which May Result In Hot Shot From Administration Locker

Washington, June 16 .- There was a conference at the White House, at which Secretary Cortelyou, Attorney General Knox, ex-Governor Crane of Massachusetts and Holmes Conrad, an attorney in the postoffice cases, discussed the Tyner letter to the president asking for a retraction of his assertions regarding Tyner in the memorandum attached to the Bristow report, in view of the action of the court in acquitting General Tyner.

It is understood that this letter, which on its face presents a strong case, was drawn by O. F. Hershey, Tyner's Baltimore attorney, and it was presented and made public against the judgment of Mr. Worthington, Tyner's Washington attorney, who believed it better for his client to rest on the action of the jury and not attempt to secure an acknowledgment from the president that his statement in the memorandum had been unjustified.

Many questions of propriety are involved in deciding how to answer this letter. The president did not write the memorandum without having what he supposed was sufficient warrant. Whether he should now disclose the findings on which he then felt justified in writing as he did, is the question for decision. If these andings should tend to show questionable conduct on the part of Tyner, in spite of his acquittal by the court, it would strengthen the impression that the postoffice frauds were not thoroughly sifted, or adequately dealt with-a persistent contention of the Democrats in congress, and one which has found a place in nearly all state Democratic platforms.

Whether the administration, in answering Tyner's appeal, should thus take the risk of reviving a popular estimate adverse to Tyner, raises a delicate issue. Unless, however, the president does this, he cannot, in fairness, fail to take cognizance of the action of the jury in the Tyner case, by saying in an acknowledgment to this letter, that the courts have not sustained the view which he held at the time the memorandum was drafted. This too, would be meat for his critics, who charge him with impulsiveness and indiscretion.

That the president realizes the gravity of the problem is attested by the advisors whom he summoned into conference. Knox was there as a lawyer, Cortelyou as the manager of the presidential campaign, Crane as a levelheaded business man, the sterling commonsense of whose judgment the president greatly values, and Conrad, the lawyer who handled this specific case.

While no announcement of the result in advance of the president's action, little doubt is entertained among well advised persons here that someone will answer the Tyner appeal in the president's behalf, if he does not answer t himself. When the response comes it will probably contain some surprises for Tyner's unwise counsellor, who is likely to discover that there was more ammunition in the administration locker than his client had informed him of.

John Hoyt's Problem

By ADELAIDE L. ROUSE

Copyright, 1903, by Adelaide L. Rouse

OHN HOYT was tired of sitting in the gloomy office on the second floor of Vane & Co.'s warehouse, where he filled the positions of bookkeeper by day and watchman by night. He put aside the law book over which he had been dozing and took his mackintosh down from its nail. He was not on duty for some time yet, and he ran lightly downstairs. He walked toward the house of his employer, where he was a frequent visitor, for Rosamond, Mr. Vane's handsome daughter, was by no means averse to the attentions of John Hoyt. Young men of intelligence were scarce in Millville, and John was college bred and handsome withal.

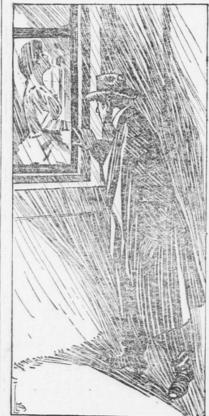

John did not know why he walked in for calling. He did not ring the bell, but he stood on the steps and for a moment looked into the drawing room. it. It had been one of the few exduring his college days.

They had been engaged for six years, since Kath was twenty-two and John twenty-one, for she was a year his senior. There had been but little lovemaking, but John had always intended to marry Kath when their fortunes would permit. in the colony of Yorkton eighteen months and during that short time has changed the character of the commune, introducing modern methods and building up an organization out of chaos. Several thousand acres of land have been broken, and the area under cultivation this year will be much greater than last.

At first these people were assisted by Quakers from Philadelphia, but they have since progressed so much that they are now well able to take care of themselves. They have large quantities of farm machinery, and one of their latest acquisitions is a steam plow. At present there are eight steam engines belonging to the commune, and during the year they have been there they have not been idle a single working day. These engines are moved about from place to place as occasion requires, so that full use is made of them. Veregin purposes to connect the vil-

From early morning, when the village is roused by the singing of a choir which patrols the street, until evening, when the same choir sings them to sleep, the villagers find their work in Full line of Rubbel Tires and Bieve'e Sundres common very agreeable to them.

Their working day is from 5 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock in the evening. But this is divided into a fashion peculiar to themselves into three shifts of five hours each. One shift of men and horses goes to work at 5 o'clock, quitting at 10 o'clock, when they are relieved by the second shift, which works until 3 o'clock, when they are relieved by the third shift, which works until 8 o'clock. The heavy and light shifts are taken by the shifts of men on alternate days.

Japanese Tresses For War Fund. The patriotic women of Japan are sacrificing their raven locks to make American wigs and add to the war fund of the mikado, says a Washington special to the Cleveland Plain Dealer. The treasury officials have received reports from the custom house in San Francisco and other Pacific coast ports that large quantities of hair are being received, and investigation shows that these importations came from Japan, where it is said not only the poorer classes, but even the aristocratic women of Tokyo, are having their long glossy tresses shorn to be sent to America, where there is a ready mar-

A Few Words of Cheer.

A prominent singer in Louisville, Ky., recently took charge of a choir in one of the local churches, says the Louisville Herald. An enthusiastic member of the congregation, wishing to encourage her, approached her the other day with this:

"Miss Jones, you can't realize how great your success has been with the choir. Why, you have got the whole church interested. Before you began to sing in the choir scarcely a person in the congregation joined in the hymns, but last Sunday morning every one sang so loud that it was impossible to distinguish the choir at all."

After the national committee had decided against the supporters of the governor, the leaders of La Follette's side announced their determination to carry the fight to the end, and it is probable that, in spite of the decision of the committeemen, the dispute will again be fought out before the committee on credentials in the national convention.

The anti-La Follette men were equally determined to continue the contest, which has been exceedingly bitter. The Spooner adherents asserted that the first legal action to be taken would come from their side, and would very likely be in the form of mandamus proceedings to compel the placing of their candidates, headed by Samuel A. Cook for governor, on the official ballot of the state, or else an action to prevent the representation of the La Follette ticket on the ballot.

After the vote to seat the stalwarts was taken Governor La Follette and several supporters of his who had come from Wisconsin left the committee room and immediately took a train $125 for home.

Frame Riots In England.

Early in 1811 bands of distressed stocking knitters in Nottinghamshire began a long series of riots, marked by most wanton mischief. Assembling in parties of from six to sixty under a leader styled general or Ned Ludd, disguised and armed with swords, pistols, hammers and axes and bound together by illegal oaths, they succeeded in smashing stocking frames in all parts of England, and their daring outrages continued even when a large military force was brought into the neighborhood and two London police magistrates came down to assist the civil

Dnly Way to Get at Bodies In Hull of the General Slocum

CHIEF ENGINEER'S STORY

An Awful Scene as Fire Swiftly Swept Through the Boat-No Time Was Lost In Working Pumps to Subdue Flames--Impossible to Get Near Life Boats and Rafts Because Crowd Was So Dense About Them--Remained In Engine Room With His Assistant Until They Were Surrounded by Fire--Coroner Is Gathering Evidence

New York, June 18 .- Despite the untiring work of the divers and grapplers, and the watchfulness of scores of men who have given themselves over to the task of searching for the missing, but few bodies of those who perished in the Slocum disaster were recovered yesterday. It was stated by divers who went down into the wreck at dawn that there are many bodies still under the entanglement of timbers and paddlewheels, and that it would be necessary to dynamite the hulk or raise it before they could be reached.

City officials communicated with a wrécking company, and an announcement was made that the company would undertake the work of bringing the wreck to the surface. Later, however, a conference between the marine insurance companies and the wrecking company ended in a disagreement, with the result that for the present, at least, the matter is in abeyance.

At this conference it was stated that the Knickerbocker Steamboat company, which owns the General Slocum, had resigned all claim to the boat on the agreement that it should receive $70,000, the amount for which the boat was insured. The insurance companies and the wrecking company failed to agree on terms and if the boat is raised at all the cost probably will come out of the city treasury.

B. F. Conklin, chief engineer of the General Slocum, is at his home in Catskill, ill from the effects of his terrible experience in the disaster, but he has so far recovered that he is able to talk about it.

He does not know how the fire started, but says that while he was talking to his assistant, Everett Brandow, when opposite 138th street, the first mate reported the fire. Conklin

"I at once ordered him to lay the hose while I went to the pumps, first notifying the captain, who was in the pilot house, by calling to him through stand near the engine and not to leave | registered as missing, were in reality it, and he obeyed me,

"In less than a minute water was being poured into the flames, but it did not seem to check them in the least. Two minutes or so later the fire alarm 'Fire.' Instantly there was a roar, as the terrified passengers arose like one person and made a rush for the stern.

"Never shall I forget the horror of that scene and the terrible confusion that followed. There was no checking that frenzied crowd. Most of the crew were busy fighting the fire, and those who were on deck were unable to calm the fears of the women and children. The captain rang the bell for a full head of steam and the boat shot forward like a racehorse.

"A thick volume of smoke rolled from forward and filled the lower part of the boat. I was compelled to cover my mouth and nose with my arm in order to breathe. Mingled with the smell of burning paint and wood was the sickening odor of burning flesh. The women and children rushed about as though bereft of their senses. Mothers grasped their children and rushed to the side of the steamer and jumped into the water only to drown. I saw several children with their clothing on fire and their mothers vainly trying to put out the flames with their hands. I never saw fire spread with such tapidity, and in less time than it has taken for me to tell you this, the whole forward part of the vessel was in fiames.

"The boat had been newly painted, and this, of course, made it burn more rapidly. Those who were on the lower deck rushed aft and many children were Try as I can, it is impossible to erase my eyes at night I can see the struggling crowd, the dead upturned faces and floating bodies. I can yet hear those agonizing and piercing screams and feel the scorching flames. "I realized that our safety was to beach the boat and I knew that North Brother island was the only place to do it. We could not turn back and beach on the meadows, for we were above them, and I was fearful that we might strike a rock in Hell Gate. Had High water-3:15 a. m.; 3:45 p. m. this happened the loss of life would! have been greater, for no one, not a England.

in that swift water. "We had eight life boats and two rafts aboard, but it was an utter impossibility to get near them, for the erowd was so dense about them that it would have taken a hundred men to push the frenzied persons aside and launch the boats. It all happened so suddenly and the fire spread with such rapidity that in less than 15 minutes after it was discovered the boat was in flames from stem to stern.

"At intervals the captain called through the speaking tube asking how the fire was progressing, and Brandow kept him informed. I stayed at the pumps, for I did not dare to leave them, fearing that they might break down or stop. When the boat was beached and I left the engine room, they were still working. If the hose was rotten and burst, as has been stated, I knew nothing of it, for the pumps worked

"It has also been said that the life preservers were old and rotten. We arried a full complement of preservers. They were such as are required by law, and if they were not sound and in the condition they should have been, then it is up to the inspectors, for the boat had been inspected only a short time before the fire and everything was pronounced all right.

"Just before the Slocum was beached the engine room was in flames and the large mirrors in it fell with a crash. I looked for Brandow and he was still standing near the throttle, with the flames all about him. The heat was intense, but I did not seem to feel it

"When the boat grounded there was a terrible crash as the upper decks | tendance 6190. gave way and for a moment I felt sick, for I knew that many people were caught beneath it. Brandow stopped his engines and we made our way with difficulty aft. Here there were a number of women and children who beseeched us piteously to save them. I did my best to calm them and told them they must jump overboard. Just then a tug came up alongside and a rush was made for it.

"I was carried over with the rest and fell underneath the struggling mass. I arose, and when I reached the shore, I saw Captain VanShaick and Pilot Van Wort standing in the water taking out bodies which were floating all around us. I assisted in the work as long as I could. Brandow was badly burned about the head and neck, but he escaped. He and I were the last of the crew to leave the boat."

Officials of the coroner's office have made considerable progress in the way of gathering evidence which will be presented on Monday, when the coroner's inquest will begin. There is in the coroner's possession a standpipe, taken at his direction by a diver from the submerged wreck. The valve of the pipe is closed tight, showing that no use was made of this pipe in fighting the flames on the Slocum.

Statements were made to the coroner by several of the steamboat employes that the captain of the Slocum sent his boat a distance of between three and four miles before beaching her. Several watches showed that more than half an hour had elapsed from the breaking out of the fire until the boat was run ashore, all the watches which were taken from bodies of the drowned stopping between 10:10 and 10:20.

Estimates as to the number of dead still vary greatly and this may be accounted for the reason of the failure to Lisbon on a visit to the ports of Greece report to the proper authorities on the the speaking tube. I told Brandow to part of many who, although officially spending a few weeks there Admiral steerage rushed to secure the first copy saved.

Already 539 bodies have been recovered, of which about 50 remain unidentified. These include 273 children. 243 women and 23 men. Thirteen ofsounded and some one on deck cried ficers of St. Lutheran's church are among the dead, among them being a woman.

The first funeral from among the victims was that of a young girl, who is believed to have died of heart disease from fright. No signs of death from burning or drowning were found. Her funeral was followed by a score of others, which were attended by thousands of persons.

Many thousands of dollars have been subscribed to the relief fund, and money will continue to pour into the hands of the treasurer of the mayor's relief committee for the benefit of the widows and orphans. Within an hour or two after the subscription list was opened $12,000 had been collected.

DAILY PAPER AT SEA.

Wireless News on the Campania All the Way Across.

ISSUED SOON AFTER BREAKFAST.

Marconi, Who Directed the Work, Tells of Great Cost of Long Messages to Land - Communication With One Shore or Other Kept Throughout the Trip.

Fresh from work that has made a daily paper possible in mid sea, William Marconi arrived at New York recently on the Campania, says the New York Tribune. When seen at his hotel Mr. Marconi said that the cost of installing a plant sufficient to maintain constant wireless communication with the shore on the transatlantic steamers was so great as to be practically prohibitive. According to the inventor the cost of such a service is over $25,000, which he fears is greater than the steamship companies will be willing to pay.

Marconi places little credence in the report that the United States government is to assume or to attempt to assume control of the wireless telegraph stations in this country.

"Neither this government," he said, "nor any other government will ever control wireless telegraphy while I am alive. I do not believe that this government has any intention of trying to attempt such a thing. I think that all the stories that it is to do anything of the sort are newspaper yarns.

"All the chief transatlantic steamship lines, with the exception of the White Star line, have installed my wireless telegraphic apparatus. I don't know why the White Star line is holding back as it is, unless it is simply looking for a chance to pay more money to me. As all the other lines are equipped, it is becoming more and more indispensable to that line, but the longer it delays in equipping its boats the more it will have to pay for the apparatus.

"I had four different instruments on board the Campania, but only one of them to obtain the news for the new daily paper. The instrument as yet has no specific title, but might be called the improved Marconi apparatus to distinguish it from the others. Beyond saying that it was not a magnetic detecter, I do not care to say anything describing the new apparatus.

"To maintain constant communication with the shore at all times during a voyage requires an apparatus of exceptionally high power, costing more than $25,000 for each vessel. This is practically prohibitive, for the present at least, as I think that the steamship companies are scarcely ready at the present time for such an outlay.

"I am most thoroughly satisfied with what I have accomplished during the present voyage. We kept in communication with land throughout the trip, and on Tuesday and Wednesday were in touch with both sides. Our longest message came from a distance of over 2,300 miles."

The Cunard Daily Bulletin was published every day, giving the passengers an epitome of the news of the world. The paper is sold for 5 cents a copy, and Austria. It is reported that after and almost everybody from cabin to issued. With few exceptions all the passengers kept a complete file of the papers issued during the voyage.

The paper was issued soon after breakfast. War, financial, society and general news was printed. All the important happenings of the week were published, and as the Campania was entering New York harbor an extra, an Arrival Bulletin, was published, in addition to the regular sheet. This contained among its paragraphs the death of Levi Z. Leiter, the attack by the Tibetans on the British post at Kangura, the arrival of Cardinal Satolli, the Cripple Creek troubles and the latest Japanese war news.

The regular edition of the Cunard Bulletin is an eight page paper, about 6 by 9 inches, with five pages of "plate" matter. The first edition, which was issued on Monday morning, June 6, contained the news of the shooting of "Caesar" Young and the holding of Nan Patterson without bail. Until the Campania was past the mid-Atlantic the messages were received from Poldhu, and before that station had been dropped the Cape Breton shore station had been picked up.

On Thursday Mr. Marconi received a dispatch from Lord Inverclyde, the chairman of the Cunard company, congratulating him on the success of his experiments. The next day Mr. Marconi, nearly fifteen hundred miles away, replied:

"Sincere thanks. Your cordial wishes received Wednesday midocean. Happy inform you Daily Bulletin entirely successful and greatly appreciated."

Mr. Marconi desires to have it understood that the work done on this trip accompanied by his wife and son, ar- of the Campania was in no way in the

"When I left New York on the last trip of the Campania," Mr. Marconi said, "I conducted a series of experiments to find out the best way to get the best effect in long distance work. We directed an our energies to be in a position to receive without interruption or hindrance. We do not publish the paper, but simply furnish the news. When we have turned in the dispatches to whosoever is in charge of the paper for the steamship company our responsibility is ended. The Resolute Hermits

By SEWELL FORD

Copyright, 1903, by Sewell Ford

T came from being three and twenty and serious before their time, this renouncing of womankind. Their theory was that speech with wom-ankind led to idleness and invited distraction. So they withdrew from conventional society, set up their inconsiderable belongings in two studio rooms far up from the sidewalk and organized the Society of Resolute Her-

There, with new lighted ambitions sault on fame's frowning walls, one written bond did they sign, but the didn't notice"word of honor was passed that for a year and a day each should hold no converse with the disturbing sex. And they meant to do just the thing upon which they had agreed.

Luncheon in the retreat of the Resolute Hermits was hardly an event. It pipes, newspapers, sheets of manuscript and tobacco jars were pushed from one-half of the utility table which stood somewhat unsteadily in the middle of the studio floor; that the smell of crisping bacon, frying eggs and boiling coffee was coming from the closet thur, coatless and red of face, was

Reduction in British and Scandinavian standing over the gas stove. "Eggs and bacon, bacon and eggs," complained Mac as he hacked irregular chunks from an eight cent loaf. "Art, why in thunder don't you learn to cook eggs some other way?"

"Want another Spanish omelet?" "Don't, I'm no ostrich. But I'm glad we are to have something besides fried eggs after today. Kid, that uncle of yours is a life saver."

"I used to think he was an old crank," said the Kid, "but I know better now."

And, indeed, from the viewpoint of the Resolute Hermits, it was a noble thing which the Kid's uncle had done. Learning the cause and purpose of their retreat, how for a year and a day they had agreed to forego all friendship and idle speech with womankind. he had been moved to enthusiasm.

"Most sensible thing I ever knew any of you young rattleheads to do," he declared. "If you'll keep it up for another month I'll give you a check forno, I'll write it now and date it ahead. If you haven't spoken to a fool girl or fooler woman when that becomes payable you may cash it. But if one of you breaks faith tear it up."

And there, pinned to the wall as an We have a new lot of nice young inspiration, was the check-a check for $50. Tomorrow it would come down and then-Christian food! Twenty-five dinners le cabaret! The Resolute Hermits had figured it all out. There would be twenty-five days when they would eat at least one meal that did not depend upon the chance fate of 1511 Hancock St., Music Hall Block. "Oh, of course!" broke in Sir Arthur, returning the platter of bacon and eggs to the top of the gas stove. "Where did you leave her, Brady?"

demanded Mac. "Sure, sir, she's just outside at the top av the stairs."

"Of all the inhospitable creatures, Mac! I've come to take luncheon with you. I want to see how you live-and I'm half starved." Whereat Belle calmly proceeded to pull off her gloves. "But, Belle" - began Mac, with a sig-

Sir Arthur might have been seen to squirm. "Belle, Belle! I say, now, you mustn't"-

"But where's the harm, Mac? You say he's deaf and dumb." "Ye-e-es, but I don't know just how deaf he really is, and if he should hear, vou know" "He would only hear the truth. It might do him good. I'm sure he's conceited, even if he is a summy. Why, whatever are you doing?"

Just what Mac was doing was this: He was trying to wave a warning to the incautious Kid, who in the fullness of his joy and prompted by an unfeeling desire to catch a glimpse of Sir Arthur's face had parted the wardrobe curtains.

"N-n-nothing-nothing at all." Belle eyed him shrewdly for an uncomfortable moment. Then, after reflection, she asked: "And where's your other chum, the one you call the Kid?

Is he deaf and dumb or blind?" "It's too bad," said Mac, with an effort at sincerity, "but you'll not meet the Kid this time. He-he goes about seeing the art editors a good deal, you

"Does he? Well, I did hope to see him. He is the one, you wrote, who raved over my picture. Isn't that a photograph of him stuck up there on the wall?"

There was no denying this, for it had een plainly labeled "The Kid."

"He's a little fellow with brown eyes, sn't he? And didn't you say he was pashful?" asked Belle, studying the tears in them nicture. "Did he draw all these sketches? How clever! Especially that one of a row of red packing boxes."

"Packing boxes, Belle! That is an mpressionistic study of lower Broadway at sunset."

"Really? Well, I never should have guessed. But that smoking lamp resting on a blue table cover is effective." "Smoking fiddlesticks, Belle, you know nothing at all about art. Any one can see that's a night scene in the

But Mac insisted. He exhibited the check, explained its full significance and dwelt mournfully on the lost dinners, the number of them and their exceeding ex-

"I'm not a bit sorry," declared Belle when he had finished. "It was a stupid agreement. The conceit of you men! Why, you wouldn't be missed if you hid away for two years!" "But it has been only two months, Belle," protested Mac, "and here you come and"—

"I don't care." This with a most fetching pout, ending in an uncertain trembling of the chin. "I'm glad I did come and—and—I wish I hadn't, so there! I'll come every chance I get and—and I'll never speak to one of you again," with which amazing statement she started for the door. Sir Arthur, however, was there before she could reach it. Dinners or no dinners, here were gray eyes with

"We humbly beg your pardon. Don't we, boys?" he demanded as Mac and the Kid joined him in barring her flight.
"Most sincerely," said the Kid,
"I suppose we do," admitted Mac.

"And we most respectfully urge you to stay and have luncheon with us. Don't we, boys?" said Sir Arthur. "We do," came the response, this time

At this demonstration Belle's lips seemed undecided between a pout and a smile

-a most effective maneuver.

"Surely," said she, "this looks like true penitence. Even if it isn't, I'm awfully hungry.

They were making a most jolly lunch-eon of it. There was the Kid, who swallowed some very hot coffee without in the least minding, and all because some one smiled at him across the table. There was Mac, forgetful of lost dinners and occupied with the discovery that Belle was developing into an unusually attractive girl, even if she was his youngest sister; there was Sir Arthur, who fully agreed with Mac; also there was Belle herself, eating bacon and eggs and talk-ing to all three of her hosts at oncecheck making encourager of the Resolute Hermits. "Ah, I see!" said he grimly, after one "An, I see!" said ne grimly, after one sweeping glance at the festivities. "Might have known." And before any hermit could find voice he had stalked out through the door. Two of them caught him half way down the first flight and, after some argument, led him back.

when the door opened and in walked the

Perhaps it was because Belle was conscience stricken at the thought of the price the hermits must pay for her visitat any rate, under the magic of her poutat any rate, under the magic of her pouting lips and gray eyes, there was worked a marvel. "I'll be around at 6 o'clock to take you all out to dinner," whispered the bachelor uncle in the Kid's ear before leaving. "Then we'll all go to the theater, if the young lady likes,"
"Good for you, uncle," said the Kid, and added delefully "but we'll tear up

"Oh, oh! You!" Into these three three words Belle managed to put much asonishment. Then came an impulse to with a quick movement she with a quick movement she.

nent "No. 6," and Says It Is Peopled. Carsten Borchgrevink, the antarctic explorer, declares the sixth continent of the world lies at the south pole.

"As to polar exploration north and south," said he in a recent interview with the New York American and Journalcorrespondent at Vienna, "two things are above dispute to my mind: As the north pole is surrounded by water, so the south pole is surrounded by land I have the best reasons in the world to believe that one of my successors in south pole exploration, or myself, if I hurry, will find there continent No. 6. "And how large may this new Amer what do you base your calculations as to size?"

"Not on theory alone," replied Borchgrevink emphatically. "Here is the the oretical explanation. The earth is spherical or globular in shape—that is settled, is it not? Now, the northern hemisphere, as far as known, measures far more than the southern hemisphere, as far as known. Therefore, if there was not a great continent south of the pole how could the earth maintain its

AN EGG BY MAIL.

One Sent From St. Louis Safely Received In Chicago.

A genuine postal curiosity has been received in Chicago, says a despatch from that city. It is an ordinary raw hen's egg that traveled in safety from St. Louis to Chicago by ordinary post, and the strength of the state of and was delivered to the addressee in the usual manner. The curious par of the incident lies in the fact that the egg was absolutely uninjured in any manner whatever, notwithstanding the many times it was handled in transit. How it was ever accepted by the St Louis postoffice authorities is a mys-

It is easy to imagine what have would have been created should the egg have broken in the mail pouch while on its journey. At any rate, the egg was received precisely as it was transported, with the stamp canceled in the ordinary manner. in the ordinary manner.

Russian Censor Must Learn Hebrew. The mother of one of the Jewish surgeons who have been sent out from Warsaw to the war recently received from her son a letter which throws a characteristic light on the results of Russian censorship, says the London Times. The letter is written in the usual official Russian style and bears the stamp of the censor. It states that the writer is in good health, that admirable order prevails among the troops, who are certain of victory and are amply supplied with all necessaries and that there is so little illness that the army surgeons have scarcely anything to do. It concludes with a request that his mother should send him some Hebrew books, of which he gives the titles. These are "Famine and savings banks." Destitution," "Consequent Fearful Epi-Prisoner.'

Novel Names For Summer Homes. Fred Wilk and Fred Miller, business men of Chicago, are building fine nomes on a high bluff on Pistakee bay, says a special dispatch from McHenry, Ill., to the Chicago Post. Carolina is the first name of Mrs. Wilk, as it is also of Mrs. Miller. The bluff runs north and south on the bay, and one of the new cottages will be called North Carolina and the other South Carolina. Upward of $25,000 has been spent by Chicago and other owners of homes on the bay. The improvements have Stororororororororororor been made by dredging out the shallow places in the lake and filling up ow places on the shore. The rank growth of weeds and lily pads has been dug up by the roots, and scores of nomes now have deep water in front.

Class Yell of a Nurses' School. The Wichita (Kan.) Training School For Nurses recently graduated a class of ten students, says the Kansas City Star. Mrs. L. C. Jackson, president, presented the diplomas and ex-Governor Stanley presented the badges to the new nurses. The distinguishing feature of the class is its yell, the like of which few college classes ever had. It is as follows:

Staphylococcus, stuphtococcus,

Microbes all!
Sterilize and fumigate,
Watch them crawl!
Big germs, little germs,
Short and tall,

Fat germs, lean germs, We kill them all! Antisepsis, that's our call, We're the largest class of all!

Belonging to King Edward. Zebras as carriage horses and for riding purposes may soon be a common sight, for a recent experiment at the London zoo has demonstrated that these beautifully striped animals can be easily tamed and that they are even more docile and easily managed, when broken in, than the gentlest of ordinary horses, says the London Black and White.

After spending four hours in breaking in a zebra Captain Horace Hayes is able to ride it handily. His first pupil was Jennie, a nine-year-old zebra presented to King Edward by the Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia. When first led into the paddock she was fidgety and nervous. In order to soothe her Captain Hayes stroked her gently with a long rod. She stood quite still during this proceeding, seeming not to resent it in the least.

But when a man approached her with a halter she plunged and reared, racing madly around and around the paddock. Presently she quieted down, and the trainer got near enough to slip a rope around her right leg. She tried to kick it loose, but in doing so got her left leg entangled in it. She was thrown for ward on her front legs in a kneeling position and then, with a gentle push, sent rolling on her side. Her four legs were then bound with ropes until she was utterly helpless. For an hour she was left in this plight; then the ropes were removed from her feet, and she got up a meek and submissive crea-ridden. She makes an excellent saddle horse, intelligent, fast and thoroughly to be relied upon.

NO STUDENTS UNDER SIXTY.

Holders of Scholarships Have Only to Study and Enjoy Themselves.

No student less than sixty years of special dispatch.

The offices of the Home College company will be in Chicago. The incorporators are Dr. John Merritte Driver, pastor of the People's church; Hamilton White and Charles S. Northrup.

Students will purchase scholarships and will be freed from financial cares and stimulated to an enjoyment of their old age by studies along whatever lines they choose to take up. The purchase price of the scholarship pays for board, room, tuition, lecture, reading room and library privileges for life, with medical attendance and funeral expenses.

A man twenty years of age can buy a scholarship in advance for $15, to be entered upon after his sixtieth year, and a man of sixty can take out a paid up scholarship for $200. Premiums increase with the age of the applicant. If-death takes place before the age of sixty the money already paid on the scholarship will revert to the company.

Death List of Victims of Slocum Disaster Grows

Have Been Recovered--Section Bodies of Women Clinging to It--Captain, Pilots, Engineers year to year. and Crew to Be Detained

New York, June 20 .- Sunday's harvest of dead from the steamer Slocum numbered 41, bringing the total number of bodies so far recovered up to 624. Of these 559 have been identified, while 31 of the victims now lying at the morgue have not been claimed by friend or

While the list of missing has been cut down somewhat by identifications, 11 new names have been added to that roll, leaving the total of missing something more than 300.

Early Sunday morning the searchers began anew the work of locating the Slocum's dead. Within an hour they had recovered 13 bodies off the shore of North Brother island. Three of the bodies were found floating and it is the general opinion that many more will come to the surface during the week.

Of those recovered during the first hour one was a man, six women, two boys and four girls, one an infant. A Time, 37 seconds. life-saver, grappling from a raft, brought up a woman of 30 and a girl of 11 years locked in each other's arms. A few minutes later he brought the bodies of a boy 9 years old and a girl of 6, apparently brother and sister, clinging tightly to each other.

Divers who went to the wreck found the bodies of a woman, a girl and a boy and brought them to the surface. They were burned beyond recognition. The divers said that there were still more bodies in the wreck.

Three men working with an improvised grappler, consisting of a block of wood to which many blue-fish hooks were attached, drew up the section of the rail of the upper deck of the Slocum about 30 feet in length. The bodies of four women were clinging to the rail, the fingers gripping the interlaced wire roping. The funerals of nearly 100 victims of the disaster were held yesterday. In many instances two caskets were carried in the same hearse and in some cases two and even three, hearses bore away the dead of a single family. Department officials, for the purpose of obtaining evidence, yesterday went over the exact course taken by the General Slocum on Wednesday last. ILLINOIS RATHER SLOW

Hitt Boom Is Dying Out In Consequence--Senator Lodge, Who Has Drawn Up Principal Part of Platform, "Simply Dumb For the Time" -- Some Sentiment For Tariff Revision

Chicago, June 20.-The vice president and the tariff plank in the platform are the principal subjects of discussion among the delegates to the Re publican national convention. The state delegations will meet today to organize and select members of the various committees and it is expected that declaration will be made on the vice presidency which will determine who will be the candidate.

From present appearances Senator Fairbanks will be the choice, as a sufficient number of leaders have declared for him and announched the probable support of their delegations for him to indicate his selection. The Indiana senator remains non-committal as usual, his position being that the nomination can neither be sought or refused. The knowledge that the senator will not refuse has been communicated to the celegates and has largely increased the prospects of his

A movement for Representative Hitt seems to have been precipitated to some extent by those who felt that Fairbanks should make a declaration. Then, again, the Illinois men feel that, in view of the action of their state convention, they must make an earnest effort for Hitt. It is a fact, however, that the illness of Hitt at Washington has dampened the ardor of his sup porters, who acknowledge that this will work to his disadvantage.

There is no doubt expressed about the election of Secretary Cortelyou for chairman of the national committee, although many men prominent in the party are found who do not hesitate to privately express some disappointment that a more experienced politician was not chosen.

"It is not true," said Senator Galinger of New Hampshire, spreaking of the vice presidency, "that all New Engwas held in the church parlor Thursday land is for Hitt. On the contrary, I evening. Owing to the resignation of think the sentiment in the eastern Miss Edith Randall it was necessary to states for him is confined to Massachusetts. I know that New Hampshire is for Fairbanks and I am very confident that he will be nominated."

The Massachusetts delegation arived with an idea that Representative Hitt was their candidate for vice presi dent, but after the delegation had been ence. Several delegates said that the when it was at low ebb and has worked to work rather slowly and that it were

The influence of the Massachusetts other schools. Mr. Johnson the new delegates is being eagerly sought by superintendent has been connected with the various vice presidential candidates ten years and is well qualified for the town more than five minutes when he received a hurried call from Senator

The Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm and are favorable to Hitt excepting ex-Governor Long, who favors John Hay.

The attitude of Long alarms some of the leaders and there is more or less frigid atmosphere around when Long meets Lodge and Colonel Benton, the other delegate-at-large.

Several personal representatives of the president make the emphatic declaration that the president is positive in his determination to express no preference regarding the selection of his running mate. Both Senator Lodge and Secretary Root said this to all the delegates who approached them on the subject. Speaking for themselves, the close friends of the president say they do not doubt that Fairbanks would be acceptable to Roosevelt, but they are not willing that the president's name should be dragged in to assist the Indiana senator's nomination. Speaker Cannon last night officially candidate, and would not under any died later. conditions accept the nomination.

The mass of delegates apparently are giving comparatively little attention to the platform. The prevailing opinion is that the wishes of the president should be largely consulted on that point and the impression goes to the extent of believing that he has indigated his views to his particular friends. That Senator Lodge has drawn up the Gonic, Mass., and rifled the cash principal resolutions of the platform is drawer. They also carried away two generally conceded. "I have not a word to say about the platform," said Lodge, as he dived to the bottom of the most capacious valise that ever came to Chicago. There is some sentiment favorable to a declaration loooking to tariff revision, but the "stand patters" are holding their position with a tenacity that indicates a determination to oppose such a move.

The first sign of a fight in the comin the efforts of Senator Hansbrough Inn, Thursday, July 14. Some good mittee on resolutions came into sight of North Dakota to enlist recruits in speakers have been secured. favor of a declaration for revision of the tariff. The senator claims that in his interview with delegates and members of the national committee he has found a strong sentiment in favor of thing in the sporting goods line can be reciprocity, especially with Canada. The senator would not say that he expected to get such a plank into the platform, as he clearly understood that the "stand patters" are in control, and will be likely to have matters their own the insertion of a revision plank.

The La Follette people are making preparations for a desperate fight beexpect to carry on the struggle to the bitter end.

H. W. Chynoweth, who argued the case of La Follette before the national committee, said: "This is going to be a fight to a finish. There is to be no compromise and if the national convention follows the lead of the national committee we must make a final appeal to the voters of Wisconsin.

The California delegation arrived on a special train, which included a car oaded with the best fruit and wine that the state produces. There were 125 people in the party, and they marched from the depot to the Auditorium neaded by a brass band. J. W. McKinley, chairman of the delegation, said the state was rather favorable to Senator Fairbanks, but thought that he should declare himself more definitely than he has done.

The dast touches have been put to the convention hall and with the exception of the placing of a few potted plants as a part of the decorations it s now complete. Sergeant-at-Arms Stone and the members of the loca committee express themselves as being of the opinion that it is the best arranged hall in which a Republican convention has been held for many years.

Says It Won't Be Parker New York, June 20.-William J. Bryan has arrived in this city. Questioned as to the general situation, he

"The men who are opposed to Judge Parker's nomination will be in control in St. Louis. They will nominate the July parade here, refusing to march candidates and prepare the platform and it will not be the New York plat- fantry and the mil.tia and the British form, or the New York candidate." He added that he did not care to go into details in discussion of candidates or the contents of the platform. "I have already laid down certain fundamental principles as to the reason for not nominating one or two of for the place in the east," he added. "Olney, Cleveland and Parker all come within this class."

An Early Memorial System.

The primitive Indo-European numer-Ical system was a mixture of the decimal and the sexagesimal. The first large number was the "shock"-that ls, 60-and the next large number was the "hund," or "hundred"-that is, 120. Between 60 and 120 there were no humbers like our 70, etc., being "a shock and 10," and 80 being "a shock and 20." The introduction of our present numbers between 60 and 120 arose out of the introduction of the flecimal hund or hundred—that is, 100 in distinction from which the old hunfred (120) was called the duodecimal hundred, or the "great hundred," which is still used in Iceland and parts of England.

KAMIMURA IS CRITICISED

Not the First Time He Has Allowed the Enemy to Gain Suc-Squadron-Oku's Great Battles Japan.

Tokio, June 20.-The remarkable aid of the Russian Vladivostok squadton evidently is over. The squadron Aisappeared Saturday off Cape Hana- Boston 2 been reported since. It is assumed to be returning to Vladivostok.

Whether or not a portion of Vice Admiral Kamimura's squadron is awaiting the Russians off Vladivostok is a carefully guarded secret. Assuming hat Kamimura dispatched some of his island, those ships would have ample time to arrive there ahead of the Russians and be ready to give battle. The transports Sado, Hitachi and zumi were the only ones overhauled New York28 y the Russians. Japan had 13 transorts in and near the Strait of Korea the morning the Sado and the Hitachi were caught and she was fortunate that St. Louis23 24 vertaken by the enemy.

It is impossible to get complete facts concerning the sinking of the Hitachi. She evidently failed to stop when signalled to do so by the Russians. It is said that the Japanese officers on board the Hitachi declined to surrender and required Captain Campbell, the English master, to keep his ship going. The assertion that the Russians fired upon the lifeboats in which men were escaping from the Japanese transport has been substantiated.

The raid of the Vladivostok squadron has brought an unwarranted amount of criticism upon Vice Admiral Kamimura from the Japanese and his failure to catch the Russians in the fog off Gensan, on the coast of Korea, when the Japanese transport Kinshiu was sunk on April 26, with a loss of about 200 men, has been recalled. Some of these even declare that if Kamimura fails to catch the Russian vessels before they reach Vladivostok he should either résign from the navy or commit suicide. The popular demand for his displacement is growing, but the public is without information as to the nature of his orders or the plans of the naval campaign and fails to make allowances for the limitation of conditions.

Kamimura's squadron was lying off Tsu island when the raiding Russians reached Okino island. He immediately started in pursuit of the enemy, but rains obscured the sea and an electrical storm interfered with his system of wireless telegraphy. The only possible indictment against Kamimura is one of lack of good luck. The Russian raid was a desperate venture and it is believed here to have succeeded only through blind luck.

The Yawata and the Ansei, two sailing ships, were sunk by the Russians last Thursday off the west coast of Yezzo. Thirty-seven survivors reached Esashi on Thursday afternoon. This makes a total of five Japanese ships sunk or destroyed by the Russian General Oku, the victor of the battle of Nanshan Hill on May 26, fought and won the battle of Telissu (Vafangow, according to the Russian designation,) on June 15.

There is a strong similarity between the two fights. At Telissu the Japanese had to drive the Russians from two hills, while at Nanshan the enemy occupied one hill. The Russians' position at Telissu was superior to that of the Japanese and equalized the advantage of the Japanese in having a tended from east to west and crossed the narrow valley through which run the Foo Chou river and the railway. From their positions on the right and of Biondi. left in the high hills which flank this into the valley. The Japanese general carried first the enemy's right and then his left. The fight at the left of his line was the most desperate of the day. The Russians held this position with desperate determination and only fired when they were almost completely enveloped. The field had been disputed all day and when the Japanese that over-earnestness might have reached it 600 of the enemy's dead were

In his report General Oku says the Russians began the fight with 25 battalions of infantry, 17 squadrons of cavalry and 98 guns. They were reinforced several times, but the number of reinforcements is not known. The Russian casualties are not known with exactitude. Seven Russian officers and 300 men were taken prisoners. The Japanese casualties reported up to noon on June 15 amounted to about 900 men, including eight officers killed and 14 Decatur Edwards, pastor of Falmouth father in the cemetery here by blowing retiring to Japan and was carrying boats when the Russian fleet was sighted. The armored cruiser Gromo-boi signalled for the boats to approach. They complied and all were taken on board and confined between decks over night. Thursday morning the noncombatants were released and sent aboard the Japanese vessel Unko, which brought them to Maizum. The Russian vessels are reported to have sailed in the direction of Hokkaido.

"SICK FROM OVERWORK

Walbridge, Yale's Missing Student, Was In New York

New Haven, June 20.-Leonard K. Walbridge, the Yale junior for whom considerable anxiety was felt on account of his sudden disappearance from this city a week ago, returned to New Haven last night from New York, and by a strange coincidence it was less than an hour after his father, T. C. Walbridge, had announced that he would offer a reward of $500 for information which would lead to the location of his son.

The elder Walbridge stated, soon after he saw his son, that the latter had been in New York since he left New Haven a week ago Saturday. He said that his son was taken sick from overwork and that he considered it better not to inform his parents under those conditions.

Co-operative Bakery at the Hub Boston, June 20 .- As a result of the strike of the bakers in this vicinity, a co-operative bakery, owned and operated by Boston Bakers' unions 4 and 53, was opened last night. The bakery is incorporated under Massachusetts laws with a capital stock of $10,000 and gives employment to 25 bakers. Branch stores have been established in various parts of the city. When the strike was first declared 1400 men quit work. All but 280 have returned to work under the wage scale demanded by the union.

Former Secretary Root Tells What Republicans Have Accomplished Since the Cleveland Administration--Tariff Revisionists Will Get but Slight Concession From the Stand-Patters--Effort to Secure Incorporation of Anti-Polygamy Resolution Meets Opposition faces familiar at Republican conventions four, eight and twelve years ago is noted on every side. Men who have played leading roles in the art of making tickets and platforms, men whose personality, shrewdness or qualifications of persuasiveness have changed entire states or sections of the country are missed, notably the late Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, the late William J. Sewell of New Jersey and the late Senator Hanna. But the absence of the great men mentioned does not indicate that the cast for the play which opened at the Coliseum today has been reported $628 in the treasury. weakened. In the shoes of the men who have passed away are politicians equally astute, who have had their not be so well known in the national affairs and their names not as effective to conjure, but they are ready and competent to perform any task that offers. The only difficulty is that the task is not there.

The convention was called to order Chairman Payne of the national mmittee. Prayer by Rev. Timothy W. F. Cummings. . Frost of the First Methodist Epis copal church of Evanston, Ills., was followed by the reading of the call for the convention by Secretary Dover. Mr. Root was then introduced as temporary chairman.

In accepting the temporary chairmanship of the convention Elihu Root, former secretary of war, asked for a renewed expression of popular confidence in the Republican party, pointing to its past record as an assurance of the sincerity of its declarations and the fidelity with which it would give present administration had taken up the trust question in a practical, sensible way as a business rather than a political question, saying what it really meant, and doing what lay at its hand to be done to accomplish effective regula-

Touching upon the Philippine question he said that the last vestige of insurrection has been swept away. With their work accomplished, over 55,000 American troops have been brought back across the Pacific. Civil government has been established throughout the archipelago. Peace and order and fustice prevail.

The Republican party's part in establishing The Hague tribunal was reviewed. In the meantime forces which command respect have been augmented by bringing our navy to a high state of efficiency and exercising both army and navy in the methods of seacoast

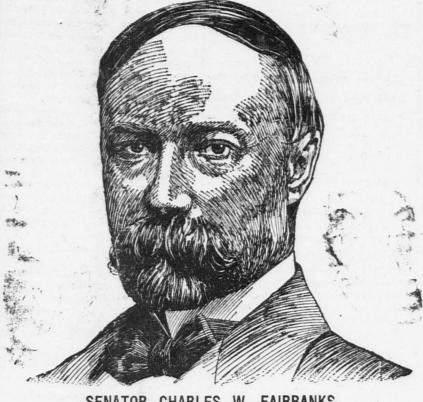

Mr. Root thus summed up the achievements since Mr. Cleveland's administration: The first administration of McKinley fought and won the war with Spain, put down the insurrection in the Philippines, annexed Hawaii, rescued the legations in Pekin, brought Porto Rico into our commercial system, enacted a protective tariff, and established our national currency on the firm foundations of the gold standard by the financial legislation of the 56th congress.

The present administration has re duced taxation, reduced the public debt, reduced the annual interest charge, made effective progress in the regulation of trusts, fostered business, promoted agriculture, built up the navy, reorganized the army, resurrected the militia system, inaugurated a new policy for the preservation and reclamation of public lands, given civil government to the Philippines, established the republic of Cuba; swung open the closed gateway of the isthmus, strengthened the Monroe doctrine, ended the Alaskan boundary dispute, protected the integrity of China, opened wider its doors of trade, advanced the principle of arbitration, and promoted peace among the nations.

New York, June 21 .- W. J. Bryan last night addressed the anti-Parker convention called by the radical Democracy of New York. Before making his address Bryan said he would not name his favorite candidate for president, but he attacked the "reorganizers" and vigorously opposed the nomination of Judge Parker, who was held up as the candidate of the corporations and not of the people.

Judge Seabury of the city court, who presided, spoke of l'arker as the candidate of the "plutocracy." He advised the meeting to repudiate Parker and urged the sending of a delegation to St. Louis to protest against his nomination and to assure the convention that if nominated he could not carry the state of New York.

The platform adopted at the meeting opened by condemning the expansion policy of the Republican administration. In speaking of state affairs the platform says that Judge Parker's nomination is discredited by the character of his sponsors; that neither he nor those who speak for him have presented his candidacy so as even to deserve success.

Mr. Bryan said in part: "I am entitled to say that the doctrines we cherish in the west are not so unpopular here. Some people here have said that people that you wanted David B. Hill. ROOSEVELT'S RUNNING MATE.

SETTLED BY NEW YORK

Her Seventy-Eight Votes Assure the Nomination of Fairbanks The nomination of Senator Charles W. Fairbanks for vice president was regarded as settled when New York decided to cast her 78 votes for him.

While it has seemed for some time Roosevelt's running mate, there have Fairbanks was the choice of most of that they want a declaration in favor be used to his disadvantage in the senate. Also, it is felt, there is the possibility that any declaration might materially injure the Republicans in several western states where there is a arge Mormon vote.

Several other suggestions not now contained in the prepared draft of the platform will be made. One of these declares for international arbitration. Another, urging that the interstate commerce commission be given more power to enforce its decisions, will be Considerable criticism has been diected at Fairbanks because of his failure to definitely declare his position. All that it has been possible to obtain from him was a statement that be did not consider the honor one which a man should seek or decline, and that if the party wanted him and needed him a candidate and would not allow the Indiana delegation to express itself in favor of his nomination. This attitude seemed to irritate some of the leaders, who saw no reason why the senator should not come squarely out with a formal statement.

REVISION OF TARIFF

Delegates In Favor of It Are Receiving but Slight Support The men who are to examine the platform, which has been in the posseshave been selected by the various state | tives. delegations, and there is practically no doubt but the declaration for protection will be emphatic and that there will be but little comfort for the tariff revisionists. A pledge to make changes in schedules when such changes are necessary is the only concession that will be made by the "stand-patters." Possibly the wording may be changed and those who have been talking revision will secure the use of the word "revised" to express the idea that is to be conveyed, but even this is considered doubtful. The majority are against having anything like a general revision of the tariff suggested and will contend for the words "changes in tariff schedules" when "conditions make it necessary" as ample to cover all that is intended by the Republican party. Senator Hansbrough, who intends to offer a provision for a revision declaration, has not received much support.

Some interest has been displayed in the effort that is being made to secure the incorporation of an anti-polygamy resolution in the platform. One prominent man who is a member of the resolutions committee said there could be no harm in a declaration against polygamy any more than in a declaration against bigamy. But Senator Smoot thinks that any declaration on the subject will

Position, Testiffies at Coroner's months of June and July, 1904. Inquiry-Barrel of Sperm Oil and Empty Oil Barrels In Room Where Fire Broke Out -- Part of Crew Ordered to Free | CORRECT PIANO TUNING AND Life Preservers and Boats

New York, June 21.-The death list of those who perished on the General Slocum is growing at an alarming rate. Bodies came to the surface yesterday off the shores of North Brother island singly and in groups of twos and threes until at dusk 93 additional had been re covered. Every passing steamer seemed to churn up the water to such a degree that with its wash one or more bodies would be swept onto the beach. Between the hours of and 6 in the afternoon 45 bodies, some of them badly mutilated, were taken ashore by the searching party.

This brings the total number of bodies recovered up to 725, and yet there are M. L. TIRRELL, Adams Building. something like 300 persons unac counted for. A number of these are among the unidentified lying at the morgue and over on North Brother island, and the "unrecognizable" that have been buried in the Lutheran cemetery on Long Island.

The coroner's inquiry into the disas ter has begun. Among those examined were President Barnaby of the Knickerbocker Steamboat company, Secretary Atkinson of the company, Mate Flanagan of the Slocum and several mem bers of the crew.

Edward Flanagan, mate for the last two seasons on the Slocum, who hired Put in while you wait. Warranted two years the forward cabin where the fire broke out was used to keep old lines and worn-out awnings and brooms in. He had one barrel of sperm oil there and there were some empty barrels that had contained oil.

"Were there any arrangements to turn steam into the lower deck?"

"Not to my knowledge." Flanagan denied any knowledge of the "false" washer which blocked the fire hose.

"Who coiled up that hose?" "I don't know. It was always coiled that way."

"But this was new hose?" "There was new hose on board. don't know if the new hose was used PAINTER. GLAZIER. forward or not."

"What happened to your memory? Nothing, but I have been through a good deal." Flanagan said that as soon as he 15 Orchard Place, off Spear Street, was aware of the fire he notified the captain by calling up the tube. He did not wait for any answer but went to the engineers to give him water. "What orders did you give your men? "None up to that time. When I got back from the engineers I manned the pipes. Then when the water pressure came a coupler blew off and the hose burst. I then ordered some of the mer upstairs to free the life preservers and lower the lifeboats. Then we tried to reach the other standpipe, but we could not pass the flames.' Flanagan said he was present when the special inspection took place, but he did not accompany the inspectors on sentatives of Jeffries and Munroe last their rounds. He knew, he said, that 10 night each placed $2500 with Harry or 20 of the life preservers were or Corbett as a guarantee that the pu-dered down by one of the inspectors gillsts will appear in the ring here in the He declared that all the preservers were stamped 1891.

"Were any life rafts thrown over after the fire broke out?" he was asked. "I don't know," was the answer. "Were the lifeboats lowered?"

"I don't think so." To United State's District Attorney Wise, Flanagan said he had no license as either master or mate. His duties of a total of 14 points Princeton secured were to take charge of the deck crew. "Did you ever have a fire drill?" asked Mr. Wise.

Flanagan placed his hands on his forehead and then replied: "Not to my memory. I did not keep track." "Did you ever see the fire hose un coiled since the season opened?" "Not to my memory. I don't recall it. I have been very sick."

Flanagan said he never counted the life preservers aboard, but he was confident that more than the 2500 called for were aboard and in easy reach of the passengers. In his opinion the life preservers were in first-class condition. He said two or three inspectors A Full Assortment of Everything in made the inspection of the Slocum in May last. Commissioner Knowlion, in reply to Councilman Stone-The apparatus the building has never been increased one large one. but some of the rooms had been cut up. The larger part of his business for twelve years had been pulling out the Smead system. The gravity system is the proper thing. The present system can be made effective by adding another boiler but it will not give air necessary. It was bad business to make repairs every year.

Councilman Bass-It will cost $400 per year to borrow this $10,000. The argument of saving coal should not be given weight.

Councilman Hughes-If we are to get any benefit this order should not be delayed. The present system burns 350 tons of coal. He believed 150 tons of coal could be saved every year by new system besides $300 or $400 annual expense for repairs of old system.

Councilman Langelier-The best thing to do is to rip out this system and put in new one. The Smead system was the best when it was put in, but few buildings now have it. The company has gone out of existence.

Councilman Whiton could see no harm in recommitting. No one knows that we can save 150 tons of coal by new system. If money can be saved by using old system, I say, let us do it.

Councilman Stone- The gravity system will pay for itself in ten years.

In reply to a question, Commissioner Knowlton said no plans had been made. He should advertise for bids and should The Quincy Yacht club will start on then determine which system would produce best results at least expense. He believed best results could be obtained from the fan system.

THE READING CURE.

Books as a Medicine In Cases of Mental Distress.

One could wish that the doctor of medicine occasionally called in the doctor of letters in cases of mental distress. There is a tonic quality in books, properly chosen, which is as beneficent to the mind as change of scene or doses of flat water. People do not realize that the shortest way from the quagmire of the modern unrest is a total forgetfulness of self, and few know that the healthiest nepenthe is to be found in reading. The word disease signifies the negation of ease, and most forms of neurotic sickness are a deliberate effort on the part of the invalid to make himself uneasy. If doctors were to prescribe a course of Cervantes or Moliere or Balzac or Sterne or Dickens or even Shakespeare and as strictly enjoin thoroughness in this course as they would if the treatment were a matter of diet or medicine, many of their patients would begin to mend from the first moment that these magicians had given them a forgetfulness of self. It is true that Poe declares in the "Raven" "vainly I had sought to borrow from my books surcease of sorrow," but the opinion of the world is overwhelmingly against him. Good reading is a forgetfulness of cares, and, by the same token, it is an education in all those qualities which make life sweet and greatly to be desired. It is the valetudinarian who most constantly tells one, petulantly enough, that he never reads books.-London Globe.

Suddenly there came the report of gun, fired by one of his sentries. Captain Kenly ran to the place, having seen no enemy, and found the sentry, a Georgian, coolly reloading his musket.

"How dare you fire your gun?" exclaimed the angry captain. "The whole division will be aroused."

Even as he spoke the long roll of the drums came floating down the wind. The sentry saw plainly enough the trouble he had got into, but he answered: "Well, captain, you see I was so tired and sleepy that to keep myself awake I kept pointing my gun at a duck I saw on the river, and I thought how I would like to whisper to it, and, hang it, I forgot the gun was cocked and away she went."

The man escaped with a sharp reprimand from General Quitman, who sent him word that if he ever "whispered" again without orders it would be all over with him.

A TRIBUTE TO M'KINLEY

Spasmodic Demonstration When Dead President's Name Was Linked With That of Hanna-Mention of Roosevelt Brought Hearty, Though Not Prolonged, Applause--Practically Unanimous Belief That Fairbanks Will Be Named For Vice President--Little Chance of Any Immediate Tariff Revision

Chicago, June 22.-Without a dis turbing element to impede its smooth operation, the first day's program of the national convention was carried out like clockwork. It was an assembly of non-combative delegates which carried into effect, without the thunderous demonstration usually attendant upor political conventions, a purpose that had been clearly defined.

An organization was perfected preparatory to the adoption of a platform and the making of nominations in the succeeding days of the convention. From the quiet, yet unmistakeable enthusiasm provoked by Senator Fairbanks' arrival at the Coliseum, his nomination for vice president is but little less assured than the nomination of Theodore Roosevert for president.

The keynote to the campaign of 1904 was sounded by Elihu Root in his speech as temporary chairman. His address was a review of the accomplishments of the present administration and a defense of the Republican policies in general. When that had been delivered and the various working committees dispatched to their labors the business of the first day's ses sion was complete.

Another picture was presented by the opening day, so different from the customary convention scene as to at tract marked attention. It was the failure of the delegates and the spectators to warm to the spirit of the occasion Mention of President Roosevelt was responded to with hearty, though not prolonged, applause. The lack of contest eliminated the necessity for enmild cheering and rather listless handclapping which was the greeting given impartially to national figures of the party was all, probably, that could be expected under the circumstances.

convention was evidenced by the large number of spectators' seats vacant. Seats at former Republican conventions usually brought a premium. Speculators offered them yesterday, but there were few takers and as the hour approached for the convention to assemble they sold them for a song. The wilderness of vacant seats was in the at the bank for verification during the gallery and on the Mezzanine floor, where not more than two-thirds of the chairs were occupied. The first floor was well filled. The picture was one of good order, where sergeants-at-arms and policemen were not needed.

The incidents which are destined to live long after the spasmodic demonstrations have been forgotten are Mr. Root's tributes to President McKinley. The temporary chairman spoke of the late president's administration of progress, his gentleness of character and those qualities so beloved by the nation, and in that connection said feelingly: "And with McKinley we remember Hanna."

new cruiser Des Moines, built at Quincy, and now at the New York navy yard. The Globe says she will proceed to Guantanamo and report to Rear Admiral Sigsbee, commander in chief of the Caribbean sea division of the north Atlantic fleet. The Des Moines will then relieve the cruiser Montgomery at Colon and will later be relieved by the Denver. Soon after being relieved by the Denver, the Des Moines will have her final endurance trial, and if satisfactory will then cross the Atlantic, where she will join Rear Admiral Chadwick's European squadron.

MT. WOLLASTON.

Relocation of Wall and Entrance Improvements Contemplated.

The grading of the land between Mt. Wollaston cemetery and Sea street, as called for by the order reported to the City Council is an improvement that has been much needed ever since the location of Sea street was changed.

The main entrance to the cemetery is now anything but attractive. In fact it is very unsightly. Not only are the embankments on both sides of the driveway rough and uneven but the drive itself is of fine sandy gravel so that in wet weather it is almost impossible for a pair of horses to pull a hack through it.

The plan as proposed by the entrance gate where it now is, but to remove the stone wall on the old line to the present line of Sea street and then grade the land between. Aside from According to Bulletin No. 9 of the this it is proposed to macadam the

If the Soldiers' Monument in the cemetery could be placed in a triangle in front of the entrance, or near the Unknown lot", it would be another improvement which would be appre-

SLOCUM INQUEST

POOR HOSE ON STEAMER

Pilot Paid but Sixteen Cents a Foot For New Material--Had Been No Fire Drill on Boat This Year-Bookkeeper Made Erasures on Bills In Payment For Life Preservers

New York, June 22.-Evidence of a startling nature, which doubtless will have an important bearing on the ultimate result of the coroner's inquiry into the General Slocum disaster, was forthcoming at the inquest.

Perhaps the most unexpected incident was the continued refusal to answer questions of Henry Lundberg, a United States steamboat inspector, who was supposed to have inspected the life preservers and the hull of the illfated steamer. His refusal was based on the ground that an answer might tend to incriminate him and he acted on the advice of his counsel. The coroner committed Lundberg to the house of detention, but later accepted $500 bail for his appearance at the hearing later, which was satisfactory to the assistant district attorney.

Second Pilot Weaver of the Slocum testified that he had purchased the fire hose for that boat, and Mr. Garvan introduced evidence to show that the percent, or 16 cents a foot net.

"Don't you know that you can't buy good fire hose for less than $1 or $1.50 a foot?"

DAMAGE BY LIGHTNING

Storm Plays Havoc In Different Parts of New England

Boston, June 22.—An electrical storm which visited this section yesterday afternoon did considerable damage in neighboring towns and cities, although its effects were not serious within the city limits. Telephone lines, telegraph, electric light and other wires Point. were put out of commission for a time, delaying street car service for several hours and causing great excitement. Several persons were prostrated by lightning shocks. The storm was very severe in Waltham, the heavy downpour of rain flooding the streets and eausing much damage to property.

Lewiston, Me., June 22.-During a severe electrical storm lightning struck a barn on the Webster road, in which have been waiting for. Napoleon Dutil, his son, Anede, and Amos LeClair, another boy, had taken refuge. All three were burned. The elder Dutil is in a critical condition. The right side of his body was badly scorched. His son was removed to a hospital. The other boy escaped with slight burns. Portland, Me., June 22.-During a heavy thunder storm at Yarmouth a bolt entered the house of John Brown, and his daughter Gertrude, aged 16, was struck by it. It is feared her left side is paralyzed. Several trolley cars were struck during the storm and considerably damaged.

July Magazines.

The most sensational feature any American magazine has captured in rears is Thomas W. Lawson's "Frenzied Copper," which begins in the July ssue of Everybody's Magazine, Mr. Lawson was one of the organizers of hat gigantic corporation, and he knows exactly what happened to the millions that were lost through its manipulation. His first article is an announcement of distinctly dramatic interest and promises revelations of the highest importance to everyone in the country.

The July number contains the first part of a new serial story, entitled "The Princess Passes," by C. N. and A. M. Williamson, the authors of that very successful novel, "The Lightning Conductor." Like the latter book, this new story deals with "love, the open road, humor, France, Spain, Italy and -automobiles." A story of tender sentiment and much dramatic interest 4 is "The Heart of a Geisha," by Colgate th; Baker, with color illustrations by Robert Blum.

State pride figured strongly in the convention. Each state had its friends in the galleries who showered plaudits on their great men as they entered the hall. The floor filled with delegates so rapidly that many prominent figures slipped in unnoticed. Among these than any other man. Before the gathering was called to order by Chairman Payne of the national Republican committee, Senator Lodge moved about among the delegations and his ear was sought frequently by embryonic platform makers. The Massachusetts senator never stopped long enough, however, to grow intimate.

The first speech at the convention was by Senator Scott, who informally presented to Chairman Payne a beautiful gavel. It was the gift of the citizens' committee of Chicago, which cooperated with the national sub-committee in making arrangements for the convention. Later Greame Stewart, member of the national committee from finnois, on behalf of the Chicago committee, presented a similar gavel to Temporary Chairman Root.

It was left to Governor Van Sant of Minnesota to first place the president's name before the convention. He found the occasion in presenting to the convention a table which had been built by the Manual Training school connected with the South Minneapolis high school. The applause was general, but not long continued, and in that set a precedent which was followed in succeeding demonstrations.

The program of the convention was not of a nature to attract more than ordinary interest. The matter of Root asked for a ruling on the question | that point. of calling the names of the new posdelegates from Porto Rico.

Many Troops Had Refused to Leave Vessels After Due Warning--British Steamer Captured, the Neutrality of Her Cargo Being Doubted

St. Petersburg, June 22.-Emperor Nicholas has received the following dispatch from Vice Admiral Skrydloff, dated June 21:

On June 12 our squadron, consisting of the eruiser Rossia, flying the flag of Vice Admiral Bezobrazoff, and the cruisers Gromoboi and Rurik, left to assume the offensive against the maritime communications of the Japanese army. The squadron returned to port on June 20.

Its commander reports that on the morning of June 15 the cruisers sighted a ship which the Gromoboi was ordered to capture. The ship proved to be the transport Izumi. In spite of repeated orders to stop she refused to do so until she had been struck by several shells. She then stopped and men began to jump overboard. The Gromoboi then signalled for those on board to quit the ship, which was done, the crew leaving in two boats. These, together with those who had jumped overboard and who were picked up by boats from 3000 tons, was then sunk by our guns. tiful lake resorts among the pinelands and entering at Milton. Case continued until Among the 105 taken on board the Gromoboi were 17 officers.

After the sinking of the transport two more steamers were sighted by the Gromoboi and they were chased. They proved to be the transports Sado and Hitachi, each of 6000 tons. SOCIETY TO UPLIFT LABOR.

George H. Center, a miner of Duquoin, Ill., has gained considerable distinction by founding an order for the uplifting of people in general and miners in particular, says a dispatch from Duquoin. "It reaches men," says Mr. Center, "that the churches can't reach and that the secret societies won't have."

The order is known as the Knights and Ladies of the Cross, and so great has been its success in Duquoin that Mr. Center has decided to send out general organizers. The order has 340 members, 200 of whom are miners. The members bind themselves to meet their fellow members as equals, not to injure one of them, not to gamble or carry concealed weapons and to use their influence against the use of alcoholic drinks. Mr. Center says few of the members fall, and that when they do they are helped up and on agan.

Outsiders at Duquoin are astounded from the gutter, and he is almost an object of worship by the families of many men and by the men themselves whom he has helped to their feet.

There are three degrees in the order -Faith, Hope and Charity-the first of which is public. The order maintains a public reading room at a cost of $1,200 a year, which is paid from voluntary contributions and money raised by giving socials and entertainments. No dues are asked of the members and there is no initiation fee.

Mr. Center's personality is out of the ordinary. He began work in a coal mine at St. John's, north of Duquoin, thirty-eight years ago, when he was eleven years old, and mining has been his life work. He is now manager of two mines owned by a coal and coke

JAPANESE PATRIOTISM.

A Sample of It Described by George Kennan.

The patriotism of the Japanese peo ple strikes even an American as some thing extraordinary and phenomenal, says George Kennan in a recent issue of the Outlook. I have seen women stick little cotton flags in the fists of the babies on their backs and stand for hours beside a railroad track waiting for a trainload of troops, satisfied if they could only throw a package of cheap cotton towels into an open window or even wave their handkerchiefs once to the men who were going to the front. Soldiers who bid their friends or their families goodby bid them goodby forever, with the expectation and the assurance of death. A few days ago an English lady living on the "bluff" in Yokohama received a letter from a Japanese boy who had been employed in her house as a servant and who had gone to Korea with the first reserves. After giving her some news of his health and his movements he concluded by saying, in quaint and imperfect English:

Please remember that, though I will die, Nippon Teikoku (Great Japan) should have victory and honor. Youth who un-fear death, HIRO YAMAMOTO. Of such "youth who unfear death' are the armies of Japan made up, and behind them is the flaming patriotism

Ethan Allen has for years held up his hand in token of silence as he has listened to the cooing of wingless doves that for years have held their spooning matches at the base of his pedestal. Now all will be changed. The edict has gone forth that courting days on the state house steps must end. To those who heed the warning all will be well. But the one who disobeys may be awakened rudely from "love's young dream" by "brass buttons," and instead of the honey tones of his beloved he may hear a raucous voice saying, "Five dollars and costs and stand committed till the same is paid," when his case comes up in police court.

Exploit of Cossacks.

Two wounded Cossacks, each wearing the cross of St. George, who recently arrived at Liaoyang, tell a thrilling story of the fight near Takushan. Thirty-nine Cossacks were sent to reconnoiter the enemy's position, and when about five miles from Takushan they were suddenly surrounded by Japanese. The Cossacks charged with lances and were met with a volley from the Japanese which resulted in the dropping of twenty horses, the killing of two Cossacks and the wounding of six. The dismounted Cossacks scrambled behind their comrades' saddles. With nearly every horse in the command carrying two men the Cossacks charged three times, and, although covered with wounds, they cut their way out and rejoined the sotnia.

"UNCLE JOE'S" GREAT DAY

Aroused Delegates to High Pitch of Enthusiasm

Platform Outlines Its Accomplishments Since the Cleveland Administration -- Says Tariff Can Be Safely Entrusted to Republican Congress and Republican President--A Plank Looking to Reduction of Representation of Certain Southern States In Electoral College and In Congress--Pledge of Efforts to Obtain Rights For American Citizens Abroad

Chicago, June 23.—Because Speaker Joseph G. Cannon was the central figure the second day's proceedings of the Republican national convention took a picturesqueness and demonstrativeness which on Tuesday was looked for in vain. From the moment he was escorted to the platform to wield the gavel as the permanent chairman, the entire atmosphere of the convention changed. Enthusiasm which had lain dormant burst forth and the applause rang true and hearty. He made a speech and the audience cheered whether he spoke jocularly or in serious vein. He was the entertainer; in fact, he was the

The second day of the convention might have been the close had it been the desire of the assembled delegates. Early in the day a movement was inaugurated to proceed with the nominations, but the original program, which was prepared to extend over three days, prevailed and the standard bearers for the 1904 Republican campaign will be named formally today.

Live party enthusiasm aroused by he hearty reception given "Uncle Joe" on the floor of the convention.

Senator Foraker offered an amendment increasing the number to six delegates. The opposition came from supporters Representative Bingham, chairman of the rocks and waited for the tide to the committee. He proposed that the rise. delegates from Hawaii, but that the six delegates already seated should not be disturbed. It was carried by a vote of 497 to 490.

The report of the committee on credentials interested the convention only so far as it dealt with the Wisconsin situation. Senator McComas, chairman of the committee, read a report of the investigation of the contest. He took the delegates into the confidence of the committee and explained in detail that a thorough canvass was made into the merits of the contest, despite the fact that the contestants had withdrawn their claims on the ground that fair treatment could not be had. He said the imputation was directed at the convention itself and, though resented was exhaustive and patient. The report closed with a declaration that the "stalwart" faction, led by Senators Spooner and Quarles, Representative Babcock and Emil Beansch, the four delegates-at-large, is the regular Republican party in Wisconsin.

One of the remarkable features concerning the adoption of the platform tional interest for many weeks and was accepted without dissenting vote. The announcement of the permanent organization for the convention started the continuous demonstration which followed the introduction of Speaker Cannon as permanent chairman. He was escorted to the platform by a committee consisting of John D. Long, Senator Cullom and Representative Burton of Ohio. The temporary and permanent chairmen met in the centre of the stage, where they clapsed hands. At this moment the applause was deafening, the convention rising to its feet. Still clasping his hand, Root led Cannon to the edge of the platform and introduced him to the convention as the

New York, June 23 .- That the illfated steamer General Slocum had no the Knickerbocker Steamboat company at the inquest. Miss Hall, the bookkeeper of the company, had testified Slocum, and substituted that of the latter. Notwithstanding this, counsel for the company said they would make the admission as to the age of the belts, as they were unable to prove to the contrary. Evidence was also brought out that the United States inspectors did not examine the fire hose and standpipes, and that the preservers were not in good shape.

Rev. George Schultz, who was on the steamer, said he attempted to put on a life belt, but that the strap broke and he threw it away as useless.

Benjamin F. Conklin, chief engineer Somebody in New Haven wants to of the Slocum, said there had been no the equipment of the Slocum favorably compared with that of any excursion boat in the harbor.

While every other industry has prospered under the fostering aid of Republican legislation, American shipping engaged in foreign trade in competition with the low cost of construction, low wages and heavy subsides of foreign governments has not for many years received from the government of the United States adequate encouragement of any kind. We therefore favor legislation which will encourage and build up the American merchant marine and we cordially approve the legislation of the last congress which created the merchant marine commission to investigate and report upon this subject.

A navy, powerful enough to defend the United States against any attack, to uphold the Monroe doctrine and watch over our commerce is essential to the safety and the welfare of the American people. To maintain such a navy is the fixed policy of the Republican party. and a Renewal of Pledges

Fifty years ago the Republican party came into existence dedicated among other purposes to the great task of arresting the extension of human slavery. In 1860 it elected its first president. During twenty four of the forty years which have elapsed since the election of Lincoln the Republican party has held complete control of the government. For eighteen more of the forty-four years it has held partial control through the possession of one or two branches of the government, while the Democratic party during the same period has held complete control for only two years. This long tenure of power by the Republican party is not due to chance. It is a demonstration that the Republican party has commanded the confidence of the American people for nearly two generations to a degree never equalled in our history, and has displayed a high capacity for rule and government which has been made even more conspicuous by the incapacity and infirmity of purpose shown by its opno-

Platform Adroit and Strong

London, June 23 .- The Times, the only London morning paper which prints an editorial on the platform adopted by the Republican national convention at Chicago, says that the platform bears the stamp of the individuality of President Roosevelt and excites admiration for its adroitness as well as for its strengh. "What the judgment of the people will be," says The Times, "it will be neither prudent nor polite at present to forecast, but be it what it may, it must determine great issues, not for the United States alone but for civilized mankind."

The Republican party entered upon its present period of complete supremacy in 1857. We have every right to congratulate of the party which carried the government through the storms of civil war.

We then found the country after four years of Democratic rule in evil pileptic oppressed with misfortume and doubtful of the future. Public credit had been lowered, the statute books by the Republican party, which has always sustained it, and we repeated to the event of the future. Public credit had been lowered, the standard of values was threatened and uncertain, labor was unemployed, business was sunk in the depression which had succeeded the panic of 1803, hope was faint and confidence was gone conditions vigor.

We met these unlappy conditions vigor.

We met these unlappy conditions vigors was sunk in the depression which had succeeded the panic of 1803, hope was faint by the administration of the pension laws. We commend the vigorous efforts made principles and garnished with sectional protection by a consistent protective tariff, and industry, freed from oppression and simulated by the encouragement of wise laws has expanded to a degree never before known, has conquered new markets and has created a volume of the pension and in the convergence of istrations of President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

Graduated.

Address by Frederick Manley on "Ideals and Industrialism."

Wednesday evening was made to order for the graduation exercises of the Class of 1904, Woodward Institute. It was oppressively hot up to 6 P. M. but the sea turn made it a very comfortable evening, and the program made it an evening of pleasure and profit.

"Spera semper," the motto of the class, was displayed in large white letters, on a green background over the platform, and was the only decoration. In English it means "Hope ever," and is an excellent motto for a class.

As usual the march of the pupils into the hall was a feature of the program. The young ladies all in white made a pretty scene, and they marched well. Musical numbers by the school, under the direction of Mr. John D. Buckingham, opened the program, and were even more pleasing than usual. The group included:

Nymphs and Shepherds, Henry Purcell Anton Strelezki Berceuse, Violin obligato by Dr. Robert Porter. La Carita. Giacomo Rossin

Solo by Miss Mary Celina Beliveau. The graduates then marched to the platform, when Principal Plummer in troduced Mr. Frederick Manley of Cambridge, the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Manley is a young man who has obtained considerable prominence by his lectures on literature, and this evening spoke on "Ideals and Industrial ism." To attempt to give the essence of the address in a brief report would do Mr. Manley an injustice. He said at the outset that his subject suggested Removed to Room 23 a problem to which we should give our country is that we grow old too early. We should not bury the child in our life, but youth should be perennial. We should have ideals and try to be an influence.

In presenting the diplomas Rev. Ellery C. Butler, the chairman of the board of directors, did not address the graduates. As the names of the graduates were called individually, each One of the show windows in the stepped forward and received her ploma. Each received applause and many had beautiful bouquets presented.

The class ode was not sung this year, as in the past, but was read by the author, Miss Alice L. Claffin, and was a literary gem in keeping with the Mrs. L. H. Austin is gradually re- address of Mr. Manley. There was a covering and was able to be out-of-freedom and strength which was unusual in class odes. It was as follows:

Thrashing the sea! Fling out the spray to the lowering skys, Shriek in the craig where the wild eagle cries, Battle the clouds till their thundering dies; I fear not thee!

Pour out the wrath of thy terrible might, Storming the sea? Scatter the stars in thy furious flight.

Rage o'er the deep in the b'ast of the night: I heed not thee! On, o'er the sea! Daring the wind and the wave and the dark,

In the art roon there was a merito rious exhibit which many viewed after the exercises. It includes drawings

This evening the graduating reception will be held at the Institute hall. and will be a grand social event.

Ten Thousand Persons Participated In Ratification of Party Program -- "Uncle Joe" Cannon Waves Banner Used In Every Convention Since 1860, While Vast Multitude Swayed In Exact Measure and Went Wild With Enthusiasm -- Senator Dolliver Nominates Senator Fairbanks For Vice President, Giving an Eloquent Endorsement of Indiana Candidate

Chicago, June 24.—The swift, sure current of public opinion, for the second time in the history of Republican conventions, resulted in the selection of a national ticket without a dissenting voice. Theodore Roosevelt for president and Charles W. Fairbanks for vice president received every vote

Regardless of the fact that the nomination of one had been assured for nonths and the other for days the anouncement of the choice was accomwhich attested the candidates' popuarity. The cheering was led by figures known through the breath of the ness the crowning feature, as well as the close of the national convention which marks the semi-centennial of the Republican party in the United

No less than 10,000 men and women participated in the ratification of the party program, and the consequent roar of cheering and hand-clapping was deafening. The band, stationed high among the girders of the hall, was drowned by the tumultuous, unbounded demonstration. Hats were tossed in the air, state emblems were waved and flags fluttered from every and as though stirred by a gale. When Former Governor Black of New York made his speech nominating Theodore Roosevelt to succeed himself as president, the delegates in the Republican convention proved there is no absence of enthusiasm in their ranks when occasion justifles exhibition of that quality. For 25 minutes the great throng told its approbation of the convention's choice for president. The name of Roosevelt came from every throat. The New York delegates paraded the hall shouting at the tops of their vioces. Other delegations joined the procession and the well-ordered body of half an hour before was a shifting mass, every semblance of organization gone. While the demonstration was at its height Chairman Cannon stepped to the front of the stage. He held in his hand the banner which was waved in 1860 when Lincoln was nominated and which has been used in every convention since. The flag showed the wear and tear of many similar contests. "Uncle Joe" waved it vigorously and kept time with his body. Soon the whole convention was swaying in exact measure.

The chairman tired and his place was taken by a young man who grasped the flag-staff firmly in one $20 up to $60 hand and, with a megaphone, led the velling. He started the call "Rooseyelling. He started the call "Roosevelt, Roosevelt, Roosevelt," repeated over and over again with the system of a college yell. It was taken up by the throng and the cry of Roosevelt rang over the hall in volume so great and so terrific that the sounds of a hundred steam whistles would have been dwarfed in comparison. The delegates in their eagerness to exhibit approval of the nomination accepted every signal for renewed cheering. A little colored boy from Georgia and later a pretty little girl, dressed in a dainty frock of white, were lifted to the platform, and they waved flags with as much vigor as their more lusty preceptor. At the conclusion of every second-

nominated for vice-president there

The convention laughed, and so did Knight. The orator from the Golden Gate city had the convention with him from the first. His speech was pointed, and he proved himself a maker of phrases. Of the canal and the reasons actuating the administration in taking the policy it did, Mr. Knight, in conclusion, said of President Roosevelt: "He wanted to give a job to Uncle Sam. Uncle Sam wanted the job, and he took it. And Uncle Sam belongs to the Union."

Mak to and from the peninsula of the rostrum that projected into the auditonal republican convention has presented to the world a moral spectacle of extraordinary interest and significance. It is a fine thing to see thousands of men, representing millions of people, fighting in the political arena for their favorite candidates and contending valiantly for the success of contradictory principles and conflicting doctrines. Out of such a contest, with its noise and declamation, its flying banners, its thunder of the captains and the shouting, the truth often secures a vindication and the right man comes out victorious. Sometimes, however, wisdom is lost in the confusion, and more than once we have seen the claims of leadership swallowed up in contention and strife.

The seconding speeches following that of Knight were made by Harry S. Edwards of Georgia, former Governor Bradley of Kentucky, J. B. Cotton of Minnesota and H. S. Cummings of Maryland. Cummings is one of the colored delegates, and he told of the colored man's service to the Republican party and his interest in President Roosevelt.

The roll was called and the unanimous votes of delegations recorded for Roosevelt without incident until the name of New Jersey was reached.

At intervals of four years I followed the samer of James G. Blaine through the streets of our convention cities, from Chinat to Minneapolis, and did my full share to see that nobody got any more applianse than the great popular leader for the ground to vote. Not even his defeat served to diminish the hold which our champion had upon the hearts of those who followed him, and it has required a good deal of experience to enable them to understand the lesson of his defeat. Other conventions have ment to settle the fate of rival chieffains; we meet to record the United States. They have not concluded that we have the greatest president of the United States since Washington. CHAIRMAN CORTELYOU

Glad to Receive Advice, but Will Not Accept Dictation

George B. Cortelyou was unanimously chosen chairman of the Republican national committee at a meeting held just after the adjournment of the convention.

In thanking the committee for the honor, he told the members that while he would be glad to have the benefit of their advice and counsel, he intended to be chairman in fact, and would accept no dictation from any one, high or low. He told them that the friends of the late Chairman Hanna were his friends, and he asked for the same measures of confidence and support that had been given to the last chairman. In conclusion, he sought the advice of both old and new members.

Mr. Colrtelyou made no formal state ment of his plans. He resigned as sec retary of commerce and labor as soon as he was elected chairman, the resignation to take effect as soon as his successor qualifies, which will be about July 1. Secretary Cortelyou will not give any active time to political matters until he retires from the cabinet.

Mr. French is a grandson of the late Abram French of Boston, and a brother of Mrs. Edward Andrews Clark of Jamaica Plain, and Mrs. Asa Churchill of Milton Hill. Miss Gannett is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gannett of Milton. Mrs. Gannett gave a delightful reception Wednesday afternoon of this week for Miss Margaret and her friends, who came from Milton, Quincy Newton, Canton and nearby towns. Among those who assisted were Miss Ella Wattles of Canton, Miss Gertrude Babcock of Quincy and Miss Helen Gray, Miss Louise Wright, Miss Cora Cummings, and Miss Grace Pierce of Sloyd Exhibition.

It is desired to call attention to the exhibition in the windows of Hearn's drug store, City Square, of articles made during the past winter by members of the winter sloyd class of the Quincy Home Science Association.

Mr. Hearn most generously offered the use of his window and the Home Science Association gladly availed itself of the opportunity to show specimens of the excellent work done by boys under 14 years of age who have been working during the winter, giving up an hour each Saturday morning to the work, some since early in December; others entering the class later and so having had fewer lessons.

The class was conducted in the sloyd rooms of Miss Carrie F. Spear under the direction of Mrs. S. E. Wilbar, sloyd teacher, who has recently settled in Wollaston.

The good workmanship shown in form and finish, and the practical nature of the articles made-coat hangers, bread boards, plant stands, etc., cannot fail to prove of general interest, and to those who appreciate the full meaning of sloyd-that its value has not so much in work accomplished as in the training given to eye and hand, the cultivation of habits of patience, perseverance, and painstaking industry at an age when boys are most in need of such training-the exhibition will be of more than passing significance.

The Winter Sloyd classes of the Home Science association are open to boys of the 6th and 7th grammar school grades who have previously been members of the Home Science associations' sammer Sloyd classes, or who register for the classes to be conducted during the coming summer. The charge for the winter classes is the merely nominal one of ten cents a lesson. The summer classes (accommodating some 60 boys) are free. These latter opens for the season on Tuesday, 5 July, in the basement of the Cranch school house.

HAD TERRIBLE STRUGGLE

Vain Efforts to Throw Woman From Eleventh Story Window Followed by Plunge of Would-Be Murderer to Pavement

Detroit, June 25.—In a small private Chamer of Commerce building was the scene of a most thrilling tragedy, when Charles A. Swayse, an insurance agent, fought with Miss Effie Alvord for sevout of the window, then shot her twice and plunged himself from the window to the brick pavement of State street, being almost instantly killed.

Miss Alvord was shot twice in the neck, and badly beaten about the face and body, but her physician says that she is not dangerously hurt. Every was broken by his fall of 165 feet. Delife remained when he was picked up, but it went out as his broken body was being carried into the lobby of the building.

Back of the tragedy lies a tale of intimacy between Miss Alvord and ties are closing in on them. Swayse, who was 51 years of age, married, and the father of two young daughters.

Both Miss Alvord and Swayse were 1902, employed at the house of correcsulted, Superintendent McDonnell of and fell under the wheels. the institution says, in neglect of their work and both were discharged. Swayse then entered the employ of the life insurance company in whose offices the tragedy occurred. Miss Alvord entered the employ of a sewing machine company. · Yesterday she drove up in an automobile to the Chamber of Commerce building with J. D. Terry, also employed by the sewing machine company. She went up to the insurance office on the 11th floor, where she and Swayse entered a small private office at the front of the building, Swayse locking the door after them. Angry words were heard, then a struggle and screams. Next, of the office broke in the door. The ried up in the elevator and was the first man to rush into the room. Miss Alberta Burns, employed in a building near the Chamber of Commerce, saw the desperate struggle between the couple from her office wintempts to throw the woman from the window. Once he lifted her by her feet and succeeded in getting part of her body through the window, when she 7 00 broke away from him. Then he grabbed her about the waist and again tried to throw her to the street. Again 7.00 she broke away. Then he attacked the woman and pounded her about the head, finally drawing his revolver and shooting her. Swayse then crawles out of the window, and, Miss Burns says, let his body down until his feet seemed to rest on something, probably a narrow ledge a few feet below the win-8.00 dow. Here he hung for a few seconds. Then his head fell back, his hands lost their grip and he whirled through the air out of Miss Burns' range of vision. The Chamber of Commerce is situated in the heart of the business portion of the city and hundreds of people 6.75 on the street heard Miss Alvord's cries for help and saw Swayse's body strike the pavement.

There seems to be some element of mystery in the case. Bobwhite.

The city's heat grows stifling— In fev'rish dreams I stray, Recalling faroff June times, The locust shade at noontimes, And sportive breezes trifling

With blossoms in their play, And bees the honey rifling From blossoms all the day.

Once more I lie and listen To nature's music sweet; Once more my old companions Of woods and fields I meet. I hear their myriad voices, But clear above them all And warmest in its welcome Is bobwhite's cheery call.

And "Bobwhite!" is his greeting, As in the olden time,
When I turned the stubble over,
When I raked the hay and clover,

Which now inspires my rhyme-Which oft aroused the brute inbred. And with a sportsman's glow I'd sight the handle of my rake, And victous aim upon him take and wish it were a gun instead, To fire and lay him low, Just to lift the feathers from his head,

My sportive skill to show.

Ah, the thought of willful murder Brands with shame my fev'red brow! I would pay you well, dear Robert, Could I hear your music now. Your love call to your list'ning mate, Brooding in her secret nest, Would echo loud the fond heart throbs For the one I love the best

ARMIES ADVANCE

Those Under Oku and Kuroki Have Effected a Junction

SERIOUS BATTLE LIKELY

Toward Russia's Main Army-- brother: Probable That Kuropatkin Will Make Resistance

Liao Yang, June 25.—It is reported that Generals Oku and Kuroki have talk of a serious engagement shortly. It is also rumored that the Japanese forces that were recently advancing in this direction have famen back on Feng Wang Cheng.

Berlin, June 25.-Colonel Gaedke, the correspondent of The Tageblatt in the far east, telegraphing from the Russian headquarters, says that on June 22 the Japanese occupied Kai Chau and that a decisive battle of the united armies of Generals Oku and Kuroki with the Russian army is expected

London, June 25.-Reports from the boat at Plymouth." Kuropatkin and Sakharoff show that the Japanese, under Oku and Kuroki, are moving energetically toward the main Russian force, with Hai Cheng as their apparent objective. The new details show that Kuroki has guarded well his right flank, where a sharp attack by a Russian force of about 4000 has been sharply repulsed. So far as the facts have been reported Kuroki's main advance has been against Hai Cheng by way of Sui Yen, instead of over the straight road from Tung Wang Chang. A strong reason for choosing the more southern route was to make a junction with Oku, who is moving north against Kai Chow.

It is quite probable that Kuropatkin will make a most determined resistance somewhere in the region of Hai Cheng. To yield that region to the Japanese would mean the loss also of Yin Kow and New Chwang. These are valuable to the Japanese as supply ports during the coming rainy season.

As to the question whether Kuroki has failed, or merely refrained from intercepting Stakelberg's retreat, it seems at first sight that he has failed. It is quite possible, however, that Kuropatkin had moved as far south as Hai south to prevent Kuroki's flanking department of commerce and labor. movement on Stakelberg; or Kuroki seeing this movement, attempted it in the hope of making possible a decisive ther north at Liao Yang.

It is probable that what took place was a general shore action with a naval demonstration. It seems as though the Japanese intend to wear out the defenders by continued night activity before making final simultaneous sea and land attacks.

Savages Must Wear Clothing

Washington, June 25.—The Igorrotes and the Negritoes, representatives of the wild tribes of the Philippine islands on exhibition at the St. Louis exposition, are to be so clothed that their nudity cannot be a subject of criticism. Directions to this effect have been given to the responsible officials at St. Louis by the insular bureau of the war department.

POSITION DURING SLEEP.

Slightly Raise the Head and Lie on the Right Side.

The main object of sleep is that every organ of the body should have perfect rest. The brain, the lungs and the heart have been, not inappropriately, called the "tripod of life," as upon them hangs the prosperity of the whole frame; hence we slightly raise the head to check the flow of blood to the brain and more or less quickly find out the position of greatest ease for lungs

This will be found by sleeping for the greater part of the time on the right side, for nearly two-thirds of the heart is on the left of the medial line, and the apex points closely to the smaller left lung; hence the fullest and freest play possible should be given to the left side. A quiet pulse, diminished respirabined when open windows, moderate warmth and unchafing heart work together. It is often best to court sleep on the left side and turn to the right before going off.

A Philanthropist.

Modern advertising can cope even with the etiquette of courts. A London journal tells us that a young American woman wished to be presented at the court of the king of Saxony. The high officials, having inquired into her social standing at home, objected. They represented to her that the king could scarcely receive the daughter of a retail bootmaker. The young woman cabled home and told her father the situation. The next morning she received his answer: "Can't call it selling. Practically

Address by Dr. H. M. Willard

The March, the Music and the Salute Were Features.

The annual graduation exercises of the grammar schools of the city were ield yesterday afternoon at High School hall. The attendance was limited only by the capacity of the hall. Every available seat in the main hall and two adjoining rooms were occupied and many even had to stand. Hundreds of others would have been glad to attend if it had been possible to accommodate them. The afternoon was oppressively warm yet a strong south westerly breeze cooled the air of the room so that it was not uncomfortable. Two ladies were overcome however and had to be taken out.

The wall back of the desk and piano was one huge bank of green and cut flowers, contributed by the grammar school pupils from the upper to even

Of all the exhibitions and entertainments given in Quincy during a year, there are none that can compare to these annual exercises. The march in of the 398 boys and girls, the latter in

The exercises this year were similar to those of other years the main feature consisting of singing by the graduates and an address. Lovers of music might go far and wide to find superior music to that rendered by these four hundred graduates. It was grand indeed. children of such ages could master and render the selections that they did. When one stops to think of children, of the average age of 14 years, rendering such classical music as Handel's Oratorio, Rubinstein's Melody in F. and part songs by Mendelssohn, it is something they can well be proud of. It is not only great credit to the city and themselves, but to E. Landis Snyder, the director of music.

It was nearly 2.45 before the outer doors of the building were opened, yet it was but five minutes past the appointed hour when at the sound of the march on the piano and drum the and with slow measured step they came, each school being lead by a little girl carrying the school banner, the proudest of them all.

Then came the singing, after which Chairman Porter introduced Superintendent Parlin.

Mr. Parlin said he wanted to welcome those present to such rooms as we have. Each of the 398 graduates had two tickets and besides these there was upwards of one hundred outside to officials and teachers, making about 1300 who were present.

The city has reason to take pride in its teachers, schools and public buildings, all but one. What is the reason? Quincy may be poor when compared with some other cities, but he never heard a complaint of taxes as far as they go for schools. Quincy will suffer if the High school goes down for lack of accommodation.

you have something to do. You prepare yourself for a festive occasion. Here the boys and girls who have travelled over the same road for eight years, separate. What are you graduating with? First, a good fair knowledge of English. No other language is so near and dear and important to us. I hope the twelve per cent who go no farther in their studies have laid a good foundation in English.

Then I suppose you know something about arithmetic. You have missed an important thing in education if you can not do sums in arithmetic. Then you know a thing about geography. If not it is unfortunate. Then there is nature study but the fundamental things are English, arithmetic, geography and history. You need these in future

Quincy People's Union No More--Standing Committeess Will Serve.

At the annual meeting of the Quincy People's Union held in the Hotel Greenleaf parlors on Thursday evening of this week, reports having been read and necessary business disposed of, it was decided after earnest and animated discussion to desolve the organization.

The dissolution of an organization so been known in India, its native home, ably planned for effective work is greatly to be regretted as Quincy is surely as much in need of improvement as the large number of other towns and cities in Massachusettts where improvement organizations are already flourish-

Richard Hails.

Richard Hails, a former resident of Quincy, died at Santa Barbara, Cal., on A Full Assortment of Everything in May 26th. Our older citizens will remember him as the proprietor of the clothing store on the corner of Granite and Hancock streets, the present site of the Greenleaf, in the sixties.

Mr. Hails moved to Santa Barbara in the spring of 1873 with his family, and they have made that place their English birth and was about eighty-five years of age.

Insured for $2,000,000

L. Rodman Wanamaker, son of John Wana-naker, the eminent merchant of New York and Philadelphia, has taken out a policy in

The Prudential Insurance Co. for $1,000,000, paying an annual premium of over $30,000. This makes him the most heavily insured man in the world, with the single exception of King Edward VII.

Mr. Wanamaker's total insurance is now $2,000,000. Ask yourself WHY Mr. Wanamaker placed one-half this great amount with The Prudential. Your business judgment will at once reply: "Because after full investigation and com-parison, Mr. Wanamaker found that the com-pany which could give him the best insurance for a given amount of money was The Pru-dential." Undoubtedly you will agree that Mr. Wanamaker does not pay over $30,000 per year except for most excellent reasons. These reasons apply to YOU precisely as well as they do to HIM.

MOODY TAKES NEW PLACE

President Appoints Him Attorney General, to Be Succeeded by Morton In Navy Department--Commerce and Labor Department Goes to Metcalf

Washington, June 25 .- President Roosevelt made the following announcement regarding changes in the cabinet:

William H. Moody of Massachusetts, to be attorney general.

Victor H. Metcalf of California, to be secretary of commerce and labor. The resignations of secretary Cortelyou and Attorney General Knox have been received and accepted to take effect July 1. It is expected that further changes will take place in the cabinet next winter. Postmaster General Payne probably will retire from the cabinet after the campaign. He will be succeeded by Chairman Cortelyou. Secretary Moody will continue as a member of the cabinet only until the end of the present administration of the 4th of March next, when he will retire to enter upon the practice of law in Boston. It is quite likely that other changes will take place, even if Mr. Roosevelt should be elected

William H. Moody is a resident of Haverhill and was born in Newbury, Mass., Sec. 23, 1853. He comes of English stock dating back to the Puritans. Entering Harvard, he graduated in the class of '76. Mr. Moody was admitted to the bar of Essex county, Mass., in 1878. He has served as member of the Haverhill school board, and was city solicitor from 1886 to 1889. After the death of William Cogswell, a member of congress from the Sixth district, his name was brought forward to fill the vacancy, and he was elected to the Fifty-Fourth congress as a Republican at the special election. He was after ward renominated and re-elected with out any strong opposition. He was ap pointed secretary of the navy in 190 to succeed John D. Long.

Mr. Morton, who is the son of J. Sterling Morton, Cleveland's secretary of agriculture, is second vice president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. His residence is Chicago, but in the cabinet he will be accredited to Nebraska, where he lived for many years. Many of his friends have doubted that he would sacrifice his present position to take an $8000 cabinet post, especially when the Republican administration might end next March. He was born at Detroit, May

Mr. Morton was a Palmer and Buckner gold Democrat. He is a warm personal friend of the president. The question has been repeatedly heard lately whether the president fears that the gold Democrats who voted the Repubnection with the invitation to Morton to become a cabinet member. Mr. office. Morton has considerable influence in Nebraska. His brothers are also influential there. The name of their father still has drawing power.

It has been assumed for 10 days past that Victor Metcalf probably would be invited to accept the portfolio of commerce and labor. The president holds him in high regard and for a long time he has been in closer touch with Mr. Roosevelt than almost any other member of the house of representatives. Mr. Metcalf was born in Utica, N. Y., Oct. 10, 1853. He entered Yale in 1876, but left in his junior year to enter the law school, from which he graduated in 1876. In June of the same year he was admitted to practice in the supreme court of Connecticut, and the following year was admitted to practice in the supreme court of New York. For two years Metcalf practiced law in Utica and then moved to Oakland, Cal. He formed a law partnership in 1881 with George D. Metcalf, also a graduate of Yale. He was elected to the Fifty-Sixth, Fifty-Seventh and Fifty-Eighth congresses as a Republican. Mr. Metcalf is somewhat the same type of man as Representative Moody and is an intimate friend of the Massachusetts

HEROISM OF A GRANDMOTHER.

Spartan Woman Gives Up Her Life For a Boy-Placky Work of an Unknown Hero-Young Lad Kicks Girl to Save Her-Little Girl's Last Message - Pathetic Scenes at the

Survivors of the General Slocum disaster in New York waters have related many thrilling stories of their experi-Here are some of them:

Torn from the arms of his uncle by frantic women who fought to save themselves upon the back of Fireman Fred Hoffman of Engine company No. 25, little Raymond Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hoffman of Jersey City, went to the bottom after his grandmother, Mrs. Cecilia Hoffman, had declined to leave the boat until the child was saved. The Spartan grandmother's body was later identified among the dead, says the New York American.

Fireman Hoffman, who lives in New York, had a day off on the day of the disaster. He had taken his mother, his brother Ernest's wife and their two children, Raymond, aged five years, as follows: and Edna, aged three, for a day's outing on the General Slocum.

The young fireman saw the danger at once when the fire was first discovered. Instinctively he turned to save his mother. Being an athlete and a strong swimmer, he would have had no difficulty in getting her ashore.

"Come quick, mother!" he shouted to the old lady.

He was holding out his arms to her and begging her to come with him. The mother held the little children close to her breast and cried in terror. Fondly the grandmother looked at the little boy and, with rare coolness, said

"You save Buster before you come "Buster" was little Raymond's pet

name. The firemen lost no time. Taking the child in his arms, he made a dive head first from the boat. He came up in the center of a perfect sea of frantic, shrieking and terror stricken women, who were battling to keep above the waves and grabbing at each other and at every straw in their mad attempts to save themselves.

As the fireman's head came to the surface, instinctively the desperate women made for him. They struggled, clutched and fought for any sort of hold upon the powerful young fellow, and in the struggle they madly snatched the child from his arms. Down through a furious sea of femininity went the child. Fighting his way through the surging humanity, the fireman circled around, looking for the boy to come up. He never gained sight of the child again.

.333 In despair he turned again to the boat to get his mother. Climbing up over the side, he ran about through the flame and smoke, shouting, "Mother, mother, Special Officer Halsey, out in a yawl from the De La Vergne Iron works on North Brother island, tells of a boy's wonderful show of strength and bravery. The boy is Edward Lann, who lives in New York. He is fourteen, of slight physique.

"When we found the little fellow he was swimming forward as hard as he could with his younger brother clinging to one of his feet," said Halsey "Two smaller children, a still younger brother and a little sister, were clingences. > One man who recently visited St. Mark's church in Sixth street, New York, where many victims of the dis aster worshipped, told a story that brought tears even to the eyes of the wrinkled police officer who was on guard there, says the New York Times. The visitor was N. W. Dillon of New York, and he was inquiring for his little niece, Mary Diamond, the eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. Katherine Diamond. Mr. Dillon, when he reached the church, was clinching in one hand a crumpled bit of paper which the little grl had given to him just before she boarded the General Slocum. On the paper was a verse she had written for him. It was My golden headed May. "That's for you to think about me with," she had said to him. "She was all I had," he moaned. Every day she ran to meet me when I came home. I'd rather die than live without her."

There were many pathetic incidents and tragedies enacted at the morgue. One of the most pathetic incidents was the identification of little Elsie Spekter by her father, Edward Spekter of New York. When he recognized the body in a plain white box on the pier he could hardly be controlled, says the New York Times. He threw his watch, ring and purse into the coffin.

"Take all, take all!" he cried. "I do not want to live, now that my baby is dead." Elsie was Mr. Spekter's favorite child, and he had hoped against hope that she might have been saved. Right behind Mr. Spekter was a man who was frantic with grief. He was imbued with the idea that the body of his little girl, who is among the missing, was on the pier, but was being withheld from him.

"You are trying to hide my child from me!" he cried. "Take me to her! Give me my little girl!" It was finally deemed best to lead him away. He was taken home by friends who declined to give his name or address. Case after case just as sad

JOHNSON & BROOKS, ment of a Pullman on a journey from New York to Chicago that I met him. I had just finished reading in a magazine an article upon Marconi's achievement in wireless telegraphy, and, raising my eyes, I saw that the stranger was glancing down at the magazine page. "A remarkable achievement, sir." said. "Have you read this article?" "On Marconi? Yes," the stranger replied. "It seems almost past belief," I said, "that a message could be sent across We have a new lot of nice young the sea without the aid of wires. Yet Marconi seems to have accomplished it unless possibly the three ticks he heard were the result of accident, and the fact of that particular signal having been prearranged may have been only one of those singular coincidences the+ now and then astonish us."

The stranger removed the cigar from his lips and said: "No; the sounds Marconi heard are not to be classed among the accidental and coincidental. It was a real signal sounded by his assistants in England and received by him in St. John's. I entertain not the slightest in while you wait. Warranted two years watch thoroughly cleaned and kept in ir for one year, $1.00.

He spoke with conviction. Pulling at his cigar until the end glowed again, he continued, "I might have had doubts had I not previously heard and seen things achieved along similar lines far more wonderful than Marconi's feat." Se ing that he paused, I said: "You interest me. May I ask what those achievements were?"

The idea that all planetary bodour earth included, are imbedded what the magazine article somethat aptly describes as ether jelly, he jelly of space, is an idea which Marconi has made use of, but did not riginate. What he attempted-and has succeeded in doing—was to jar the jelly and register the jars. While giving him full credit for the Columbus-like daring of his thoughts, I will

"To me also," said the stranger. measurably wider. Possibly I am more because without some knowledge of imaginative than Marconi, or perhaps them you would probably find it difit was only accident. At all events he ficult to credit the rest I have to tell. seems to have worked with the telegraph in mind, while through all my ticle states, quite the most wonderful response to my how labors my imagination was dominated achievement of Marconi is what he by the telephone.

"Now, when a telegraph message from New York to Chicago is ticked off the wire nothing has really passed across those thousand miles of space. The ether jelly has been jarred in New York and the jars have been recorded and read in Chicago. So with the long distance telephone the voice itself has not been carried on an electric turrent across all those miles, but again the jelly was jarred, and the sensitive eardrum, aided by transmitter and receiver, has heard the vibrations. In both instances the wire has made an easy road for the vibration to travel over, but it does not follow that the road was necessary. One can pass across fields as well as along asphaltum walks. Marconi and others have realized this; only most of the others, Marconi included, have made the error of supposing you must go over fields and mountains, not through them. Yet the path lies through them as easily and naturally as over them, and herein is involved, in a manner, the fourth dimension, an explanation of which, however, we need not enter into in order to understand the operation of ether vibrations.

"I have spoken of the earth and the planetary bodies as being imbedded in the ether jelly. For our purpose let us alter the simile a little. Let us imagine a mass of colorless jelly with here and there a drop of chromatic fluid, forming, say, little crimson globes at intervals. Let us imagine now that the colorless portion represents the ether and the colored spheres the so called solid bodies-our earth and the other planets. The simile is necessarily crude and inexact, but it will serve. Now, while those bits of color are imbedded in the mass of jelly, they are nevertheless jelly, like the rest of the mass. Jar the jelly, and ether and planets are both jarred by the same motion, the innermost point of the colored globe being sensitive to the motion as well as the surface which comes in contact with the colorless portion. In this way we may perceive dimly how a wave motion-the uplift of an insect's wing or a thousand tons of exploding dynamite-shall reach the earth's core and the heart of the outermost star.

"In other words, we are assuming that all material things are of essentially the same composition as the ether. SINKING OF BATTLESHIP dispatches to the London newspapers add nothing to the information concerning the Port Arthur engagement and the situation on the Liao Tung peninsula, the editorials by war experts devote much space to the situation. The general view is that the Russians at Port Arthur lost their opportunity through their timidity and that Togo has again asserted his rights to be considered one of the world's great admirals.

It is conceded on every hand that, while the details are not yet fully known, when both sides tell the whole story the calamity to Russia will only be increased. It is pointed out, however, that Port Arthur is open and that the Vladivostok fleet may make another diversion, in which case the remnants of the Port Arthur squadron may at any time make a forlorn hope

The editorials, special dispatches and articles by war experts join in expressing the belief that great events are impending and that the next few days may have a great bearing on the final result of the war.

"A detailed account of the naval battle at Port Arthur nas just been published here. The Russian battleships Peresviet, Poltava and Sevastopol and the cruisers Bayan, Askold and Novik attempted to emerge from the harbor at dawn on June 23, led by steamers used for clearing the mines. At 11 a. m. the battleships Czarevitch, Retvizan and Pobleda joined the others.

"All the ships then advanced, endeavoring to dispose of the mines laid by the Japanese, but they were hindered by two Japanese torpedo boat destroyers which had been guarding the mouth of the harbor. At 3 p. m. the Japanese torpedo boats exchanged shots with seven Russian destroyers which were covering the clearing operations. One of the Russian destroyers was set on fire and retired inside the

"Subsequently the Japanese decoyed the Russians out to sea and awaited an opportunity to begin a general action, but between 8 and 9 p. m. the Russian ships made for the harbor. The Japanese torpedo boat destroyers and torpedo boats chased the Russians and Put in while you wait. Warranted two years Your Watch thoroughly cleaned and kept in repair for one year, $1.00.

thrown into disorder. "During the night eight separate attacks were delivered, lasting until dawn of Friday. In one of these assaults the Chirataka twice torpedoed a battleship of the Peresviet type and sunk her. A battleship of the Sevastopol type and a cruiser of the Diana type were disabled and towed away. The Russian vessels re-entered the harbor during Friday. "No News of the Result" St. Petersburg, June 27.-Viceroy

Alexieff telegraphed the emperor as follows:

"Our Port Arthur squadron, consisting of six battleships, five cruisers and 10 torpedo boats, put to sea at 3 o'clock on the morning of June 23. According to reports received from the signal stations on the Liaotieshan promontory, the ships went out without accident. When our vessels reached open water the enemy's fleet, consisting of nine large ships, and 22 torpedo boats, was sighted on the horizon. Our squadron attacked the enemy. Up to the present I have received no news of the result of the fighting."

Dr. Everett made an interesting announcement acknowledging the gift of It will be remembered that after the death of Mr. Robert Charles Billings at the age of over 80 on the 12th of June, 1899, it was disclosed by his will that he had left to his executors a very large sum of money to be distributed at their discretion for various charitable objects. This was done in the course of the ensuing four years, when the death of two of the executors left the survivor, Mr. Thomas Minns, in control of considerable undistributed surplus. This he has now disposed of, and the following describes how he has bestowed part of the money.

Boston, June, 1904. "I, the undersigned, surviving exec ator of the will of the late Robert Charles Billings, duly allowed by the probate court in the County of Suffolk, on the 6th day of July, 1899, in accordance with the terms of said will and with decrees of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, dated April 2, 1903, and May 26, 1904, have the pleasure of sending my check for two thousand five nundred dollars to the Supervisors of

REWARD OFFERED.

The Finn temperance societies had a Officer Goodhue Makes a Good Capture and a Plucky One. The storm Saturday night was a lucky one for Officer Goodhue, for it caused a the Quincy Adams depot and thereby People from all over New England fall into the officer's hands. As Officer o'clock, Joseph King alias Jacquith, who escaped from the State farm at Bridgewater last Thursday, jumped through the window and ran down the tracks toward Quincy. Officer Goodhue darted after him and succeded in overtaking King under the school street bridge. King fought desperately to escape, but was finally subdued and landed in the police station. Shortly after two Braintree officers appeared at the station and said they had been on the track of the fellow and wanted him turned over to thess. Sergeant Barry thought not, and kept the fellow under his care. The authorities at Bridgewater were notified and yesterday they came after him.

Then for the first time the Quincy police learned that there was a reward of $100 for King's capture and that Officer Goodhue would get the hundred. The Braintree officers knew of the reward, which was probably the reason they were anxious to have the man turned over to them. But they didn't fool Uncle David.

It seems that King, who has a bad record, was a prisoner at Charlestown, but was sent to Bridgewater, being adjudged insane. Last Thursday, he with another prisoner named Fred Sturtevant made their escape during the night by crawling through the ventilator. Sturtevant was captured at Middlboro on Saturday.

July Opens the Season.

To go away from the city; to seek the shelter and protecting quietude of the country where the singing of the birds and the vision of flowers and verdant pastures will infuse a new spirit in the soul and vigor in the body is the desire of every person seeking a resting place for the summer. And in New England, the "summer play ground" of America, the mountains take the first rank. Among the "White Hills" whether midst the rushing cascades and towering ledges of two years ago as the representative of the Crawford Notch, or on the cloud enveloped summit of Mt. Washington; whether midst the natural wonders of the Profile region-the marvelous Echo Lake, or the natural sculpture of the Presidential cliffs; whether in the depths of the sylvan Cathedral Woods, or the peaceful territory of the Intervale, there is a pleasure peculiar only to the White Mountains.

Gold In Shipments.

Exporters of gold always prefer to ship in bars rather than coin simply because of the greater subjection of coin to abrasion in transit. They cannot be packed as closely as bars. It is said that $1,000,000 in American eagles may show as great a loss as $100 from abrasion in being carried from New York to Paris.

ANARCHY REIGNING

Raisuli Modestly Offers to Suppress It In Morocco

Found Bandit Chief to Be a "Man of Education and Intellect"--Wishes Good Government For Moors

Tangier, June 27.-Ion Perdicaris, the American who last week was released by the brigand Raisuli, has given an interview descriptive of the circumstances of his capture and of his experiences while a prisoner in Raisuli's he had just entered the drawing room Varley, the British subject who also was captured by Raisuli, went to investigate the cause. They were immediately surrounded by armed Moors, who bound and maltreated them. Varley resisted and was struck on the head with the butt of a rifle and a knife was slashed across his hands, making a serious wound. At first it was thought Varley's skull had been fractured.

Perdicaris and Varley were then carried away on horseback. They were bound with ropes and roundabout roads were taken in order to avoid villages. The bandits stopped at Tsarradent, 24 hours from Tangier, and Raisuli allowed Perdicaris to write to his wife next morning and also to the shereef of Wazan, asking them to intervene for himself and Varley.

At Tsarradent the captives lived in a filthy hut. They were not allowed to go 100 yards away from it and were strongly guarded. When the shereef of Wazan arrived a tent was placed at the dispisal of the prisoners and in other ways the shereef was the means of considerably alleviating their condition. The attitude of the Moors changed from insult to fair treatment. Spies of the pretender who were in the camp all the time tried to induce Varley to accept a post under the pretender. Raisuli daily held conversations with the prisoners. He said anarchy was reigning in the country. The animosity of the people, he said, was not

Perdicaris said that Raisuli is posing as a patriot who wants to see the country happy and peaceful and he is offering to accept the responsibility for maintaining the country from Tangier to Fez and clear it of robbery and crime if he is backed by the powers. He found in Raisuli a man of education and intellect. The only time the prisoners were anxious was during the last two days, when they were at Barabin, the village of the governor of the Beni M'Sara tribe. When the exchange occurred over three hours were lost in the exchange of compliments, Raisuli refusing to talk business until the last moment, being apparently very suspicious of an attempt to capture him. When he received the money and the men turned over to him by the ransom party, he hurried away towards his

The Daily Telegraph has nearly a column interview with Perdicaris, in which he impliedly defends Raisuli, who, he says, is suffering under great wrongs. Raisuli, he says, wishes good government for the Moors and desires to be on the best of terms with Europeans. He fully understands that he cannot hope to wrest the seaports from the control of Europe and that if the Moors are cut off from the seaports they are doomed to a sterile, povertystricken existence.

Good Offices of France

Paris, June 27.-The American authorities are hopeful that the Washington government will take steps to recognize the good offices of France leading up to the release of Perdicaris and Varley. The diplomatic plans which Foreign Minister Delcasse set in motion were responsible for the final liberation of the prisoners. Moreover, France practically furnished the money from which the ransom was paid, as the recent French loan of $12,500,000 gave the sultan the means to meet Raisuli's demand for $70,000 ransom. Delcasse's energy throughout has been to the American request that France requited love is said to have been the exercise her good offices.

BIG WEIGHT GAVE WAY

Passengers on Excursion Steamer Thrown Into a Panic

Boston, June 27 .- While hundreds of excursionists were boarding the Nahant steamer Mount Desert at Union wharf one of the counter-balance weights to the gangway, weighing 600 pounds, fell with a great crash, striking Edward A STORY BY PERDICARIS Barrington. Barrington suffered internal injuries, both legs were broken and it is believed his left hip is fractured. At the city hospital, where he was taken, it is announced that his condition is dangerous.

Barrington's screams were heard by everyone on board the boat and a panic followed, the passengers trying to crowd on shore through a narrow passage just wide enough for one person to pass through. In the crush Mrs. Daniel Murphy had her right arm badly injured. SLOCUM INQUEST

Hulk of Burned Steamer

Fire Expert Shows What He Considers Conclusive Evidence to That Effect-Pilot Defends Captain's Action at the Time

New York, June 28.-The coroner's jury investigating the General Slocum disaster was taken to the hulk of the burned steamer at Erie basin and after an inspection of the wreck and the examination of several witnesses proceeded in a police patrol boat over the route followed by the steamer on the day of the ill-fated excursion.

Commander Winslow of the navy, who, with General Wilson of the army, was appointed to make federal inquiry into the disaster, was on board the Slocum when the coroner and his party arrived. He was accompanied by Supervising Inspector General Uhler and District Head Inspector Rodie. Commander Winslow compiled a description of the Slocum's interior as he found it. On board the Slocum Coroner Berry led the way to the forward hatchway, a blackened opening in the midst of a pile of rotting life preservers, tangled iron and half burned

Terrence McManus, counsel for the Knickerbocker Steamboat company was asked by the coroner if he would concede that that was the spot where the fire was first discovered. Mc Manus declined to concede anything and Edwin Brandow, the assistant engineer, was called as a witness and answered the question affirmatively.

Former Fire Marsh... Freel said that he had examined the hold of the vessel on the day it was raised. He found that the fire started in one of the oil barrels. "How can you tell?"

"The barrel tells," Freel replied holding up one of the loosened staves. "The blackened edges show that it was burned from the bottom and from inside out. There are no marks of burning on the outside except in a small place where it burned through.'

After seeing all of the hulk they desired the patrol boat started up river. Captain VanWart, chief pilot of the Slocum, took the helm and pointed out to the jurymen the exact course taken by the Slocum. Captain VanWart be lieves that Captain Van Schaick, in running his vessel to North Brother island, did the best that could be done under the circumstances.

THE YOLKS OF EGGS.

Those of a Reddish Hue Better Tha the Pale Yellow.

There is most probably an important dietetic difference between two eggs the yolk of one of which is a very pale rich, almost reddish color. It is a notorious fact that the country produced egg may usually be placed under the latter description, while the egg proyellow. The eggs of wild birds-as, for example, the plover-show a yolk of a rich reddish color.

The substance which contributes color to the yolk of the egg is iron, just as it is iron which gives color to the blood, and there seems to be little doubt that the iron compound in the yolk of the egg is of a similar nature to that of the blood. It is easily assimilated, and eggs are regarded as a suitable food for the anaemic person, as they present a concentrated and generally easily digested form of nutriment rich in iron. The iron compound of the egg has, in fact, been termed a "haematogen," because it is probable that from it the blood of the chick is derived. The amount of iron in the yolk of an egg would appear to increase with the intensity of its color, and there can be little doubt that the vention, but it was clearly illegal, and Mr. Miller. maximum is reached in the richly colored yolk of the egg produced by a for then its processes of nutrition would be working under very favorable conditions. As an article of diet, therefore, the egg should be judged not by the color of its shell, but of the yolk, which should be of a rich reddish rather than of a pale yellow color.-Lancet.

HIS POSITION UNKNOWN

Some Leaders Doubtful as to His Belief In Policy and Methods of the Party--His Boomers Have Plenty of Ammunition

Indianapolis, June 28.-Indiana Prohibitionists last night held a meeting which proved an introduction to the national convention today. H. B. Metcalf of Rhode Island, Prohibitionist vice presidential candidate four years ago, said that when a party of 10 Prohibitionists, of which he was one, called on General Miles in April, the general evaded questions and wished the convention postponed until after the Democratic convention. This, it is said, has been his policy since that time. Metcalf said that in his opinion the New England states would demand a man who would make a positive statement of his position and unless Miles should make one they would vote against him.

National Chairman Stewart said: "General Miles is an able man; he has been a consistent friend of the antiliquor movement, and in a broad sense is a Prohibitionist. But those who are pressing forward his name for the presidential nomination by our party We have received a handsome bouquet this year do not say how he stands

Boston, June 28.-With young Amer- night. ica, backed by seemingly a good proportion of public sentiment on one side and Judge Emmons and the state police on the other, the fight on the coming Fourth is pronounced the most strenuous of its kind that Boston has ever witnessed. Emmons is determined that the "night before" must be as quiet as any ordinary night up to 4 o'clock on Saturday, July 2, the South Quincys Monday morning. He says there must be no celebrations, no explosives, no cannons, pistols or crackers, no foghorns and no noise generally.

Chief Shaw of the state police says the Fourth itself must be quietly observed, and he has started a crusade on high explosives and chemicals.

Acting under a law passed by the last legislature, Chief Shaw has notified the police of every city and town in the state to forbid the sale of chemical explosives to be placed on car tracks, cane cartridges, tablets to be used for explosions, cannon crackers over six inches in length, and also to forbid the sale to any person under 17 years of age any kind of cartridges.

Street Railway to Prosecute.

Persons who place explosives of any kind upon the street car tracks are likely to get into trouble as the street railway officials are determined that the practice must stop. They are taking the necessary steps to prevent this form of celebration this year, and give notice that persons who place explosives or other matter upon the tracks will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The placing of percussion caps and other explosives on the tracks was quite universal last year but did little harm. This year the form of caps used are such as to become a source of danger, as a box of them has been known to lift a car from the track and endanger to make his horses turn the corner of the lives of passengers. It would be well therefore for persons contemplating this form of celebrating to bear in mind that they will be prosecuted.

New England Resorts.

The vacation custom is now a fixture, and the summer resorts of New England because of their unexcelled beauty and variety appeal to everybody. The beautiful lake resorts among the pinelands of Maine or in the northern portion of New Hampshire and Vermont; the verdant valleys watered by freshening streams such as the Merrimac, the Hoosac, the Connecticut and the Ammonoosuc; the long and famous stretch of sea-coast from Portland and east to the rocky Nahant; the impressive grandeur and wonderful attractions of the White mountains; the favorite haunts among the Hoosac Mountains and the Deerfield Valley; and the numerous towns and villages famed for their historical association as well as scenic and health resorts are delightfully pictured in the series of six books containing beautiful half tone reproductions of these varions resorts, each book containing thirty or more views neatly bound with the title of the book embossed in gold letters on the cover. The books are entitled: "Lakes." 'Rivers, " "Mountains, " "Seashore," 'The Charles River to the Hudson,' and "Picturesque." The price of each book is six cents or thirty-six cents for the entire set. This includes the postage, issued by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston, Mass.

TENSE SITUATION

Decisive Battle of Far East Campaign Is Imminent

PLANS ARE DEVELOPED

Outposts of Armies Aggregating 300,000 Men In Touch All Along the Line--Situation In Southern Manchuria Fraught With Tremendous Possibilities

St. Petersburg, June 28.-A dispatch from Lieutenant General Sakharoff confirms the belief that a great decisive battle of the campaign between Detroit23 General Kuropatkin's main army and Washington 9 the armies of Generals Kuroki and Oku s imminent. The three armies probably aggregate 300,000 men and their outposts are in touch all along the line. The Japanese evidently tried to draw Kuropatkin as far south as possible, holding out as an incentive a check to the advance of Oku's main army. Meantime Oku swung sharply to the eastward to join Kuroki toward the Chapan pass, Kuroki at the same time moving a strong force by the right flank toward Hai Cheng. The main Japanese advance continues along the main Feng Wang Cheng-Liao Yang Philadelphia 2 4 road, avoiding the Mao Tien pass by a detour to the northward. The advance in all points is being attended by constant skirmishing. Nothing is known here of the exact point at which Kuropatkin's main force is concentrated, though it is believed that a large part of the Liao Yang Pittsburg30 force has been moved to a point between Kin Chau and Ta Chee, Kaio. According to a dispatch from Ta Chee Kaio, a large force has pushed southward from Ta Chee Kaio against Oku. While Kuropatkin is thus extending himself the Japanese, with great mobility, seem to be trying to concentrate for the purpose of striking Nashua 4 the Russians in flank and rear.

Viceroy Alexieff's message, with a brief dispatch from Rear Admiral Withoft, naval commander at Port Fall River 3 7 1 on the sea fight off Port Arthur. women and children. The British and French consuls unite in stating that 28 villages altogether have been destroyed.

Blunder Cost Thirty-Three Lives Kingston, Jam., June 28.-Nearly 100 laborers had been detailed to remove the sand from the enormous pipe which is a mile long and which conveys water from the in-take on the Rio Cobre to the turbines of the power house of a street car company at Spanish Town. The work had practically been completed when orders were given to allow a small quantity of water to enter the conduit. Through misapprehension, accident or carelessness, the full force of water was turned on and a mad struggle to escape by means of the manholes ensued, with the result that 33 persons were killed.

Raid on Alleged Lottery

Chicago, June 28.-An alleged lottery scheme, which is said to have netted its operators hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, was disclosed when the Manhattan Exchange bank was entered by United States marshals, who arrested John K. Dalton and L. A. Gourdain. The warrants charge that lottery tickets were sent out of Illinois by the Manhattan Exchange bank in violation of the interstate commerce law. The hearing of the prisoners' cases was set for July 7. Both furnished $5000 bonds.

No Light on Loomis Mystery

Washington, June 28.-Assistant Secretary of State Loomis has nothing whatsoever to confirm or contradict the rumor that the body of his brother, Kent J. Loomis, has been washed ashore on the French coast, and not the slightest clue has yet been obtained with reference to the mysterious disappearance. The fact that nothing has been heard of the lost man is tending to confirm the fears of his family that he was either drowned or has met foul play.

Three Killed by Explosion

Philadelphia, June 28.-Three persons lost their lives and a half dozen others were injured as the result of the explosion of a small bundle of fireworks in the store room of the Diamond Fireworks company. The cause of the explosion is not known. A member of the firm was wrapping up a small bundle of fireworks for a customer when it exploded. Almost instantly the entire roomfull of fireworks became ignited from flying rockets and firecrackers.

St. Louis, June 28.—The national To Finnish Points, commission for the World's Fair last night forwarded to Secretary of the Treasury Shaw the monthly financial statement of the exposition company for April. It shows that the balance on hand March 31 was $1,847,627 and on April 30, $1,451,277. The total receipts to April 30 were $15,178,326 and the total disbursements were $13,727,049.

Old Fishing Row Revived St. Johns, June 28.-Newfoundland fishing vessels occupied the French stations on the treaty coast in the mistaken belief that the treaty ratifications had been exchanged. The Frenchmen appealed to the British commodore, who dispatched a warship to the scene to warn offending colonial vessels from the coast. The incident is the occasion of much concern.

Bargain Hunters Scarce Washington, June 28.-Nearly two months ago the war department invited bids for the purchase of the insular cold storage and ice plant, located at Manila, but specified that no bid for less than $1,000,000 in United States money would be considered. No bids have yet been received at the war department or at Manila. New bids will be advertised for.

Bad Weather Off Labrador

St. Johns, June 28.-Steamer Erick has arrived here from Smoky Tickle Labrador. Captain Hartley reports that the ocean from Battle north as far as the eye could see was covered with ice. The weather is exceptionally cold, with heavy frost and frequent snow falls.

A Confessed Boodler St. Louis, June 28.-Edmund Bersch, former member of the house of delegates, pleaded guilty to the charge of bribery in accepting $2500 for his vote on the city lighting bill. Bersch's bond of $35,000 was increased to $55,000, pending sentence next Friday.

PERMANENT MAGNETS.

The Simplest Way of Magnetising Bar of Steel.

The simplest way of magnetizing a bar of steel is that known as "single touch." The bar to be magnetized is laid on the table and the pole of a powerful magnet is rubbed from ten to Seven words equal a line. Long term rub twenty times along its length, always in the same direction. If the north pole of the magnet is employed the end of the bar first touched will also become a north pole, while the opposite end, at which the magnet is lifted before returning, will be a south pole.

There are other and more complicated methods, known as "divided touch" and "double touch," in which two and even four magnets are employed.

A steel bar can also be magnetized by placing it within a coil of insulated wire, through which a galvanic current is circulating. The magnetism induced in this way, however, is weak compared with that which can be procured if the same strength of current is employed through the intervention of an electro-magnet.

A VERSATILE PRODUCT.

Few Things That Grow Capable of So Many Uses as Corn. Probably few things that grow are capable of so many uses or are as completely used as corn. The grain is used for food both for human beings and cattle, while the stalks are used as cattle feed. The pith of the cornstalks is used in the manufacture of smokeless powder, in the manufacture of high grade varnish and in the manufacture of paper. The woody portions are used in the manufacture of a cheap quality of paper.

As a food corn is supplied in many forms. The most familiar are as meal, hominy and grits. Practically all the starch that is used in the United States is made from corn. Immense quantities are also used in the manufacture of glucose, which, among other things, enters largely into the manufacture of beer as a substitute for malt. A large quantity of corn is used annually in the manufacture of whisky, and nearly 15,000,000 bushels are used every year in the manufacture of cologne spirits and alcohol. Even in the manufacture of these products nothing is lost. The glutinous and other residues in the manufacture of starch, glucose, whisky and alcohol are used as cattle feed.

Coroner's jury In the Slocum Inquest Returns a Verdict

WARRANTS FOR ARRESTS

Steamboat Company and Cap-Responsible For Disaster

New York, June 29.—The inquiry conducted by Coroner Berry and a jury into the General Slocum disaster was concluded yesterday afternoon and after nearly four hours' deliberation a verdict was rendered in which the directors of the Knickerbocker Steamcum, the commodore of the company's fleet and others were held criminally responsible and warrants for their arrest were issued. After pointing out the duty of the different officers and persons named and their failure to perform their duty, the jury finds:

School Accommodations.

Editors Quincy Daily Ledger:

have expensive lots and buildings foisted upon already overburdened taxpayers? The present High school Directors of the Knickerbocker building is too small every one admits that. Then what is to be done? What would the head of a family of small tains Van Schaick and Pease means do in a similar case? Would he add to his house or would he purchase lot on some other street, erect a house and divide his family up claiming he could run two houses as cheaply as one? Not if he had common sense. It would be an impossibility.

What Quincy needs is a good big dose of common sense. Its councilmen should run the city for the best good of the whole city and not each for what they can grab for their own special ward. A High school properly belongs in the centre of a city, of easy access to the whole city, and not to any particular ward. Of course every ward in the city would like a handsome High school building. Why should Ward The mate, Edward Flanagan, who Three be especially honored? Are they I wonder how many of the councilmen have been down to the High school

The Telltale.

That was an embarrassing position in which a fashionable New York woman found herself recently. She was invited to a wedding, but did not think either of her hats was good enough for the occasion. So she visited her milliner's and had an exceedingly costly affair sent home on trial. She wore it at the wedding and the next day drove to the milliner's and returned it, saying it did not suit. It happened that the hatmaker, who quite understood the situation, had been similarly tried several times of late. "Did you not wear this hat at the Blank wedding yesterday?" she asked bluntly. Taken by surprise, the society woman owned up, but asked, "How did you 'now?" "Oh, it was quite easy. I see several grains of rice in the folds of the lace."

Mrs. Alice Jones at the piano played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridal party entered the parlor, the little flower girls leading, followed by the ushers, the best man and maid of honor, and the bride and groom.

Mr. Frederick Howe of Bigelow street, cousin of the groom, was best man and the bride had for her maid of honor, Miss Mabelle Marion Macleod of Wollaston. The ushers were William E. Tarbox of Quincy and George Frederick Choate, Jr., of East Milton, and the little flower girls were Edna Brown and Buell Brown, cousins of the bride.

The bride's gown was a mousseleine le soie over taffeta, with all over lace and medallion trimmings. She carried mousseleine de soie over taffeta with all over lace trimmings. She carried a ouquet of pink roses.

The groom's gift to his bride was a pearl brooch, a family heirloom, and to as a souvenir from the bride a gold locket and chain. A reception from eight until ten 'clock followed the ceremony, the young people being assisted in receiving to meet the expense. This step was by the bride's mother, and aunt Mrs. Alva W. Patterson, of Washington, D. C., and the groom's mother and sister, Mrs. A. A. Mrs. Albert S. Haven, while temporarily insane through illness, made a desperate but unsuccessful attempt to take her life at her home, No. 485 Newport avenue, this morning. In the nouse at the time were a daughter and servant.

Shortly before 9 o'clock they were startled by the report of a pistol fired ive times in quick succession. Hastenng to where the shots came from, they ound Mrs. Haven on the floor with lood streaming from her neck, breast and arm.

Dr. Record was summoned and upon his arrival found that she had fired five shots into her body. Two of these took effect in the neck, two in the left breast over the heart, and one in the left arm. Fortunately, none of the shots touched a vital spot.

Mrs. Haven, who is about 50 years of age, was married last fall. She has been a sufferer for some time with diabetis, which caused her to become temporarily insane, and try to end her sufferings in a tragic manner.

Japs Close on the Heels of Retreating Russians

Protected Russian Line Seized by Japanese--Penetration of Northern Passes Has Greatly Increased the Russians' Peril

St. Petersburg, June 29 .- No further advices from the front have been received up to midnight, though news armies are in close touch.

Though it appears now from General Kuropatkin's tactics that a heavy engagement may be deferred for some days, it is possible that the Japanese may rush matters, but it is not generally expected here that Kuropatkin will give battle until he reaches a position of his own selection.

The country in which the armies are now coming into contact consists of a series of mountain chains running parallel with the railway alongside of which the Russians are falling back as the Japanese are advancing. Fen Shui, Mo Tien and Dalin are all passes which take their names from the mountains over which they run. General Kuroki, who has heretofore been east of these mountains, is advancing to the westward from Siu Yen through a very rough country, and his columns must traverse the passes named before emerging into the more open country along the railway, approximately abreast of Tai Tsche Kiao, Hai Cheng and Liao Yang.

The Russian outposts and the Japanese advance are now in close touch with all these passes. The Russians are falling back on Kuropatkin's main body, which is supposed to be somewhere between Liao Yang and Ta Tche

General Kuropatkin is now moving slowly northward along the railway and whenever he makes his stand there will be precipitated what is expected to be the decisive battle of the cam-

In the meantime General Oku is advancing along the railroad on the heels of the withdrawing Russians. He is backed by a powerful army. How large a portion of this army he has detached to join Kuroki has not been developed, but it is probably large enough to add severely to the fighting before the Russians finally abandon the

The Dalin Hill Fight

Hai Cheng, June 29.—The total losses of June 26 and June 27 and the Japanese successively pushed the Russians from three positions, occupying them with artillery as the defenders retired.

Wounded Russians recounting the two days' fight say that the Japanese again demonstrated their reliance on their artillery, and that they were gineer Douparrouzel, both Canadians, greatly superior, both in number of have been arrested on a charge of manmen and in guns. sian guns and caused severe loss. The fight started at dawn, 10 miles southwest of Dalin hill. A Russian rifle brigade held the position until noon in the face of a heavy artillery fire, but the Russians were finally outflanked by infantry and cavalry, the Japanese actually getting a field battery in the brigade fell back.

The Dalin hill fight continued from 4 o'clock until dark. The Japanese worked furiously all night long and emplaced two batteries on the vacated Russian position. The fighting was resumed at 3 a. m. on June 27. The Russians silenced the two Japanese batteries, but the Japanese brought up a train of big guns and silenced the lighter Russian artillery, which was again running out of ammunition, and the Russians were once more forced to retire. The Japanese cavalry and infantry, threatening to surround the Russian position, forced a general retreat.

The Russians carried off all their guns and got revenge on the Japanese cavalry column, whic. was caught in terrific effect, being forced to scatter.

Japs Seize Northern Passes

London, June 29.-Japan's seizure of Fen Shui pass, some 20 miles northwest of Siu Yen, is another serious breach in the mountain barrier which has protected the Russian line in the region of Kai Chow and Tashichiao. The turning of the Russian position at Motien pass, on the road from Fung Wang Chang to Liao Yang, carries the Japanese advance on the north far forward. If this line is pushed with sufficient force, so as to bring a large body of Japanese near to Liao Yang, the results to the Russians may be disastrous. The whole Japanese movement for of a great advance, which from its inof operations and retreat, is a front and flank movement together. Penetration of the northern passes by the Japanese increases the Russian peril; a defeat tree at his summer home in Catskill, under present conditions could hardly N. St Louis Corporations Held Up by Crooked City Officials

St. Louis, June 29.—Charles A. Gutke, former member of the house of delegates, convicted on a charge of bribery and soon to be tried on another similar charge, has made a complete confession to Circuit Attorney Folk, in which he DECISIVE BATTLE NEAR declares that former Delegate Kelley had told him he had received $50,000 for going to Europe when his presence in St. Louis jeopardized men of prom-Mountain Barrier Which Has inence. Gutke says that, yielding to the pleadings of his wife, he determined to do all he could to atone for his sins against the public.

"The first bill that came up after I had become a member of the combine," says Gutke, "was the Suburban Loop bill. The combine got $20,000 for their votes on this bill, on the Union Avenue bill we got $18,000, on the Central Traction $75,000, on the Third Street line bill $15,000, on the lighting bill from General Kuropatkin is eagerly $47,500; on the suburban bill we were awaited. Sharp Eyes on Americans

Halifax, June 29 .- The Newfoundland customs department is taking active steps against captains of American fishing vessels who have violated the revenue law by smuggling tobacco and | Thursday. stores to the local fishermen. Two vessels were captured last week and fines of $200 imposed on each. The Mabel R. Hines was wanted, but her skipper, on learning this, hoisted sail and left port. The customs officers sent the cruiser Fiona in search of the Hines and she was captured in Trinity bay. Captain Hines was brought before the local magistrate there, who fined him $400 for smuggling and evading the customs by leaving port without a clearance.

Three Drowned In Whiripool

Quebec, June 29.-Hundreds of people, powerless to aid the victims, saw Nicholas Ansaloin and two unknown women swept over Montmorency falls. Ansaloin stopped at the foot of the natural steps at the falls to get a drink of water. His companions followed his example and a moment later all three lost their balance and fell headlong into the swiftly moving into the whirlpool below. The bodies were not recovered.

An Open Shop Combine

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 29.-One hundred and fifty corporations of this city have united to form the Employers Association of Grand Rapids, in connection with which a free employment bureau has been established. The association's policy is not to be antagonistic against union labor, yet to insist upon the open shop.

SHAVING IN A PULLMAN CAR

is not so hard if you use "EASY-SHAVE ' the new lather, as it softens the beard quickly and makes the razor cut easier. 'EASY-SHAVE" is a creamy substance put up in tubes so that it is convenient to carry. Sold by druggists at 15c.

Insured for $2,000,000

Mr. Wanamaker's total insurance is now $2,000,000.

Ask yourself WHY Mr. Wanamaker placed one-half this great amount with The Prudential. Your business judgment will at once reply:
"Because after full investigation and comparison, Mr. Wanamaker found that the company which could give him the best insurance for a given amount of money was The Prudential."

Undoubtedly you will agree that Mr. Wana maker does not pay over $30,000 per year except for most excellent reasons. These reasons apply to YOU precisely as well as they do to HIM. Better apply TODAY for information regarding Prudential policies to

LAFAYETTE IN AMERICA.

Incidents of the Noble Frenchman's Visit In 1824.

Lafayette's arrival in America was the signal for one prolonged, brilliant Fourth of July celebration. The pupils of the institutions throughout the country were prominent participants in the festivities in his honor.

A little Maryland girl who, after much drilling, had mastered a poem with which to greet him, beginning, Welcome, welcome, Lafayette,

Thee we never can forget, was not permitted to get beyond the second line of her recitation, the baby lips being sealed at this point by an effusive kiss from the enthusiastic Frenchman. Of the complaisance which tharac-

Japan's Armies In Manchuria Have Effected a Juncture

CESSATION OF DISPATCHES

Believed to Indicate That De-Japanese of Three Forts Near Port Arthur Probably Untrue

London, June 30.-The Tokio correspondent of The Morning Post says that the Japanese second army has effected a juncture with the first army and that the whole force now has a fighting front of 120 miles.

The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says that severe fighting took place at Kai Chau on June 25, which resulted in the capture of that place on the morning of June 26.

The sudden cessation of all dispatches from the seat of war suggests that the long expected general engagement between Kuropatkin and the Japanese armies has actually begun. The latest reports, which carried affairs through Monday, showed the Japanese advance and flanking movements to be bringing the hostile forces into close contact.

The Motien and Ta passes from which the Russians were driven are not more than 30 miles from the railroad which forms Kuropatkin's line of comnunication and retreat. To hold this line, the Russians must occupy and defend the lines of hills which lie nearest to the railway, and roughly parallel to it on the east. This necessary line of defense must be close to the Japanese positions, and in all likelihood already the scene of sharp skirmishing, if not of more serious fighting.

The rumor that the Japanese have captured three forts southeast of the town of Port Arthur does not recommend itself. The only works in that direction are on the coast, and well covered by the heavy guns of the main fort on Golden hill.

Submarine Was Overloaded

St. Petersburg, June 30 .- Twentytwo sailors were drowned at the Baltic works during experiments with the torpedo boat Delfin, which had been converted into a submarine boat. Four officers and 30 men were on board when the signal was given to submerge the boat without first properly closing the manhole. The result was that the vessel sunk. The ship's capacity was A Full Assortment of Everything in only 10 men, and the extra 22 caused and Mrs. Harry Brierley fell on the

the vessel. Conditions at Port Port Arthur

Chefoo, June 30 .- Fifty Europeans who left Port Arthur June 23 have arrived here from Pigeon bay, where they embarked on a junk June 28. They say that in the naval engagement of June 23 the Russian battleship Sevastopol was slightly damaged. Fifteen days will be required to repair her. The torpedo dispatch boat Amur was also badly damaged.

It is said that the Russian sailors at Port Arthur have no confidence in Rear Adimral Withoft, but think if Rear Admiral Skrydloff was in command the fleet could successfully en gage the Japanese. The Russian fleet is now reported to consist of six battleships, five cruisers and 24 smaller ves-

A Frenchman who has been in Port Arthur since the war began states that there are 50,000 fighting men there, including soldiers and sailors, 500 women and 150 non-combatants. The women and non-combatants are waiting for a steamer on which the Russians have promised to take them out of the besieged fortress.

The food supply is sufficient. The only sufferers are the Chinese, who are without money.

On June 23, the day on which the Europeans left, the Japanese were reported to be trying to capture Wefu Mountain, a strongly fortified position, 15 miles from Port Arthur.

Drift of Opinion.

Now that the summer travel is beginning to assume large proportions, I am sorry we have not in this country something like the parcel post now in general use in Europe. As a matter of general information, one of our Consuls in Switzerland says "trunks may be sent by post throughout the country and thus may be delivered at hotels to await the arrival of owners. The trunks must be sent to the postoffice, but are delivered on arrival." What a convenience it would be to have them thus handled on this side of the water! MILES IS WILLING

Attitude as to Presidency Outlined by Editor Wooley

THE ONE-ISSUE PLATFORM

When Civil Service and Other Vital Issues Are Uppermost In Minds of the People

Indianapolis, June 30.-The boom for General Miles for the Prohibition nomination for president was given a decided forward movement by a public meeting of delegates and visitors at the state house, following the adjournment of the afternoon session of the national convention. Fifteen hundred people were present, of whom over 400 wore delegates' badges. John G. Woolley of Chicago, editor of The Voice, gave evidence as to Miles' position. He said he had been in close communication with Miles during the past six weeks by letters, visits and conversations.

"I do not know that he will accept the nomination," said Woolley, "but I believe he will. I told him I was coming to Indianapolis to assist in his nomination unless he forbade me. He did not forbid me and if he were to allow me to come under these circumstances and then decline the nomination, he is not the sensitive gentleman he should be."

Conversations with Miles were re lated by Woolley, in which Miles said the Prohibitionists did wrong to confine themselves to one issue when there were such questions also as the civil service, the constitution following the flag, the United States having subjects of popular election of senators and the return of sovereignty to the bands of the people. General Miles was quoted as saying there would be a breaking up of old parties and in the realignment the liquor question would be one of the

Mr. Woolley explained the Miles let-Miles would prefer to wait for some fining themselves to one issue.

Reference was made by Woolley and other speakers to Miles' record as against canteens and his alleged mistreatment at the hands of the administration. The meeting was enthusiastic. General Miles was quoted on authority of Rev. D. D. Turney of Illinois as having said he voted the Prohibition ticket in the last election and as being for the past four years a total abstainer. DISCIPLINE IS ENTIRELY MILITARY Convicts Are Not Considered Fallen Creatures or Social Outcasts-Every Effort Made to Elevate the Inmates. No Difference Between the Prisons and Huts of Free Peasants.

The following article was written by J. Legras in the Revue Penitentiare of Paris and translated for Public Opin-

That which is especially striking at first sight in a Japanese prison is that there is no difference between the prison and the hut of the free peasant, the Japanese declaring that if the prison were elevated to the level of a modern penitentiary it would be too attractive Wharf at Quincy Neck. and would increase crime. Upon approaching the prison, in place of high and forbidding walls, you see a large Land at Quincy Neck. country house, with a series of outbuildings, the prison itself being completely open, while the wooden bars at the windows have nothing of the forbidding aspect of our iron gratings. The interior of the building is completely open, although formerly at Itchigoi there was a corridor separated from the building by a paper wall where the guards slept. The food given the prisoners is in proportion to their conduct and industry, the prisoners who do not conduct themselves as they should receiving a cake of rice which must last for seven days, while in the case of the orderly prisoners the same cake lasts for only four days. The prisoners who conduct themselves properly receive also a little horse meat, with potato or pea sauce, with their meals.

The labor in the greatest of the Japanese prisons, at Itchigoi, is forced, but the buildings in which the work is performed are clean and perfectly ventilated, and in fact are model workrooms which to most workmen would appear all that could possibly be desired. Some prisoners are employed in hard work, such as the thrashing of rice in primitive mills, but only the CORRECT PIANO TUNING AND most robust are made to perform such

The hours for the hard labor are from seven to eight per day, the less strong inmates of the penitentiary being employed in weaving clothing for the prisoners out of a coarse, rose colored linen, while old people and the sick are seen on all sides calmly sorting out various kinds of paper. All of the prisoners receive a portion of the profit derived from their labor, although this to a European would not son's. W be much.

The discipline which I lished in the various p ly military, and it si that a prisoner is from society because of the fact that he has served his time. From a moral and material standpoint there is no difference between a prisoner and a free man, and in the prisoner and a free man, and in the prisons every effort is made to elevate the inmates, all of the youths less than nineteen years of age passing two hours per day at school. In many cases prisoners, when they have finished their sentences, remain in the prisons as domestic. There is also a curious legal provision which states that they can only leave the prison when surety is provided by parents or friends. Thus it may happen that a student of twenty-three years of age condemned to the prison for sixty days for the theft of a book, because of the fact that he has no one to go his security and thus be responsible for his release, remains buried for life in the prison. The idea of the law is not unjust, however much it may appear so, the purpose of the regulation being to assure the prisoner a solid base on which to re-enter society. In order to remedy this condition little by little there have been formed societies which take in hand the cases of unprotected prisoners.
